C. NARRATIVE DESCRIPTION OF MANNER OF JOB PERFORMANCE

DIRECTIONS: Stress strengths and weaknesses, particularly those which affect development on present job.

Subject has excellent natural equipment for employment in this organization in terms of his intelligence and natural apptitudes. Additionally, he brings a great deal of area knowledge and language ability to his present assignment. During the period covered by this report he has displayed great industry and devotion to duty in a variety of circumstances and achieved notable results in production and in the creation of both short and long-term assets for his unit. On the debit side I would say that he is somewhat too businesslike in many personal situations to the point of being almost humourless. This, however, is a quality which he does not permit to intrude upon the necessities of his operational work although it often shows in office relationships.

SECTION D. SUITABILITY FOR CURRENT JOB IN ORGANIZATION

Subject is an exceedingly well-equipped operations officer. He is mature, intelligent, has a thorough background in operations in his area and the ability to grow in his job. His operational planning and execution is usually impeccable. He has the loyalty of his subordinates and the respect of his equals and supervisors. He is particularly effective in dealing in the liaison field where his good sense and disinterest in "fighting the problem" produces a maximum of cooperation and good will. If he has any minor fault as a supervisor, it is not in impatience with his subordinates, as reflected in previous evaluations, but in an occasional unwillingness to say no to them.

SECTION E NARRATIVE DESCRIPTION OF MANNER OF JOB PERFORMANCE

Stress strengths and weaknesses demonstrated in current position. Indicate suggestions made to employee for improvement of his work. Give recommendations for his training. Describe, if appropriate, his potential for development and for assuming greater responsibilities. Amplify or explain, if appropriate, ratings given in SECTIONS B, C, and D to provide the best basis for determining future personnel actions.

In most respects, this officer is one of the best I have known in this agency. He has a broad and deep knowledge of his target area, as well as of his "host" country; an excellent and proven degree of operational "know-how"; the ability to write and speak lucidly and effectively and with apparent ease; and a very high degree of motivation and devotion to duty. He can be expected to continue his dynamic and imaginative pursuit of a most difficult target. It is my opinion that this officer has great potential and is ready for increased responsibilities which would involve the promotion for which he has been recommended. As for training, a good managerial course might help to bring into even sharper focus his many talents.

This report has been prepared in accordance with F E Division standards which recognize the principle of rating the individual against the group. Thus an 'average' rating reflects an entirely satisfactory performance.

NEW YORK TIMES

W. Harvey, C.I.A. Aide, Dead; Linked to Anti-Castro Plotting

William K. Harvey, reportedly the head of a special Central Intelligence Agency group set up in the 1960's to plan the removal of foreign leaders by means including assasination, died of a heart attack last Wednesday in an Indianapolis hospital.

Mr. Harvey, who was 60 years old, was said to have been in charge of the agency's efforts against Prime Minister Fidel Castro of Cuba. He was among 10 agents whose identities were disclosed by the Senate Select Committee on Intelligence after an investigation in 1975 of alleged assassination plots by the United States.

William E. Colby, then Director of Central Intelligence, had argued that disclosure of the names of agents would put them in jeopardy of retaliation by "irrational groups."

Mr. Harvey testified before the Senate committee that he had been told by superiors that the Castor assasination plot had been aproved at the highest levels of the government, and that he had discussed the efforts with his immediate superior, Richard Helms, who later became director of the agency.

Mr. Harvey moved to Indianapolis in 1969 after retiring from the agency, where he had worked for 22 years. He worked for the Federal Bureau of Investigation from 1940 to 1947.

At the time of his death, Mr. Harvey was law editor for Bobbs-Merrill Publishing Company.

He was buried Saturday at South Cemetery in Danville, just west of Indianapolis. He is survived by his wife, Clara Grace, a daughter, Sally, and a son, James D. Harvey.

WOLLOGAGE - - Notification of Designation as a Participant in the Organization Retirement and Disability System

Action: As indicated
REF: Book Dispatch 5096 & OIRS - 7586

1. You have been found to be qualified as a participant in the Organization Retirement and Disability System and have been so designated effective 21 November 1965.

2. Although such designation under present statutes is viewed favorably by most persons, the regulation governing this retirement system gives the individual the right to appeal such a determination if he deems the designation adverse to his best interests. In order that this technical requirement may be satisfied, you are hereby notified of your right to appeal. An appeal with reasons therefore must be received in Headquarters within 60 days of the date of this dispatch or acceptance of designation will be assumed. Any questions that you may have in connection with your designation that cannot be answered by referring to Book Dispatch 5096 should be forwarded to Headquarters.

3. We believe that the benefits of the Organization Retirement System are superior to the benefits of the Civil Service Retirement System. However, there are a few situations in which an employee at the time of retirement may have so many years of service (almost 37) that he would receive a higher annuity under the Civil Service system. Because of this, the policy decision has been made that a participant in the Organization system who would receive a higher annuity under the Civil Service system may, not later than one year prior to his retirement, apply to be removed from our system and transferred to the Civil Service system. Thus, you should not anticipate this contingency as a factor in deciding whether you regard your designation as a participant adverse to your best interests.

Indicate significant strengths or weaknesses demonstrated in current position keeping in proper perspective their relationship to overall performance. State suggestions made for improvement of work performance. Give recommendations for training. Comment on foreign language competence, if required for current position. Amplify or explain ratings given in Section B to provide best basis for determining future personnel action. Manner of performance of managerial or supervisory duties must be described, if applicable.

Mr. Harvey has continued to manage the Agency's activities in Italy with the same enthusiasm and drive which characterized the description of his approach to the Station Chief role in his past Fitness Report.

In his efforts to reorient the Rome Station's FI program toward Soviet-Satellite targets Mr. Harvey has devoted considerable energy to acquiring the basic information needed for this task. This has been well reported and the responsibilities for carrying out this shift in operational approach have been precisely delegated. It is still early to assess the results operationally but the reorientation has been well organized. As an early indication of the trend this is taking, several successful technical operations have been established which are well on target.

To accomplish the objectives of the CA responsibilities of the Rome Station Mr. Harvey has acquired the most competent officers with this highly specialized skill and has staunchly supported their efforts to prosecute this program which remains extensive. He has considerably improved the Station relationship with Embassy officers, including the Ambassador, by devoting greater effort to this necessary phase of the Station Chief's role and the Ambassador, during a recent trip to Washington, made special mention of the degree of confidence he had in the Station's reporting and in the extent to which it has kept him properly informed.

During the period under review Mr. Harvey acquired a Deputy Station Chief - for whose arrival he had waited more than 6 months. He has delegated general management of the Station's activities to this officer, who has applied himself diligently to this task and the results have been promising. Mr. Harvey has been receptive to headquarters guidance, is extremely prompt and thorough in replying to his correspondence.

Some administrative details, such as the reports on the performance of officers whose evaluation he was reluctant to make, Mr. Harvey has had a tendency to postpone despite repeated efforts to provoke him into timely response.

I have rated Mr. Harvey's overall performance outstanding in recognition of his superior supervisory ability, his unusual skill in expressing his views and his determination to accomplish his basic objectives regardless of the obstacles which he encounters. The Rome Station is complex, is engaged in some highly sensitive operations which must be guided with a strong hand and by an officer with a degree of professionalism which Mr. Harvey is well able to supply as a result of his extensive operational experience.

COMMENTS OF REVIEWING OFFICIAL

I concur in the evaluations given Mr. Harvey on duties No. 2, 3 and 4. I believe duty No. 2 could have been rated "outstanding" rather than "strong," with justification. I also think, however, that duty No. 1, involving the overall administration and management of the Station and its personnel, should more appropriately be rated "proficient," or perhaps "strong."

COMMENTS OF REVIEWING OFFICIAL

I concur in the evaluations given Mr. Harvey on duties No. 2, 3 and 4. I believe duty No. 2 could have been rated "outstanding" rather than "strong," with justification. I also think, however, that duty No. 1, involving the overall administration and management of the Station and its personnel, should more appropriately be rated "proficient," or perhaps "strong."

Mr. Harvey has continued to manage the Agency's activities in Italy with the same enthusiasm and drive which characterized the description of his approach to the Station Chief role in his past Fitness Report.

In his efforts to reorient the Rome Station's FI program toward Soviet-Satellite targets Mr. Harvey has devoted considerable energy to acquiring the basic information needed for this task. This has been well reported and the responsibilities for carrying out this shift in operational approach have been precisely delegated. It is still early to assess the results operationally but the reorientation has been well organized. As an early indication of the trend this is taking, several successful technical operations have been established which are well on target.

To accomplish the objectives of the CA responsibilities of the Rome Station Mr. Harvey has acquired the most competent officers with this highly specialized skill and has staunchly supported their efforts to prosecute this program which remains extensive. He has considerably improved the Station relationship with Embassy officers, including the Ambassador, by devoting greater effort to this necessary phase of the Station Chief's role and the Ambassador, during a recent trip to Washington, made special mention of the degree of confidence he had in the Station's reporting and in the extent to which it has kept him properly informed.

During the period under review Mr. Harvey acquired a Deputy Station Chief - for whose arrival he had waited more than 6 months. He has delegated general management of the Station's activities to this officer, who has applied himself diligently to this task and the results have been promising. Mr. Harvey has been receptive to headquarters guidance, is extremely prompt and thorough in replying to his correspondence.

Some administrative details, such as the reports on the performance of officers whose evaluation he was reluctant to make, Mr. Harvey has had a tendency to postpone despite repeated efforts to provoke him into timely response.

I have rated Mr. Harvey's overall performance outstanding in recognition of his superior supervisory ability, his unusual skill in expressing his views and his determination to accomplish his basic objectives regardless of the obstacles which he encounters. The Rome Station is complex, is engaged in some highly sensitive operations which must be guided with a strong hand and by an officer with a degree of professionalism which Mr. Harvey is well able to supply as a result of his extensive operational experience.

OFFICE OF PERSONNEL
AUG 11 11 19 AM '64

Mr. Harvey's management of the Agency's program in Italy has to date been characterized by the forcefulness and drive which have gained for him in previous assignments a reputation for dynamism. He has undertaken to reorient the Rome Station's FI program toward Soviet-satellite targets and any delay in this reorientation has been due fully to our inability for administrative reasons to supply the personnel he desires on the time schedule which he would prefer.

Although not by inclination oriented toward the objectives of CA, he has preserved and guided the most complex CA program in Western Europe with understanding and skill. To accomplish this it has been necessary for Mr. Harvey to learn the intricasies of an extremely complex local political situation. This he has set about to do with confidence. His accumulated experience in earlier assignments has equipped Mr. Harvey with a self-assurance and confidence which I have rarely seen equalled in any other officer. The continuance of ideal relationships with the key Embassy officials in Rome has been somewhat handicapped by the sudden death of the principal officer in the Embassy who was knowledgeable of our program and the impossibility of bringing into knowledge of our activity the next lower level echelon of Embassy officials for reasons beyond Mr. Harvey's control. This handicap has been overcome over the past year and Mr. Harvey is currently supervising extremely sensitive political operations and contacts to the satisfaction of the Ambassador and his headquarters.

He delegates responsibilities skillfully to those officers under his command who are best qualified and by his own outstanding performance, which is always at its best under heavy stress, he earns an intense loyalty from these personnel. He demonstrates cost-consciousness and outstanding supervisory ability.

MEMORANDUM FOR: Director of Personnel

SUBJECT: Fitness Report - Mr. William K. Harvey

1. This Fitness Report covers the period from 1 April 1962 to 15 January 1963 during which Mr. Harvey was Chief, Task Force W.

2. As a senior officer in the Clandestine Services, Mr. Harvey has behind him a long record of professional accomplishment achieved during tours in Washington as well as seven years in Berlin. He is thoroughly grounded in the tradecraft of clandestine activities, and has brought to each and every assignment an intelligent, thorough, and uncommonly conscientious approach. His qualities of leadership are attested to by the loyalty and devotion of those colleagues who have worked under his direction. If anything, there has tended to grow up within the Clandestine Services a coterie of officers who have come to regard themselves as "Harvey men", a development which Mr. Harvey himself has not encouraged but which demonstrates the strong emphasis on first-class tradecraft which he has insisted upon in each assignment.

3. As Chief, Task Force W, Mr. Harvey had the task of organizing and developing a large operational team devoted to the acquisition of intelligence and the handling of special operations directed at Cuba. He was obliged to work within a complicated bureaucratic framework, a fact which made the clearing of actions a laborious and time-consuming exercise. Under his direction, the Task Force grew substantially in size and in professional competence with the result that when the Cuban crisis arrived in October intelligence assets were in place to make a significant contribution to the overall intelligence picture. Mr. Harvey devoted considerable ingenuity, long hours of personal time, and great energy to this enterprise, and, although certain aspects of the intra-governmental coordination of the operations had rough sledding, his net achievement was the establishment of an effective, going concern with momentum which carries on to the present.

4. Mr. Harvey, after a strong performance as Chief, TFW, has been assigned as Chief of Station, Rome, and is now preparing himself to take over at that post in the coming months.

MEMORANDUM FOR: Director of Personnel

SUBJECT: William K. Harvey - Memorandum in lieu of fitness report for period 30 March 1960 - 10 May 1962

1. It is difficult to prepare a fitness report on this outstanding officer, largely because forms do not lend themselves to measuring his many unique characteristics. His strengths are in professional knowledge and competence in the operational field, in a toughness of mind and firmness of attitude, while the latter in past years have moved him into positions that were sometimes stronger than superior officers, with a responsibility for adjustments necessary in matters of policy in relation to Agency position in the community, were able to handle easily, his own closeness to policy positions of the Agency within the U.S. community in the last two years has found him with a real ability to handle policy matters and to adjust to necessities, without losing his firmness and his independence of thought.

2. He is sometimes accounted to be less than outgiving of information about operational matters in which he is engaged, yet it should be remembered that this characteristic has been part and parcel of a sound operational attitude in his career. He has a wide knowledge of personalities within the officer corps of the DD/P and is for the most part a good selector of officers to accomplish necessary tasks. He handles people well. He has a tremendous energy and is a loyal officer both to his superiors and to the purposes of the Clandestine Services of CIA.

3. He is one of the few distinctly outstanding officers in the DD/P.

MEMORANDUM IN LIEU OF FITNESS REPORT

The following statement relates to the performance of William K. Harvey, GS 18, Chief of FI, Division D.

This officer has held a series of responsible positions in DD/P and its predecessor clandestine intelligence organization for well over ten years. He excels in the field of clandestine operations in general and especially so in that phase of clandestine staff and operational activities concerned with the procurement, handling and exploitation of highly sensitive and critical intelligence and operational materials.

His performance generally over the recent years has proved him to be one of the outstanding officers of the DD/P organization. He has demonstrated clearly superior performance both in staff responsibility at Headquarters and as Chief of Base in a very important field station where he was directly engaged in supervising and carrying on operations successfully against targets of the highest priority.

In the period under review, June 1959 to March 1960, he took over and directed functioning of one of DD/Ps most sensitive components charged with achievement by special means against targets of the highest importance. This included carrying on negotiations and liaison with other components of CIA and other Agencies and Departments of the U. S. Government concerned with his special field. His performance of this responsibility in many respects has been outstanding. He has continued to demonstrate his fitness to handle a wide range of positions of major responsibility within the clandestine service.

Among his outstanding characteristics are: thorough understanding of his profession and ability to make this clear to persons of high level whose knowledge of the Clandestine Services is general. He is firm, tenacious, and on occasions strongly aggressive in pursuit of his point of view. While this may sometimes make for difficulty on the part of those in higher echelons who wish to dispose of a complicated problem easily and quickly, this officer's persistence in carefully presenting his arguments and in holding to them until their fact and logic prevail or until policy factors override, makes him a highly valuable asset to CIA.

MEMORANDUM FOR: Director of Personnel

ATTENTION: Chief, Records and Services Division

FROM: Chief of Station, Germany

SUBJECT: Fitness Report - William K. Harvey
November 1957 - January 1959

1. Subject's abilities and performance are too generally known to require detailed comment. One of the very senior officers in KUDOVE he has been chief of what is probably the largest and most productive overseas Base of KUBARK for approximately seven years. During this period Subject has been personally responsible for a number of operational successes, some of which have been of national importance. Possessed of driving energy, determination and initiative, he has few equals in professional experience and competence. Throughout his administration of the Base he has established and maintained exceedingly high standards of accomplishment, discipline and endeavor. Subject's judgement, on occasion, is impulsive and proposals of the Base have been, from time to time, advanced and defended with greater vehemence and more exhaustively than the occasion, objectively speaking, required. Subject's basic self-discipline, good sense and loyalty, however, have prevented any such incidents, which are in large measure manifestations of the highly charged atmosphere and insistent operational pressures of Berlin, from developing into serious friction with the German Station or Washington headquarters.

2. It has been a pleasure to serve with this officer and, during his assignment, he has consistently rendered dedicated and effective service of the very highest order.

MEMORANDUM FOR: Chief, Career Management Group

SUBJECT: Promotion of Mr. Calvin W. Hicks

1. I would solicit Career Management Group and the Promotion Panel to consider the overall career of Calvin W. Hicks when deciding on the current cycle of promotions from GS-13 to GS-14.

2. After Mr. Hicks EOD in 1950, he advanced rapidly in three years to GS-11. He was promoted to GS-12 in 1956, six years later to GS-13 in 1962, and since then has been almost 12 years in grade. He has had overseas tours with FE and NE Divisions, has served as a training instructor, on a PM task force, and with Miami Ops and area branches in WH. In these assignments he consistently received Strong ratings. Despite a largely paramilitary background, in 1967 he adjusted to the intelligence production cycle and developed the skills of an operations officer doing operations-oriented reports work in the Intelligence Watch. As of this date he has the longest continuity in the Intelligence Watch and is rated as a mature and thoughtful individual who exercises excellent professional judgment. He was recommended for promotion from GS-13 to GS-14 in April 1968 and in April 1969. In 1970 he was recommended for a QSI by FI Chief, Peer deSilva. He was again recommended for promotion in March 1971, in November 1972, and in November 1973.

3. Admittedly, promotions are competitive and the rankings are relative and must be adjusted to the headroom available. The overall history of his career would seem to argue the equity of granting the often recommended promotion to Mr. Calvin Hicks as he nears the end of a career. Mr. Hicks is 49 years old and has a family of five children. He has a medical hold which will not allow him to serve overseas at this time and he therefore, contemplates retirement at age 50 (in late 1974). He is and will be until then a valuable member of the Intelligence Watch.

4. I recommend that the promotion which has escaped him in the last decade be granted at the time of this year's promotion cycle.

MEMORANDUM FOR: Career Management Group
Mid-Career Officer Branch

SUBJECT : Recommendation for the Promotion of Calvin W. Hicks (056361) to GS-14

1. I would again like to recommend the promotion of subject officer from GS-13 to GS-14. Mr. Hicks has been with the Intelligence Watch since June 1967 and his performance has been characterized consistently by exceptional proficiency. He serves on a rotating schedule with seven other officers doing identical work, some of whom are currently in GS-14.

2. A medical hold has precluded any further overseas assignments and for this reason his stay in IW has been extended until November 1974, when he will be 50-years-old at which time he plans to retire under the Agency retirement system.

3. Mr. Hicks' resourcefulness and ability to apply the multitude of reporting instructions and techniques have been convincingly demonstrated in crisis situations such as the recent Chilean coup and the Middle-Eastern crisis. He has consistently displayed initiative and good judgment in meeting unforeseen crisis with rapid and effective action and has clearly demonstrated his ability to continuously adjust to rotating shifts and the irregular flow of traffic.

4. For his sustained high level of performance in 1972 Mr. Hicks received a quality step increase in recognition and as proof of the high esteem in which he is held by his superiors. He occupies a GS-14 slot. His promotion is again recommended in recognition of his long years of Agency service.

SUBJECT: Appreciation of IW Performance During Chilean Upheaval

1. The officers of the Intelligence Watch (IW) performed admirably in swiftly processing the heavy flow of intelligence engendered by the recent political upheaval in Chile. In many instances, reports were in the hands of customers in the intelligence community within minutes of being filed in Santiago.

2. Please extend to the IW officers concerned the appreciation of this Division for their fine performance. I suggest that a copy of this memorandum be placed in the personnel folder of each of the officers concerned.

MEMORANDUM FOR: Chief, Foreign Intelligence Staff

SUBJECT : Intelligence Watch Assistance to European Division

1. As I am preparing to leave the European Division, a note of appreciation is in order for the services rendered to us for the four years of my tenure here by the officers of the Intelligence Watch.

2. At a time of increasingly complicated intelligence collection and reporting problems, our Agency has come of age. We have recognized that information often cannot be allowed to wait for attention until sunrise, and that we must be able to respond to national needs and world events around the clock. The Intelligence Watch, more than any other single institution, has made it possible for us to do this. We have benefited from its cooperation particularly under strained reporting conditions -- during Presidential trips abroad, for instance -- but have also found IW's presence and judgment helpful at other times. I know that my staff relied on IW extensively.

3. I am making a point of recognizing this because the Intelligence Watch -- a bit like our Agency as a whole -- is apt to get more attention with an occasional slip than with a record of continuing accomplishment and success in coping with problems. From what I have been able to observe, the job has been well done.

4. I hope you will bring this memorandum to the attention of those concerned.

MEMORANDUM FOR: Secretary, CSPS/Section A

SUBJECT: Recommendation for the Promotion of Calvin W. Hicks (056361) to GS-14

1. I recommend the promotion of subject officer from GS-13 to GS-14. Mr. Hicks has been assigned to the Intelligence Watch/FI Staff since June 1967 and serves on a rotating schedule with seven other officers doing identical work, four of whom are currently in grade GS-14.

2. Mr. Hicks has been in the Intelligence Watch (IW) for almost four years and his work, both quantitatively and qualitatively, has been consistently of a very high caliber.

3. His keenly developed sense of operational security resulting from his extensive paramilitary experience, coupled with his clear understanding of the relationship between operations and intelligence, has made him a very fine officer and a valuable asset to IW. He has been under my supervision for 18 months and I have had ample opportunity to observe his performance under conditions of stress. He very ably applies a multitude of detail and general reporting instructions to the different situations manifest in each incoming report and displays initiative in meeting unforeseen crises with rapid and effective action. Since the intelligence information is the face that the Clandestine Service puts out to the Intelligence Community, the performance of Watch Officers is of great importance. This factor becomes apparent when it is noted that over 75 percent of all cabled intelligence reports are disseminated by IW.

4. Mr. Hicks has an extensive background in paramilitary operations both in the field and at headquarters. All of his fitness reports for the six years preceding his assignment to IW have borne the overall rating of "strong." He has been described as "highly motivated, sincere, and capable." Also, "he works well with others and his knowledge and ability are respected." Other supervisors during the years prior to this assignment have described him as "serious, hard-working and dependable." His performance in his present assignment has demonstrated these same qualities.

5. Mr. Hicks is a distinct asset to IW and I highly recommend his for promotion to GS-14.

MEMORANDUM FOR: Chairman, DDP QSI and Honor and Merit Awards Panel

SUBJECT : Request for Quality Step Increase
Mr. Calvin W. HICKS, GS-13 (05C361)

1. I recommend that a Quality Step Increase be awarded to Mr. Calvin W. Hicks.

2. Mr. Hicks is one of three officers in the Intelligence Watch, FI Staff, on whom identical recommendations are being submitted. These officers, all in grade GS-13, have for several years done responsible and demanding work, identical to that done in the same office by five other officers, GS-14 and 15, and all three have been rated "Strong."

3. The Intelligence Watch is the primary intelligence dissemination office of the Clandestine Service. Its output of over 2,000 reports a month is the chief end-product of CS collection operations. Watch Officers serve on a rotating schedule. When an officer draws the night shift he serves alone. He must make quick, independent dissemination decisions. Mr. Hicks has done well at this work. He is alert and conscientious and has a sharp operational sense which is extremely useful in the handling of CS intelligence information. He has been recommended several times for promotion to GS-14.

4. The high quality of Mr. Hicks's performance has continued for more than two years. There is no reason to expect any decline in it. His enthusiasm continues, and his tour has recently been extended for another two years.

5. Consideration has been given to recommending him for an Honor and Merit Award, but on balance I believe that a Quality Step Increase would be more appropriate.

SUBJECT : Performance of the Intelligence Watch
During the President's Trip to Europe

1. Now that the President's trip to Europe has been concluded, I feel that a special commendation for the Intelligence Watch (IW) is in order.

2. The contribution that is being made by the officers in the Intelligence Watch is often taken for granted. Thus it was natural for us, when we formed our task force for the President's trip, to build our arrangements for positive intelligence disseminations around the IW's twenty-four-hour-a-day availability. We were not disappointed. The system worked smoothly and efficiently.

3. In addition to that, it became clear that the Intelligence Watch officers were willing and able to go beyond the simple call of duty. We came to admire their competence, courtesy, and cooperation, without which effective intelligence coverage would have been immeasurably more difficult. Since the IW's were working under an unusual strain, caused by the simultaneous outbreak of crises in different parts of the world, their performance is that much more to be commended.

4. Please convey our appreciation to all officers who had a part in this fine effort.

SUBJECT : Recommendation for the promotion of Calvin W. Hicks (056361) to GS-14

1. I recommend the promotion of subject officer from GS-13 to GS-14. Mr. Hicks has been assigned to the Intelligence Watch/FI Staff since June 1967, and serves on a rotating schedule with seven other officers doing identical work, five of whom are currently in Grade GS-14.

2. Mr. Hicks has been with IW for almost two years and his work, both quantitatively and qualitatively has been consistently of a very high caliber. Normally six months are required before an officer newly assigned to the Intelligence Watch is able to handle a shift by himself. At least a year is required before a Watch Officer can perform at a high level of proficiency. However, in the case of this officer, in a little more than a year he had earned the rating of "Strong" and has maintained it ever since. Although most of his Agency experience had been in para-military operations, he adapted quickly to the demands of his new assignment. His keenly developed sense of operational security, coupled with his clear understanding of the relationship between operations and intelligence, has made him a very fine officer and a valuable asset to IW. He has been under my supervision for 16 months and I have had ample opportunity to observe his performance under conditions of stress. He is even tempered and level headed. His mistakes are few and infrequent and these are usually of the clerical variety, not in matters of judgment. I continue to be impressed with his thoroughness in handling information; with the evidence of his coordination when the interests of more than one division are involved. Since operations have to be submerged and the intelligence is the portion of the iceberg which shows to the intelligence community, the performance of the Watch Officers is of great importance. This factor becomes apparent when it is noted that about 80% of all cabled intelligence reports are disseminated by the Intelligence Watch. Recently the Watch Officers were commended by the Chief, FI Staff and the Chief, Europe Division for their performance during the President's trip to Western Europe. The simultaneous outbreak of crises in different parts of the world further added to the burdens of the Watch Office at that time. Mr. Hicks made a real contribution during that period and deserves the commendation personally in a high degree.

Normally six months are required before an officer newly assigned to the Intelligence Watch is able to handle a shift by himself. At least a year is usually required before a man can advance from "Adequate" to "Proficient." At present, Mr. Hicks has already progressed to the rating of "Strong." He is alert and conscientious and has an operational sense which is invaluable in the handling of intelligence. With his extensive operational and paramilitary background, Mr. Hicks has a fine sense for the relationship between operations and its primary product, the Clandestine Services intelligence report. This officer has been under my supervision for 11 months and during that period I have had ample opportunity to observe his conduct under conditions of stress. He is even tempered and level headed. His mistakes are few and infrequent. I am particularly impressed with his thoroughness in handling information; with the evidence of the coordination which he so often attempts with several Area Divisions when necessary before disseminating a report to the intelligence community. Since the Intelligence Information Report is the face that the Clandestine Services shows to the intelligence analyst and the policy officers of the Government, the performance of the watch officers is of great importance. This factor becomes apparent when one notes that about 80 percent of all cabled intelligence reports are disseminated by the Intelligence Watch.

1. I recommend the promotion of subject officer from GS-13 to GS-14. Mr. Hicks has been assigned to the Intelligence Watch, FI Staff since June 1967 where he serves on a rotating schedule with seven other officers doing identical work, five of whom are currently in grade GS-14.

2. Although Mr. Hicks has been with IW less than a year, his work both quantitatively and qualitatively is of very high caliber. He is alert and conscientious and never takes the easy way out in handling cabled field intelligence reports. Log cards which record the action taken on each report indicate the seriousness with which he approaches his daily tasks. These cards frequently indicate time spent by him in consultation with as many as three Area Divisions on occasion before issuing a report which will be disseminated to the intelligence community. The exercise of good judgment is an essential element in the proper functioning of this office, upon which the Agency's reputation to a certain extent depends. Since the finished intelligence information report is the face that the Clandestine Services shows to the intelligence analysts and the policy officers of this government, the performance of the Watch Officers is of paramount importance. This factor becomes extremely obvious when one notes that more than 80% of all cabled intelligence reports are disseminated by the Intelligence Watch.

3. Prior to his assignment to the Intelligence Watch, Mr. Hicks served with the WH Division and with the Cuban Operation. He has an extensive background in paramilitary operations both in the field and at headquarters. All of his Fitness Reports for the six years preceding his assignment to the Intelligence Watch have borne the overall rating of "Strong." He has been described as "highly motivated, sincere and capable." Also, "he works well with others and his knowledge and ability are respected." Other supervisors during the years immediately prior to this assignment have described him as "serious, hard-working and dependable." His performance in his present assignment has DEMONSTRATED THE SAME QUALITIES HERE. HE HAS VOLUNTARILY CONTRIBUTED EXTRA TIME DURING CRISIS SITUATIONS, NOTABLY DURING THE RECENT TET OFFENSIVE IN VIETNAM WHEN HE CAME IN ON SEVERAL OCCASIONS TWO HOURS BEFORE HIS SHIFT WAS DUE TO START AND REMAINED AFTER ITS APPOINTED TERMINATION. ALTHOUGH IT MIGHT SEEM SURPRISING THAT A MAN OF HIS OUT-GOING PERSONALITY WITH AN EXTENSIVE BACKGROUND IN PARAMILITARY OPERATIONS COULD ADJUST TO THE LIFE OF A DESK-BOUND PRODUCER OF INTELLIGENCE REPORTS, MR. HICKS HAS MANAGED THE ADJUSTMENT WITH THE GREATEST OF EASE. HE IS A DISTINCT ASSET TO THIS OFFICE AND THE UNDERSIGNED WILL FEEL GRATEFUL IF HE SHOULD DECIDE TO EXTEND HIS TOUR IN THE INTELLIGENCE WATCH BEYOND THE NORMAL TWO YEARS. I RECOMMEND HIM WITH ENTHUSIASM FOR PROMOTION TO GS-14.

I heartily endorse this recommendation that Mr. Hicks be promoted to GS-14. As his supervisor points out, Mr. Hicks, when he came to the Intelligence Watch, was essentially a guerrilla warfare field operational officer. Positive intelligence information reporting and the handling of reports were new to him, and called for professional skills and other qualities radically different from those which most of his previous experience had brought into play. Yet in a relatively short time, Mr. Hicks has developed the skills required of a Watch Officer, and thanks to this and to other strengths has become one of the most valuable officers in the unit.

MEMORANDUM FOR: Secretary, CSPS/Section A

SUBJECT: Recommendation for the Promotion of Calvin W. Hicks (056361) to GS-14

1. I recommend the promotion of subject officer from GS-13 to GS-14. Mr. Hicks has been assigned to the Intelligence Watch/FI Staff since June 1967; where he serves on a rotating schedule with seven other officers doing identical work; five of whom are currently in grade GS-14.

2. Mr. Hicks has been with IW for about 16 months and his work, both quantitavely and qualitatively, has been consistently of very high caliber. Normally six months are required before an officer newly assigned to the Intelligence Watch is able to handle a shift by himself. At least a year is usually required before a man can advance from "Adequate" to "Proficient." At present, Mr. Hicks has already progressed to the rating of "Strong." He is alert and conscientious and has an operational sense which is invaluable in the handling of intelligence. With his extensive operational and paramilitary background, Mr. Hicks has a fine sense for the relationship between operations and its primary product, the Clandestine Services intelligence report. This officer has been under my supervision for 11 months and during that period I have had ample opportunity to observe his conduct under conditions of stress. He is even tempered and level headed. His mistakes are few and infrequent. I am particularly impressed with his thoroughness in handling information; with the evidence of the coordination which he so often attempts with several Area Divisions when necessary before disseminating a report to the intelligence community. Since the Intelligence Information Report is the face that the Clandestine Services shows to the intelligence analyst and the policy officers of the Government, the performance of the watch officers is of great importance. This factor becomes apparent when one notes that about 60 percent of all cabled intelligence reports are disseminated by the Intelligence Watch.

3. Prior to his assignment to the Intelligence Watch, Mr. Hicks served with WH Division and with the Cuban Operation. He has an extensive background in paramilitary operations both in

THE FIELD AND AT HEADQUARTERS. ALL OF HIS FITNESS REPORTS FOR THE SIX YEARS PRECEDING HIS ASSIGNMENT TO THE INTELLIGENCE WATCH HAVE BORNE THE OVERALL RATING OF "STRONG." HE HAS BEEN DESCRIBED AS "HIGHLY MOTIVATED, SINCERE AND CAPABLE." ALSO, "HE WORKS WELL WITH OTHERS AND HIS KNOWLEDGE AND ABILITY ARE RESPECTED." OTHER SUPERVISORS DURING THE YEARS IMMEDIATELY PRIOR TO THIS ASSIGNMENT HAVE DESCRIBED HIM AS "SERIOUS, HARD-WORKING AND DEPENDABLE." HIS PERFORMANCE IN HIS PRESENT ASSIGNMENT HAS DEMONSTRATED THESE SAME QUALITIES. ALTHOUGH IT MIGHT SEEM SURPRISING THAT A MAN OF HIS OUT-GOING PERSONALITY WITH AN EXTENSIVE BACKGROUND IN PARAMILITARY OPERATIONS COULD ADJUST TO THE LIFE OF A DESK-BOUND PRODUCER OF INTELLIGENCE REPORTS, MR. HICKS HAS MANAGED THIS TRANSITION WITH THE GREATEST OF EASE. HE IS A DISTINCT ASSET TO THIS OFFICE AND THE UNDERSIGNED WILL FEEL GRATEFUL IF HE SHOULD DECIDE TO EXTEND HIS TOUR IN THE INTELLIGENCE WATCH BEYOND THE NORMAL TWO YEARS. MEMORANDUM FOR: Secretary, CS/CS Panel (Section B)

SUBJECT : Recommendation for Promotion to Grade GS-13 - Mr. Calvin W. Hicks

1. It is recommended that Calvin W. Hicks be promoted from Grade GS-12 to Grade GS-13 in recognition of his outstanding performance as a member of JMATE Project.

2. Mr. Hicks was assigned to JMATE Project in October 1960 as an operations officer in the Paramilitary Section. His years of Agency experience and varied operational assignments enabled him to immediately take hold and perform the many functions required in the Paramilitary Operations Section in a most outstanding manner. This included recruitment, training, briefing, debriefing and in-exfiltration of agents; supervision of the infiltration of supplies and bodies by air for the Paramilitary Operations Section; case officer for certain high level agents and their W/T operators inside the target area. Mr. Hicks' maturity, common sense and varied experience enabled him to operate with the minimum of supervision. He trained certain agents in tradecraft, air and maritime reception, mapping, and guerrilla warfare with the result that these agents received the only completely successful air drops. In addition, some of these agents handled and trained by Mr. Hicks became our most trusted and important agents, and a large measure of their willingness to go on after continued frustrations was due to their respect for, and trust and confidence in, Mr. Hicks.

3. Mr. Hicks has continuously demonstrated the ability to perform duties in a higher grade. He has the leadership, maturity, common sense, stability, and ability to make decisions and to operate with minimum supervision so necessary to senior officers in the Agency. He is aggressive and capable of fighting for his views; at the same time he will listen to advice and once a decision has been handed down, will give it his full support even though he might have opposed it before the decision was made.

EYES ONLY
SECRET

4. Mr. Hicks has been an Agency staff employee since August 1950 and was last promoted in November 1956. He is in every way fully qualified to perform the duties of a higher grade and has been doing so in an outstanding manner on JMATE Project. Therefore, it is strongly recommended that Mr. Hicks be promoted to Grade GS-13 at the earliest date.

SECTION C — NARRATIVE COMMENTS

Indicate significant strengths or weaknesses demonstrated in current position keeping in proper perspective their relationship to overall performance. State suggestions made for improvement of work performance. Give recommendations for training. Comment on foreign language competence, if required for current position. Amplify or explain ratings given in Section B to provide best basis for determining future personnel action. Manner of performance of managerial or supervisory duties and cost consciousness in the use of personnel, space, equipment and funds, must be described, if applicable. If extra space is needed to complete Section C, attach a separate sheet of paper.

Mr. Hicks continues to perform with exceptional proficiency. In April 1972 he was granted a Quality Step Increase in recognition and as proof of the high esteem in which he is held by his supervisor in the Clandestine Service.

Mr. Hicks' services have been particularly valuable during this reporting period because of DDP's increased concern regarding the strict maintenance of operational security in the dissemination of its intelligence information. Mr. Hicks has been instrumental in referring many reports when in the opinion of IW officers, the authentication statement and the manner in which the report is written would help to pinpoint the source of the information if the report fell in unauthorized hands. Mr. Hicks' notations on the IW log cards which record the action taken on each report indicate the seriousness in which Mr. Hicks approaches his daily tasks and his contributions in reminding Divisional personnel about the essential elements of good reporting and the need to comply with the prescribed format.

The exercise of good judgment in referring or consulting on an Intel Cable prior to its dissemination to the Intelligence Community is an essential element in the proper functioning of this office and upon which depends to a certain extent the Agency's reputation.

With the retirement and reassignment of several IW officers during this reporting period, Mr. Hicks is now the IW officer with the most experience and continuity on the job. This together with his maturity of judgment and ability to withstand the rigors and pressures inherent in an around-the-clock activity, make Mr. Hicks a distinct asset in the unit.

The assignment carries no supervisory responsibilities and does not require any significant demonstration of cost consciousness.

MEMORANDUM FOR: The Record

SUBJECT : Credit Reference for Mr. Calvin W. Hicks

1. Mr. Calvin W. Hicks has had the following history of employment with the Agency:

a. August 1950 - EOD Headquarters
b. December 1950-April 1952 - FE Division, stationed overseas
c. April 1952-March 1954 - OTR, Headquarters
d. March 1954-May 1955 - OTR, ISOLATION

During his time at Headquarters he was a student and did not establish credit. While overseas, his cover was that of a Department of the Army civilian, although he told casual friends that he had been recalled to active duty. From April 1952 to March 1954, he used a nominal cover of a Department of Defense civilian. He used the Commanding Officer of ISOLATION (as locally known) to establish credit there.

2. Mr. Hicks will abide by the above story. Therefore, he should admit no affiliation with the Agency, and his employment with the Agency will be denied.

During this reporting period Mr. Hicks' performance has continued to be characterized by exceptional proficiency. The record is already replete of laudatory comments regarding his performance not only in IW but in previous assignments. Mr. Hicks is retiring from the Agency at the end of this year on a medical disability.

Since his assignment to IW, 7 1/2 years ago, he has had a medical hold and because of his deep roted motivation and strong belief in the Agency's mission, he has held on tenaciously until he reached the age of 50. In addition to being a very effective IW officer throughout these years, Mr. Hicks has also performed in a superior manner as a paramilitary officer during the early years of his career, overseas and in Headquarters.

We wish him Godspeed, and our best wishes for good health throughout the coming years.

If extra space is needed to complete Section D, attach a separate sheet of paper.

There has been no change in Mr. Hicks' performance from the last reporting period. It is still characterized by exceptional proficiency. He continues to display initiative, resourcefulness and good judgment in the performance of the duties assigned to an IW officer.

Mr. Hicks has been with the Intelligence Watch since June 1967. A medical hold has precluded any further overseas assignments and for this reason his tour in IW has been extended until he reaches age 50 (November 1974) at which time he plans to retire under the Agency retirement system. Throughout this period he has continuously applied himself with diligence and enthusiasm. Even after some protracted sick leave periods he has returned ready to step in and pick up where he left off which is the best proof of his mastery of details and the mechanics of dissemination, as well as his ability to adjust to the stresses and strains resulting from this type of assignment.

Since the inception of his IW assignment he has borne the same responsibilities and carried the same burdens as his colleagues in the GS-14 category and continues to perform at this level. For this sustained high-level of performance in 1972 he received a quality step increase in recognition and as proof of the high esteem in which he is held by his superiors.

Mr. Hicks' resourcefulness and ability to apply the myriad of reporting skills and techniques has been clearly demonstrated in crisis situations such as the recent Chilean political upheaval and the current Near Eastern crisis. The presence of IW officers such as Mr. Hicks enables the DDO to effect electrical dissemination of the high precedence traffic to the Intelligence Community in a matter of minutes on a 24-hour-a-day basis.

While his assignment carries no supervisory responsibilities he gives all indications of being cost-conscious.

SECTION C NARRATIVE COMMENTS

Indicate significant strengths or weaknesses demonstrated in current position keeping in proper perspective their relationship to overall performance. State suggestions made for improvement of work performance. Give recommendations for training. Comment on foreign language competence, if required for current position. Amplify or explain ratings given in Section B to provide best basis for determining future personnel action. Manner of performance of managerial or supervisory duties and cost consciousness in the use of personnel, space, equipment and funds, must be commented on, if applicable. If extra space is needed to complete Section C, attach a separate sheet of paper.

Mr. Hicks continues to perform with exceptional proficiency. In April 1972 he was granted a Quality Step Increase in recognition and as proof of the high esteem in which he is held by his supervisor in the Clandestine Service.

Mr. Hicks' services have been particularly valuable during this reporting period because of DDP's increased concern regarding the strict maintenance of operational security in the dissemination of its intelligence information. Mr. Hicks has been instrumental in referring many reports when in the opinion of IW officers, the authentication statement and the manner in which the report is written would help to pinpoint the source of the information if the report fell in unauthorized hands. Mr. Hicks' notations on the IW log cards which record the action taken on each report indicate the seriousness in which Mr. Hicks approaches his daily tasks and his contributions in reminding Divisional personnel about the essential elements of good reporting and the need to comply with the prescribed format.

The exercise of good judgment in referring or consulting on an Intel Cable prior to its dissemination to the Intelligence Community is an essential element in the proper functioning of this office and upon which depends to a certain extent the Agency's reputation.

With the retirement and reassignment of several IW officers during this reporting period, Mr. Hicks is now the IW officer with the most experience and continuity on the job. This together with his maturity of judgment and ability to withstand the rigors and pressures inherent in an around-the-clock activity, make Mr. Hicks a distinct asset in the unit.

The assignment carries no supervisory responsibilities and does not require any significant demonstration of cost consciousness.

THERE HAS BEEN NO CHANGE IN MR. HICKS' OVERALL PERFORMANCE FROM THE LAST RATING PERIOD. IT IS STILL CHARACTERIZED BY EXCEPTIONAL PROFICIENCY. HE CONTINUES TO BE A HIGHLY MOTIVATED, HARD-WORKING AND DEPENDABLE OFFICER.

SINCE JOINING IW IN JUNE 1967 HE HAS SERVED ON A ROTATING SCHEDULE WITH SEVEN OTHER OFFICERS DOING IDENTICAL WORK, THREE OF WHOM ARE CURRENTLY IN GRADE GS-14 AND ONE IN GRADE GS-15. THERE HAVE BEEN AS MANY AS FIVE GS-14 OFFICERS SERVING AT THE SAME TIME AS MR. HICKS. HE HAS, THEREFORE, BEEN PERFORMING DUTIES COMMENSURATE WITH A GRADE HIGHER THAN HIS PRESENT ONE.

HIS OUTGOING PERSONALITY AND EXTENSIVE KNOWLEDGE OF THE IW OPERATION HAS GAINED HIM THE CONFIDENCE AND RESPECT OF NOT ONLY HIS COLLEAGUES BUT ALSO OF THE NUMEROUS DIVISION REPRESENTATIVES WITH WHOM HE DEALS.

HE HAS NO SUPERVISORY DUTIES AND IS COST CONSCIOUS.

THERE HAS BEEN FREQUENT CONSULTATION WITH MR. HICKS CONCERNING THE PERFORMANCE OF HIS DUTIES.

While I am physically separated from this officer and not in daily contact with him or his work, all secondary evidences are that this is a conservative but generally accurate evaluation.

JAN 23 10 40 AM '70

MR. HICKS' PERFORMANCE DURING THE 3½ MONTHS UNDER MY SUPERVISION HAS CONTINUED AT THE SAME HIGH LEVEL NOTED IN HIS LAST FITNESS REPORT. HE EXERCISES GREAT CARE AND ATTENTION TO THE MULTITUDE OF DETAILS ENTAILED IN THE PROCESSING OF INTEL CABLES. HE WORKS WELL UNDER PRESSURE AND IS CONGENIAL AND TACTFUL IN DEALING WITH DIVISIONAL PERSONNEL.

HIS TOUR IN IW WILL BE EXTENDED FOR ANOTHER TWO YEARS. HIS CONTINUED PRESENCE IN IW WILL BE OF INESTIMABLE VALUE TO NEW OFFICERS WHO WILL BE JOINING THE INTELLIGENCE WATCH AS OTHERS ARE REASSIGNED OR RETIRE.

I STRONGLY RECOMMEND THAT HE BE RECONSIDERED FOR PROMOTION TO GS-14. THERE IS NO QUESTION THAT HE HAS BEEN PERFORMING AT THIS LEVEL FOR A CONSIDERABLE PERIOD OF TIME.

There has been frequent consultation with Mr. Hicks concerning his performance of his duties. He has no supervisory duties and is cost-conscious.

COMMENTS OF REVIEWING OFFICIAL

I do not know Mr. Hicks well having been assigned to the FI staff only a relatively short period of time, plus the fact that direct contacts with officers of the Intelligence Watch are not always frequent owing to their schedules. I would concur however in the rating and narrative comments above in view of my knowledge of the supervisors.

MR. HICKS HAS BEEN A WATCH OFFICER IN IW FOR MORE THAN TWO YEARS AND IS A DEPENDABLE AND THOROUGHLY RELIABLE MEMBER OF THE TEAM. HE HAS A FINE OPERATIONAL BACKGROUND AND A KEEN SENSE OF SECURITY. HIS JUDGMENT IS VERY SOUND AND HE FAR EXCEEDS THE DEMANDS OF HIS POSITION IN THE EXTENT OF HIS COORDINATION WITH THE AREA DIVISIONS ON MATTERS WHERE HE FEELS THAT DIVISION JUDGMENT SHOULD BE BROUGHT TO BEAR ON AN INTELL CABLE. HE IS METICULOUSLY CORRECT IN HIS APPROACH TO HIS DUTIES AND KNOWS HOW TO BALANCE CUSTOMER NEED FOR ENLIGHTENMENT ON SOURCES TO THE AGENCY'S REQUIREMENTS FOR SOURCE PROTECTION. HE STANDS UP WELL UNDER PRESSURE, IS COOPERATIVE AND CONGENIAL. HE HAS BEEN RECOMMENDED FOR PROMOTION TO GS-14 THREE TIMES DURING HIS TOUR IN IW AND IT IS REGRETTABLE THAT IT HAS NOT BEEN POSSIBLE TO PROMOTE HIM. HIS PERFORMANCE IS SIMILAR TO THAT OF HIS COLLEAGUES WHO ARE IN GRADE GS-14.

NEITHER COST CONSCIOUSNESS NOR SUPERVISION IS A FACTOR IN HIS PERFORMANCE.

Mr. Hicks has been with IW for almost 2 years and is a dependable and thoroughly reliable member of the team. He brings to his work a fine operational background and a sense of operational security which is of great assistance in the exercise of sound judgment on dissemination matters. He has an instinct for prompt recognition of problem cases and is imaginative in his approach to problems of under-enlightenment of the reader and the opposite extreme of lax source protection.

He is careful and meticulous in his work, level headed and sound in his judgments. He knows how to balance the customer demand for speed and enlightenment against the equally important demands for source protection. He stands up well under pressure, is cooperative and congenial with his colleagues and with the divisional personnel with whom he is in contact.

Neither cost consciousness nor supervision is a factor in his performance.

COMMENTS OF REVIEWING OFFICIAL

I concur in this report primarily on the basis of my confidence in the judgment of the supervisor, as I have had no opportunity to evaluate closely the performance of individual officers in the Intelligence Watch. Such direct contacts as I have had with Mr. Hicks have tended to confirm the overall rating of "Strong." I am satisfied that he is performing at the GS-14 level.

Indicate significant strengths or weaknesses demonstrated in current position keeping in proper perspective their relationship to overall performance. State suggestions made for improvement of work performance. Give recommendations for training. Comment on foreign language competence, if required for current position. Amplify or explain ratings given in Section B to provide best basis for determining future personnel action. Manner of performance of managerial or supervisory duties and cost consciousness in the use of personnel, space, equipment and funds, must be commented on, if applicable. If extra space is needed to complete Section C, attach a separate sheet of paper. MR. HICKS CONTINUES TO TURN IN AN EXCELLENT ALL AROUND PERFORMANCE. HE EXERCISES A VERY HIGH DEGREE OF PROFESSIONAL JUDGMENT IN CARRYING OUT HIS DUTIES. HE IS ALERT, CONSCIENTIOUS, STRONG-WILLED AND STRAIGHTFORWARD BUT VERY PLEASANT IN DEALING WITH PEOPLE OF ALL LEVELS.

BECAUSE OF HIS CONSTANT AWARENESS THAT CS REPORTS MAY FALL IN UNAUTHORIZED HANDS, MR. HICKS HAS BEEN MOST EFFECTIVE IN MAINTAINING SECURITY DISCIPLINE IN THE REVIEW OF THE INTEL CABLES, PARTICULARLY THE AUTHENTICATION STATEMENTS TO INSURE THAT ANY DATA WHICH MAY PRESENT A SECURITY HAZARD TO THE SOURCE, IS OMITTED FROM THE DISSEMINATION OF THE INFORMATION.

MR. HICKS HAS BEEN WITH THE INTELLIGENCE WATCH SINCE JUNE 1967. HIS OVERALL PERFORMANCE HAS BEEN CONSISTENTLY CHARACTERIZED BY EXCEPTIONAL PROFICIENCY. HE HAS FOR SEVERAL YEARS BEEN PERFORMING DUTIES COMMENSURATE WITH A GRADE HIGHER THAN HIS PRESENT ONE. A CONCERTED EFFORT SHOULD BE MADE TO PROMOTE HIM TO A GS-14. HE HAS BEEN PUT IN FOR PROMOTION AS AN INTELLIGENCE WATCH OFFICER SINCE 1968.

WITH THE RETIREMENT AND REASSIGNMENT OF SEVERAL IW OFFICERS, BY NEXT YEAR, HE WILL BE THE IW OFFICER WITH THE MOST CONTINUITY ON THE JOB. THIS WILL BE A GREAT ASSET TO IW AND IN PARTICULAR TO THE NEWER OFFICERS WHO WILL PROFIT FROM HIS EXPERIENCE.

ATTACHED TO THIS FITNESS REPORT IS A RECENTLY PREPARED POSITION DESCRIPTION OF AN IW OFFICER WHICH CHARACTERIZES MR. HICKS IN EVERY RESPECT. THIS DESCRIPTION SHOULD HELP TO BETTER APPRECIATE THE IMPORTANCE THAT THE DDP ATTACHES TO THE FUNCTION AND RESPONSIBILITIES OF IW OFFICERS AS WELL AS THE SCOPE AND COMPLEXITY OF THE WORK.

IT IS NOT EASY TO FIND SUITABLE OFFICERS TO SERVE IN IW. IT CALLS FOR INDIVIDUALS WHO ARE HIGHLY MOTIVATED, WITH MATURITY OF JUDGMENT, TEMPERAMENT, MANNER AND BEARING TO WITHSTAND THE RIGORS OF SHIFT WORK, AND ABOVE ALL TO MAINTAIN CORDIAL RELATIONS

MR. HICKS HAS COMPLETED HIS APPRENTICESHIP AND ADVANCED BY GRADUAL STAGES FROM ADEQUATE TO PROFICIENT TO THE POINT WHERE HIS OVERALL PARFORMANCE MUST BE DESCRIBED AS STRONG. HE IS PARTICULARLY EFFECTIVE ON "PROBLEM" TYPE DISSEMINATIONS WHICH OFTEN INVOLVE TWO OR MORE AREA DIVISIONS. HE IS ALERT TO OPERATIONAL DETAILS WHICH OCCASIONALLY SLIP INTO THE INTELLIGENCE PORTIONS OF CABLED TRAFFIC. MR. HICKS IS A REAL PROFESSIONAL IN THE BEST SENSE OF THE WORD. HE IS CAREFUL, THOROUGH, AND VERY PERSISTENT IN MAKING CERTAIN THAT INTELLIGENCE IS HANDLED CORRECTLY. HE IS COURTEOUS AND PATIENT IN DEALING WITH PEOPLE. HE STANDS UP WELL UNDER PRESSURE AND IS COMPLETELY DEPENDABLE.

NEITHER COST CONSCIOUSNESS NOR SUPERVISORY RESPONSIBILITIES IS INVOLVED IN MR. HICKS' PRESENT POSITION.

MR. HICKS' TENURE IN IW HAS BEEN TOO SHORT TO PERMIT A REAL EVALUATION OF HIS PERFORMANCE. NORMALLY, AN EXPERIENCED OFFICER REQUIRES THREE MONTHS ON-THE-JOB TRAINING PLUS ABOUT THE SAME AMOUNT OF TIME ON SHIFT BEFORE HE IS READY TO COPE, WITHOUT STRONG SUPPORT OR SUPERVISION, WITH ALL THE PROBLEMS CONNECTED WITH THIS ASSIGNMENT. MR. HICKS JOINED THE UNIT ON 5 JUNE, COMPLETED A SHORTENED OJT PERIOD AND HAS BEEN ON SHIFT ONLY SINCE LATE SUMMER. HE HAS APPLIED HIMSELF WITH DILIGENCE TO LEARNING THE PRINCIPLES AND TECHNIQUES OF TD DISSEMINATIONS FROM CABLED FIELD INFORMATION REPORTS. ALTHOUGH EXPERIENCED OPERATIONALLY, HE HAS QUITE NATURALLY LACKED THE DETAILED KNOWLEDGE THAT THIS JOB REQUIRES. HE HAS MADE VERY GRATIFYING PROGRESS, BUT HE STILL MUST MASTER KNOWLEDGE IN DEPTH PECULIAR TO THE IW FUNCTION; WHILE I HAVE NO DOUBTS THAT HE CAN HANDLE ROUTINE DISSEMINATION MATTERS WITHOUT MUCH DIFFICULTY, AND SOME "PROBLEM" DISSEMINATION CASES, HE HAS YET TO MEET A REAL CRISIS SITUATION WHEN HE IS ON DUTY BY HIMSELF. I THINK HE HAS MOVED FROM ADEQUACY OF PERFORMANCE TO PROFICIENCY--IT BEING VERY DIFFICULT TO DRAW A LINE BETWEEN THE TWO--AND HE IS LARGELY BEYOND THE POINT WHERE HE NEEDS CLOSE SUPERVISION. HE WILL PROBABLY BE A STRONG OFFICER GIVEN TIME. HE HAS ADAPTED WELL TO THE PRESSURES OF THIS ASSIGNMENT AND APPEARS TO HAVE THE PHYSICAL AND MENTAL STAMINA TO WITHSTAND ITS RIGORS. HE IS EXTREMELY CONSCIENTIOUS AND VERY ACCOMMODATING IN ACCEPTING SCHEDULE CHANGES NECESSITATED BY THE ILLNESS OR ABSENCE OF HIS FELLOW OFFICERS. HE GETS ALONG WELL WITH CABLE SECRETARIAT PERSONNEL, WITH WHOM IW MUST WORK VERY CLOSELY, BECAUSE OF AN OUTGOING AND FRIENDLY PERSONALITY. HE RESPONDS WELL TO DIRECTION. I AM SURE THAT HIS COOPERATIVE ATTITUDE HAS CONTRIBUTED TO THE SMOOTH OPERATION OF THE OFFICE. THIS ASSIGNMENT CARRIES NO SUPERVISORY RESPONSIBILITIES AND DOES NOT REQUIRE ANY SIGNIFICANT DEMONSTRATION OF COST CONSCIOUSNESS.

MANAGERIAL GRID SEMINAR (50 hours) DATES: 2-7 February 1969

Student	: Calvin W. Hicks	Office	: FI
Year of Birth:	1924	Service Designation:	D
Grade	: GS-13	No. of Students	: 43
EOD Date	: July 1958

COURSE OBJECTIVES AND METHOD

Course objectives are to aid participants to: learn the managerial theories contained in the Grid; understand their personal managerial styles in Grid terms; evaluate convictions about managerial values; develop team action skills; increase candidness of communication; strengthen the use of critique for problem-solving and learning; and acquire an appreciation of Organization Culture and Development.

The method of learning offers a challenge to all participants regardless of level or experience. A Grid Seminar is not "taught" in the usual sense. In Grid teams, participants solve complex management problems. Objective solutions are made available. Individual and team performance is repeatedly assessed. Various measuring instruments are used to evaluate effectiveness.

Critique sessions assist each participant to understand how he might change his own behavior to increase his problem-solving effectiveness. Thus managers are not told the best way to manage, but they learn by convincing themselves.

About twenty to thirty hours of study are completed as prework. Insights gained are deepened and personalized during the intensive 50-hour Seminar.

ACHIEVEMENT RECORD

This is a certificate of attendance only. No attempt was made to evaluate student achievement in this course.

NOTE: This report covers the period from 10 August 1966 to 15 January 1967 during which time Mr. Hicks worked on the Colombia Desk. This report is being submitted because of reassignment of the rating officer.

Although Mr. Hicks is an experienced officer with strong qualifications and abilities, it should be noted that some aspects of his present job were a new experience for him, since his past experience has been entirely in the PM field. However, Mr. Hicks adapted well and quickly to the new environment, showed a great deal of initiative and resourcefulness in familiarizing himself with the work, and by bringing sound operational and administrative experience to bear, carried out his duties in a thoroughly competent manner. He demonstrated uncommon ability to organize his work, anticipate problems or requirements, and take effective action promptly. In dealings with his associates he exercised a good balance of persuasiveness and friendliness which paid dividends in terms of getting a job done. He can be relied on absolutely to carry out a given task promptly and well.

I would welcome any occasion which permitted Mr. Hicks to work with me again.

COMMENTS OF REVIEWING OFFICIAL

Mr. Hicks is a mature and thoughtful individual who made the switch from PM to FI activities at his own volition. He was originally scheduled for a field assignment to a WH Station in the fall of 1966, but for medical reasons will probably be staying at Headquarters for some time. While this restriction may limit his ability to get that feel for FI field operations which a Headquarters desk officer should have, he has previous field experience in a PM capacity to compensate for this.

LANGUAGE TRAINING OBJECTIVES AND METHODS

The general aims of language training are attainment of proficiency in speaking, understanding, reading and writing. The specific objectives are (1) ability to produce and distinguish the sounds of the language; (2) ability to use a stock of basic sentences and expressions; (3) ability to recombine the elements of basic sentences and expressions and to apply them to new situations; (4) ability to comprehend the language spoken at normal speed in various situations; (5) ability to write and read the language commensurate with ability to speak.

Methods used in all courses stress oral drills and free conversation based at first on memorized material and, at a later stage, on varied reading materials. Written and oral tests are given at intervals. Listening to and recording on tapes in the Language Lab is essential for class preparation.

NOTE: Subject spent full time on Spanish language training from 1 Sept through 21 December 1965.

NOTE: The difference in the letter rating between this report and the preceding fitness report does not reflect in any way on Subject's performance but is due rather to a different rating scale used by the originators.

Subject turned in an excellent all-around performance as Chief of the Headquarters Paramilitary Section supporting Miami Station operations. He strives hard to do a good job and is most anxious to please his superiors. He is aggressive and conscientious in carrying out his functions; strong-willed and persistent in seeking to achieve his goals; straightforward but pleasant in dealing with colleagues and other Government officials; determined in resisting encroachments in his area of authority; and finally he is motivated by strong patriotic ideals.

He is well-informed and competent in paramilitary operations with a particular gift for ferreting out technical improvements and innovations, and bringing them to bear on operations. Finally, Subject adapts smoothly and efficiently to operational and policy changes affecting his programs.

MAIL ROOM

Mr. Hicks' primary responsibility has been to provide Headquarters support and guidance for the PM activities directed by the Miami Station against the Cuban target. Mr. Hicks has shown a high degree of professional judgment in carrying out his duties, and his judgment is respected by senior officials who are required to submit the PM programs for high-level approval. During operational phases of the PM programs, Mr. Hicks is frequently required to be on call to act on emergency situations on a 24-hour basis. He has accepted this responsibility willingly. He has consistently taken the initiative in investigating technical developments which might provide assistance to the Station in the conduct of PM operations. He now supervises two professional and two clerical employees in his Section and runs his unit smoothly with no discernible friction. He does a good job of briefing and indoctrinating junior officers. While his experience has been predominantly in the PM field, he has acquired FI experience in the last two years because of the unique nature of Cuban PM (FI) operations. In his consideration of budgetary matters, he has demonstrated an understanding of the need to curtail expenses, where feasible. I would be glad to have Mr. Hicks work with me at any future time.

Concur. Though I have reservations as to characterizing this officer as "Strong," (in point of intrinsic ability when compared to others who are clearly strong performers) such reservations are vague and impressionistic and not related to the actual performance and period to which this report is addressed.

Mr. Hicks' personal experience and long association with paramilitary operations give him high competence in this type of activity. Personnel who have official business with Mr. Hicks respect his knowledge and ability in this field. He assumes responsibility and can be counted on to get a job done with minimum supervision. When required, he works irregular hours without complaint. His review of operational plans submitted by the field is prompt, complete and professional. Mr. Hicks exerts maximum economy in the use of funds, equipment and personnel. He is consistently cooperative, even tempered and patient in the face of frustrations inherent in this type of work. He has established an excellent working relationship with his opposite numbers in the field.

Amplify or explain ratings given in Section B to provide best basis for determining future personnel action. Manner of performance of managerial or supervisory duties must be described, if applicable.

Mr. Hicks has an exceptional knowledge of and experience with the problems involved in the conduct and support of covert PM operations. He has shown a high degree of initiative in providing the training and other support required and in preparing material for staff presentation to higher echelons. His attention to detail is a strength in accomplishing his duties but he must try harder to overcome a tendency for too much detail in his staff communications, oral and written. His written work in particular shows a weakness in synthesizing which it is believed could be overcome by available courses of training. Mr. Hicks has also reached the point where he must broaden his outlook as to the wider political and operational implications of PM operations. To this end, it is intended that Mr. Hicks will attend the Inter-Agency Counterinsurgency Course in the near future. Under an experienced Chief of Operations, Mr. Hicks could handle PM operations at most Field Stations; in a major operation such as Viet Nam or Cuba, he could adequately handle a large segment such as PM Training, the handling of a large indigenous group, or the duties of Chief/PM Operations or Deputy Chief, PM. He would be a definite asset, in the field or at Hqs., in any type of task force operations.

Subject is one of the most practical, hard-headed, down-t[illegible] persistent, and competent operations and operations staff officers this supervisor has ever known in our organization. He fights tenaciously and resourcefully in support of his staff advice to the time his chief makes a decision; from that ti[illegible]ts just as tenaciously and resourcefully to support the decision as he did previously for his position, whether or not the decision follows his advice. He gives 100% loyalty to his country, his organization, and his chief. His approach to plans and ops of the clandestine program has always been practical, and with the long-range requirements solidly in view. He is forceful and firm in dealing with allied opposite numbers, at the same time earning and retaining their respect. He is skillful and persistent in eliciting intelligence information. His development of contacts in the country assigned has been surprisingly good, even though outside his assigned responsibilities; in other words, he has constantly exercised initiative to place himself in a position to collect intelligence information should the requirement be placed on him. Altogether an outstandingly fine operations and staff officer whom I shall always welcome on my staff. His training, experience, and demonstrated ability in the field all well demonstrate his qualification to fill assignments in the next higher grade.

COMMENTS OF REVIEWING OFFICIAL It is probably because of the isolated location of the base and the "togetherness" of its personnel but this rating officer as well as his predecessors have all rated on the high side. While my contacts with subject officer have been infrequent and any evaluation would largely be based on paper-work subject has originated my assessment is that subject is an average officer for his age, grade, and experience in his rather specialized field. In comparison with other officers I have known in this ~~(continued separate page)~~ kind of assignment as well as in others he is not yet ready for promotion to the next higher grade.

Dear Mr. Hicks:

For your information and convenience, an Annuity Statement has been forwarded to you. That statement relates basically to the payment for the period 28 December 1974 through 28 February 1975.

Enclosed is a retiree identification card. Before using the document, please sign your name in ink on the reverse side of the card.

This office is in receipt of your signed statement wherein you elected to receive payment under the Federal Employees' Compensation Act (FECA) in lieu of a retirement annuity under the CIA Retirement and Disability System. Accordingly, your annuity ceased as of 28 February 1975 and you will henceforth receive benefits under FECA. An adjustment will be made in the payment issued by FECA retroactive to 28 December 1974. If, at a later date, the determination is made that you are not permanently nor totally disabled, your FECA payments might by reduced or stopped, at which time you may request the initiation of your retirement annuity.

If you elect to receive an annuity instead of benefits under FECA, you must so advise the Office of Federal Employees' Compensation, indicating the date of this election. In addition, you should send a copy of your correspondence with that office to the Agency.

MEMORANDUM FOR: Director of Personnel

VIA : DDP/OP

SUBJECT : Request for Quality Step Increase
Mr. Calvin W. Hicks

1. The GS-13 Evaluation Board for FY 1972, having carefully reviewed the performance of all officers in grade GS-13 according to the standards of HR 20-31a(3)(b), recommends Mr. Calvin W. Hicks for a Quality Step Increase.

2. Mr. Hicks performed in a superior manner as a paramilitary officer during the early years of his career, overseas and in Headquarters. A medical hold on overseas duty led to his assignment in 1967 to the Intelligence Watch/FI Staff where he has remained up to the present. Mr. Hicks has received overall ratings of "strong" from 1968 through 1971, with his performance characterized as exceptionally proficient. Of the seven officers with whom he serves on a rotating basis, four are GS-14's. The FI Staff has recommended Mr. Hicks for promotion in 1968, 1969, 1971 and 1972, with a recommendation for QSI in 1970. None of these recommendations were approved.

3. The Board has noted that Mr. Hicks plans to retire in 1974 at the age of 50. In view of the very high regard in which he is held by the FI Staff; his record of sustained superior performance and his high dedication to the Agency, the Board recommends recognition in the form of a Quality Step Increase for Mr. Hicks.

MEMORANDUM FOR: Deputy Director for Plans

SUBJECT : Expression of Appreciation and Commendation for the Intelligence Watch.

1. I wish to express my appreciation and personal praise for the performance of the FI/Intelligence Watch during the height of the recent Middle East crisis. I am informed that the Arab-Israeli war and its aftermath were primary factors which resulted in the Watch processing for the month of June the highest number of disseminations since its establishment. The Watch was particularly helpful to this Division in ensuring that the dissemination of the reporting on the Middle East situation was not only rapidly disseminated locally to the Intelligence Community but also promptly relayed to interested overseas military commands and CIA field stations.

2. The judgment shown by Watch officers, often under trying circumstances, was invariably sound and helpful. The worth of the Watch, particularly during the crisis situation, was once more demonstrated to all of us in NE Division.

MEMORANDUM FOR: Chief, NE

FROM : William T. Hornaday, formerly COB Cherat

SUBJECT : Letter of Commendation for Calvin W. Hicks

1. This is a letter of commendation for Calvin W. Hicks for the period of 7 January - 25 August 1960. During this time he served under my command on the staff of ACLEVER Project. His assignment was Operations Officer on the ACLEVER staff, and Chief Operations Officer for the United States element of the Joint Operations Staff, serving opposite a like officer from the Allied service.

2. Hicks at all times was an outstanding member of the staff. He was zealous in his efforts to improve operational techniques, to increase operational assets, and to insure that those assets were of trustworthy nature and were highly trained and qualified. His foremost thoughts were always centered on what was best for the interests of the United States. He was practical, unremitting in his efforts, and hard-headed in his analysis of how best to deal with the Allied partners for the best interests of the United States. He was a sound staff officer, offering sound operational advice to his commander, and always submitting staff work in completed form. After giving strong support to the courses of action recommended by him, he never failed to give complete support to his commander after a decision was made, even though it controvened the course he favored.

3. Mr. Hicks has been a GS-12 since November 1956. He has amply demonstrated his complete qualifications to perform the duties of the next higher grade, and it is my conviction he has earned the right to early consideration for promotion.

4. I shall always welcome any opportunity that permits Mr. Hicks to serve with me again.

Miss Goodpasture has been on sick leave since July 1972 awaiting medical retirement in October 1973. She is a charter member of the Agency, having entered on duty from OSS and its successor organizations. Her career is highly distinguished by virtue of consistently strong to outstanding performance, all of which is fully documented.

In addition to several staff and desk assignments, Miss Goodpasture served in support of the successful coup against the communist government in Guatemala in 1954 and completed tours of duty in Bombay, Monterrey and Mexico City. Undoubtedly, the high point of her career occurred during her service in Mexico City from 1957 through 1970, where she served as a "trouble-shooting" case officer for the incomparable Winfield Scott (deceased), who was then the Chief of Station. Mr. Scott, a stern taskmaster, described Miss Goodpasture over these years as "intelligent, hard-working, conscientious, versatile, valuable and unquestionably one of the most competent CI/CE officers he ever had the privilege of working with." Miss Goodpasture's fitness reports were totally consistent with this appraisal, and were characterized by outstanding ratings. In her final assignment prior to acute medical problems, she worked for the CI Staff (October 1970-October 1971), earning the following remarks from her supervisor: "...I venture to rate her overall performance, thirty years of it, as Outstanding. Ann is one of the tough warp-threads on which this organization is woven, and when she retires the fabric of this organization will be weakened." The reviewing official agreed with the above and recorded his hope that Miss Goodpasture get the official Agency recognition she so richly deserves for the many years she has made substantive

MEMORANDUM FOR : Miss Ann L. Goodpasture

THROUGH : Administrative Officer, CI Staff

SUBJECT : Application to Purchase Service Credit

1. This is to advise you that your application to purchase service credit under the CIA Retirement and Disability System has been processed. The period of your service which is not covered by retirement deductions and the amount due to cover this period are as follows:

Redeposit Period	Total Amount Due
11 Mar 1942 - 8 Sep 1943	$241.00

2. Postponing payment will cause the amount due to increase because of additional interest at the rate of 3 per cent compounded annually. However, so long as the amount is not paid, you have the use of this money for other purposes. You may postpone payment until you retire.

3. If the redeposit is not made you will receive no credit in the computation of annuity for the period of service covered by the refund. This usually results in a sharp reduction in the amount of your annuity.

4. If you wish to make payment for the redeposit period, please make your check payable to the Treasurer of the United States and forward it to the Chief, Retirement Operations Branch, 205 Magazine Building. If you prefer, you may make installment payments or arrange for bi-weekly payroll allotments of $25.00 or multiples thereof. A receipt showing a statement of your account will be sent to you acknowledging each installment payment.

MEMORANDUM FOR: NEA/ADM

SUBJECT : Ann L. Goodpasture

1. It is requested that subject employee be promoted from GS-11 to GS-12.

2. Miss Goodpasture was recently assigned to the NEA Division to act as Case Officer on Project PACT, a world-wide project of interest to high ranking officials in the Agency, State and Defense Departments. In addition to all material handled by Miss Goodpasture being slugged RYBAT, there is a further indicator assigned which allows distribution only to DCI, DDCI, DD/P and CNEA, together with the undersigned.

3. Information received under Project PACT is disseminated by the Case Officer to officials mentioned above in addition to DDI, Chief, CI, CPP, and CFI, and other interested Division Chiefs. Material received is reproduced by subject and disseminated as above. In addition to the above duties, Miss Goodpasture analyzes information for dissemination, handles her own carding and writing of operational reviews.

4. Subject employee has been in grade since 4 July 1954 and her performance on her present assignment has been excellent. It is therefore recommended that this request for promotion be considered at the next NEA Promotion Board meeting.

SPECIFIC Settlement Sheet-[redacted]

REFERENCE: HMYA-135 and Attachment

1. Receipt is acknowledged of above reference dispatch and attachment.

2. Headquarters finds that there is no adjustment due on the quarters allowance for the periods covered.

3. Due to the information in item #7 of PSI from $5079 to $5259 effective 7 June 1953, there has been an overpayment made to subject for the period 7 June thru 15 August 1953 in the net amount of $30.74 as evidenced by attached payroll change notice #271 for the period 16 August-12 September 1953.

4. Since the difference between the KUBARK and ODACID salaries is less than 100.00 per annum and settlement is to be made only once a year, it is suggested that a personal check for $30.74 made payable to Paul Levantral be forewarded to Headquarters to liquidate this overpayment.

Dispatch No: HMYA-7
30 October 1952

SUBJECT : Administrative [redacted]
Personnel - [redacted]

1. David Konan has asked that I state my preference with regard to home leave and reassignment. I will be eligible for home leave in July 1953 but it is not urgent that my leave be scheduled exactly when due. I would like, however, to know what opportunities exist with headquarters and whether I should be looking elsewhere for employment after July 1953.

2. With regard to another two year tour of duty in Monterrey, I would prefer a more responsible job than is forseeable here. Now that the station files are set-up and the administrative routine is established, my job, while termed Administrative Assistant, is mainly that of a clerk-typist. The practice in typing has been good for me but I would like to look forward to a more responsible job for the next tour of duty. For instance, as a GS-9 I am performing the same type job which I did in 1945 at a CAF-4 and a considerably less responsible job than the one performed at headquarters as a P-2. While I have been taking Spanish lessons, I know that I am not proficient enough in the language for an assignment in Latin America, and feel that I would be better off in another area.

3. For the benefit of the case officer in assigning a replacement, Konan has suggested that I outline the duties which my replacement should be trained to perform. The routine can be learned in the field within two or three weeks.

a) Copy typing. About 75% of the time will be taken up with routine typing.

b) Index carding. About 600 index cards a week are now being typed for the card files and for the visa section files.

c) Preparation of courier mail. Couriers usually go to the border approximately every two weeks but there is no regular schedule, and pouches are sometimes prepared on a few hours notice.

d) Communications. The incumbent should have complete training for our codes for he will not have much practice in the field as only two or three messages are transmitted monthly.

e) Photography. At the present time, considerable operational use is being made of a darkroom at my residence. In addition to my own photographic equipment, the station photographic equipment is used there. My replacement should be trained in the use of the duo-printer and in 35mm copy work. If he has no personal photographic equipment, headquarters may wish to issue him a camera as there is only one camera at the station. Most of the copy work has been done with my personal rolleiflex and enlarger.

f) Administrative Reports.

(1) Station Funds. He will be responsible for dispensing funds, keeping records and preparation of the monthly accounting reports.

(2) Property. He will be responsible for keeping records of government property and preparation of periodic reports and inventories.

(3) Exchange commodities. He will be responsible for keeping records and preparing periodic reports and inventories.

g) Maintenance of Files. The station files are set-up along the lines recommended by headquarters, and should require little time for upkeep.

h) Information Reports. Dependent upon the clerical workload, he may assist Konan in the preparation of information reports.

i) Cover Job. None. If there are only two people at the station, the replacement for my job would not have time to perform a cover job and consequently, would have no regular working relationship with the DYMAROCH employees.

4. A resourceful person can find Monterrey a very enjoyable post. From a social point of view, the city is not a dull place and either a single girl or man can find plenty of things to do. There are a limited number of single persons here, but one can always find somewhere to go and something to do. The American colony, as a whole, is the friendliest group that I have known at any post and they are very gracious with invitations to their homes. If headquarters has someone in mind for this post and would like elaboration on living conditions in Monterrey, I shall be glad to forward them on request.

Office Memorandum • UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT

TO : CPD

DATE: 12 December 1947

FROM : Chief, FBZ

SUBJECT: Ann L. Goodpasture

Temporary Promotion

1. Subject is administrative assistant at our installation in Bombay, India. Due to the increased cost of living in Bombay, request is made that she be given a temporary promotion from a CAF-7 to a CAF-9. The increase in salary, plus the additional cost-of-living and quarters allowances, will be sufficient to permit Miss Goodpasture to meet the highly inflated cost of living in Bombay, an impossibility for the past several months.

2. A review of subject's reports on living conditions in Bombay reveals that since her arrival in April, she has had to live in temporary quarters on a day-to-day or week-to-week basis. The rooms occupied by subject have been shared with at least one other girl and sometimes two or three. Bathroom facilities are also shared with the other occupants of the hotel. During a period of several months, subject and her roommate occupied a nine by twelve room on the fifth floor of a "walk-up" and shared a bath with four men. This room cost them $150 a month each. At the present time subject and her roommate are living in a single room, without private bath, and for the privilege are paying $ Rs. 200 a week each (approximately $60.).

3. In a dispatch dated 28 November, subject stated that "I am now spending more than my combined salary and allowances to maintain only a moderate standard of living. It appears at present that it is unlikely that any permanent quarters will be found for unmarried members of the staff. . .since four officers' families are en route to Bombay and three such families presently in Bombay are without places to live. Any accomodations secured through the Consulate will of course be made available first to the highest ranking officer in need of housing. Any accommodations found through other channels have so far been prohibitive in price. . . ."

4. In support of subject's statement of conditions she attached, at the Consul General's suggestion, a copy of his report to the State Department dated November 7, 1947. Pertinent portions of the Consul General's dispatch have been excerpted and are appended to this memorandum.

5. Subject's present salary, minus retirement and income tax, is $105.12 per two-week pay period; her present living and quarters allowance amounts to $78.45. The proposed increase to a CAF-9 would bring her net salary to $127.42 per two-week pay period and her living allowance to $103.07 - a difference of $46.92 every two weeks. A promotion to a CAF-8 would be insufficient, since her allowances would remain the same and the salary increase would amount only to $10.75 per pay period.

Despatch No. 537
File No. 125.42
JOHN J. MACDONALD, ad

AMERICAN CONSULATE GENERAL

Bombay, India, November 7, 1947

THE HONORABLE

THE SECRETARY OF STATE

WASHINGTON

SIR:

I have the honor to refer to my despatches numbered 93, 281 and 480 dated April 3, June 19 and September 13, 1947 respectively, and to report that the housing situation in Bombay is getting more critical daily.

Not only is living at hotels unsatisfactory in this climate, but it is far more expensive than any member of this staff can afford. So far the staff has accepted the unsatisfactory and expensive living conditions without undue complaints but this situation cannot continue without seriously affecting morale and forcing resignations, or requests for transfers which I cannot conscientiously disapprove. The local authorities have been requested on numerous occasions to assist this office in obtaining living quarters and, although they have been making vague promises ever since my arrival last February, no houses or apartments have materialized. It is not likely that anything will be obtained through the Government unless a substantial bribe known locally as "pugree" is paid. It is generally recognized now that only persons and firms paying "pugree" get living accommodations.

An endeavor is being made to find a suitable residence for the Consul General and staff quarters that can be purchased, but the demand for all types of dwellings has resulted in fantastically high prices and it is doubtful that anything will be obtained.

This office had an opportunity of leasing a floor of a building that could have been made into three apartments as reported in my telegram No. 366 dated October 13, 1947. This request was disapproved by the Department and it is most unlikely that another opportunity of this sort will arise. It must be pointed out that if any places do become available, the landlord will demand a lease on behalf of the Department before he will even consider renting the place. Landlords with whom I have talked informed me that if any of their places do become available they will not lease them to members of the staff but will lease them to the Department.

I cannot stress sufficiently the seriousness of the present situation particularly, from the financial standpoint and request that the Department increase the rent allowance for members of the staff who are forced to live in temporary quarters. If this is not done it will be impossible for them to live within their income if they remain at this post......................

Respectfully yours,

John J. MacDonald,
American Consul General

SUBJECT: Ann Lorene Goodpasture

Division 1, FBZ, requests that the above subject be transferred from SSU Registry to Div. 1, FBZ. Three copies of her Form 57 are attached.

It is planned to send Miss Goodpasture to Bombay upon completion of her CIG and State Department training. Her present grade is a CAF-5, but her duties in her new position entitle her to a promotion to a CAF-7 upon her arrival in Bombay. A job description is attached.

When Miss Goodpasture first made known her desire to return to the Far East, this division contacted Registry and found that they were willing to release her for an overseas assignment. A replacement has already been obtained for her and Miss Goodpasture will be on leave from 4 November to 2 December, 1946. Registry agreed to carry her on their rolls until their personnel is terminated by SSU or until she can be picked up by CIG—which ever is sooner.

Miss Ann L. Goodpasture

Miss Ann L. Goodpasture reported back to SI Washington from Shanghai on 1 April 1946. On the trip back, she developed a rather serious ear ailment, and it is feared that an operation may be necessary. Dr. Thompson of the Medical Division was going to attempt to have her admitted to a hospital Monday night for further attention and treatment. After release from the hospital she will go to her home in Tipton, Oklahoma.

In view of the above facts, we shall show Miss Goodpasture as being on sick leave (approximately one month) until her return to duty, at which time she will fill out the form 71 and any other necessary papers.

Miss Ann L. Goodpasture who returned from Shanghai on 1 April 1946 has informed me that she has cancelled her "Power of Attorney" in writing and that she has not been paid since 9 February.

It is requested that her case be checked and necessary steps be taken to reimburse her. Miss Goodpasture has been a Clerk-Steno, CAF-5, $2320 with the SI office since 16 Dec. 1945. She departed from Shanghai on 5 March and arrived in Washington on 30 March.

Miss Goodpasture is being hospitalized immediately, due to a serious ear ailment which developed on the trip back, and will probably be out for approximately one month. Any payments should be mailed to her in Tipton, Oklahoma (no Street address), until further notice.

MEMORANDUM IN LIEU OF FITNESS REPORT

SUBJECT: Ann L. GOODPASTURE
18 October 1970 - 31 October 1971

To the immense regret of this writer Ann Goodpasture is retiring very soon. It would be silly to rate her competitively against any of her colleagues, male or female, young or merely well-preserved. Concerning her fitness be it recorded that she is very fit indeed to perform any of the tasks listed as her current ones or almost any others I can think of at almost any grade. I venture to rate her over-all performance, thirty years of it, as OUTSTANDING. Ann is one of the tough warp-threads on which this organization is woven, and when she retires the fabric of this organization will be weakened.

William R. Johnson
Chief, CI/OPS/FE

COMMENTS OF REVIEWING OFFICIAL:

Miss Goodpasture is indeed a fine officer who consistently turns in a Strong performance when she is not doing an outstanding job. She is an excellent office and project manager who is cost conscious and she is a careful thorough instructor and briefer. Her retirement will leave a great gap in CI/OPS and, as Mr. Johnson has said, in the organization. I hope she gets the official Agency recognition she deserves for the many years she has made substantive contribution to the CS.

TO Chief, WH Division

DATE 5 June 1957

FROM Chief of Station, Mexico City

SUBJECT. GENERAL— Administrative

SPECIFIC— [redacted] Anne Goodpasture

ACTION REQUESTED: See Para 5.

1. The following is submitted for the information of C/WH/ADMIN and the additional dissemination as considered necessary.

2. On 25 May 1957 the personal automobile owned by subject was hit by a tornado, removing the hood and other parts of the body. The auto was in custody of subject's brother (in the United States) who contacted the Lawton, Oklahoma, claims adjuster for subject's car insurance (the GEICO Government Employees Insurance Company, Washington, D.C.) who authorized complete coverage. Subject was unaware of the accident until repairs had been completed. There were no personal injuries and no newspaper accounts as this loss was insignificant compared to catastrophic flood and tornado damages in the area.

3. On the insurance policy taken out in [illegible], Subject's employment was shown as U.S. Government with the [illegible] address. The claim to be valid had to show the same. The policy could not be amended to reflect subject's ostensible employment as this type of insurance is available only to U.S. Government employees.

4. Subject brought his automobile into Mexico on 1 June 1957 and is advising the GEICO that he expects to be in Mexico indefinitely and desires that his U.S. insurance be cancelled with receipt of the letter (probably about 10 June 1957.)

5. If queried by GEICO, it is requested that HQ acknowledge subject's KUBARK employment to cover the period of the accident.

MEMORANDUM IN LIEU OF FITNESS REPORT

SUBJECT: Ann L. GOODPASTURE
18 October 1970 - 31 October 1971

To the immense regret of this writer Ann Goodpasture is retiring very soon. It would be silly to rate her competitively against any of her colleagues, male or female, young or merely well-preserved. Concerning her fitness be it recorded that she is very fit indeed to perform any of the tasks listed as her current ones or almost any others I can think of at almost any grade. I venture to rate her over-all performance, thirty years of it, as OUTSTANDING. Ann is one of the tough warp-threads on which this organization is woven, and when she retires the fabric of this organization will be weakened.

Chief, CI/OPS/FE

COMMENTS OF REVIEWING OFFICIAL:

Miss Goodpasture is indeed a fine officer who consistently turns in a Strong performance when she is not doing an outstanding job. She is an excellent office and project manager who is cost conscious and she is a careful thorough instructor and briefer. Her retirement will leave a great gap in CI/OPS and, as Mr. Johnson has said, in the organization. I hope she gets the official Agency recognition she deserves for the many years she has made substantive contribution to the CS.

IV. COMMENTS: Miss Goodpasture's handling of the problems indicated that she is capable of shrewd analysis. She overlooked some points which might have been considered in one problem and dealt with the other problem in too brief fashion, but in general her analysis reflected her actual experience and suggested that she is perhaps stronger in analysis than in making operational decisions. She presented a rather complex case and demonstrated that she not only understood the case but was able to give a clear account of it.

This section is provided as an aid in describing the individual. Your description is not favorable or unfavorable in itself but acquires its meaning in relation to a particular job or assignment. The description is to be interpreted literally.

On the left-hand side of the page below are a series of statements that apply in some degree to most people. On the right hand side of the page are four major categories of descriptions. The scale within each category is divided into three small blocks; this is to allow you to make finer distinctions if you so desire. Look at the statement on the left and then check the category on the right which best tells how much the statement applies to the person you are rating. Placing an "X" in the "Not Observed" column means you have no opinion on whether a phrase applies to an individual. Placing an "X" in the "Does Not Apply" column means that you have the definite opinion that the description is not at all suited to the individual.

This form should be checked for holding of office, pension, suitability in connection with any record of recent discharge or arrest, and particularly for the following:

(1) Identity of appointee.—The appointee's signature and handwriting are to be compared with the application and/or other pertinent papers. The physical appearance may be checked against the medical certificate. The appointee may also be questioned on his personal history for agreement with his previous statements.

(2) Age.—If definite age limits have been established for the position, it should be determined that applicant is not outside the age range for appointment. Until such determination is made, the appointment may not be consummated.

(3) Citizenship.—The appointing officer is responsible for observing the citizenship provisions of (1) the Civil Service Rules and (2) appropriation acts. Salary: Starting, $ 60.00 Per mo. Final, $ 85.00
Duties and responsibilities: Bookkeeper, pay roll clerk, and secretary to Manager. During his absence was in complete charge of office (approximately 35 to 40 employees who did photographic finishing). During rush weeks, I worked overtime as a photographic printer, enlarger, or at any place where the workload was particularly heavy. (I have had my own darkroom laboratory since a child so that I was quite familiar all types of photographic finishing). I figured time cards weekly and made out pay roll. Kept the accounts for approximately 300 drug stores and other firms which acted as representatives of the finishing company in sending films for processing and developing. Prepared monthly statements for each organization. This was in addition to the other office accounts.

Present Position:

At the present time I am working in two places: one position is with the War Relocation Authority in the Placement and Training Unit of the Personnel Management Section which consists principally of clerical duties; the other position is with Congressional Intelligence, a private news service, the work consists of preparing for publication various legislative reports, press releases and current congressional information. The combined salaries amount to $204. per month.

The Civil Service position which I now have is a grade CAF-3 $1620. Although I am now doing personnel work, I do not feel that I am utilizing to the fullest extent my experience and educational qualifications and would be interested in transferring to any position for which I am qualified. I would prefer a position with a salary which would not necessitate my being on two jobs at one time.

I have no objection to a secretarial position if it is of a responsible nature, however I feel that I am better qualified for a Junior Administrative, Personnel or clerical accounting position.

NPD

Nationaldemokratische Partei Deutschlands (National Democratic Party of Germany)

Combined Deutsche Rechtspartei, Deutsche Reichspartei, the split off Sozialistiche Reichspartei and the Deutsche Partei.

In August 1964 von Thaden arranged a meeting with other right-wingers to promote unification of all nationalist forces. Friedrich Thielen served as both front man and financial backer. A committee of 10 drafted a constitution which was accepted in November 1964 by representatives of the DRP, DP, GLP and the DVNP (Deutsche-National Volkspartei). The DRP officially disolved in December 1965 although the NPD had, in fact, long been the nationalist party. At the 21 March 1967 meeting of the NPD Executive Committee, the more moderate Thielen (former Deutsche Partei) was ousted from the NPD by the more extreme von Thaden forces (DRP).. There was no major rush to leave the NPD, however. Recent reporting has indicated that those who did leave the NPD, even including Thielen, are being invited back into the NPD.

The Hitler Boom

by Charles Lam Markmann

Heidelberg

Had he lived Adolf Hitler would have been 85 years old on April 20. And it was on this April 20 that the forces responsible for the ouster of Chancellor Willy Brandt—for things must be called by their right names—had almost finished preparing West Germany for her start on the short march back to the past. One hears everywhere: "If we only had a strong man again." On the fashionable North Sea resort island of Sylt, Hitler's birthday was celebrated in the best National Socialist style by several dozen Germans, none over 35 [illegible] youngest 15, and all of them arrested on [illegible] having circulated or displayed Nazi sym[illegible] young men wore brown shirts and swastika armbands; the girls frumped themselves up in the dowdy blue skirts and white middy blouses of the Bund deutscher Mädeln (League of German Girls), the auxiliary of the Hitler Jugend. The walls of the room in which they held their party were decorated with pictures of Hitler and other National Socialist emblems for which they had scoured Schleswig-Holstein. After they had listened to records of Hitler's and other Nazi leaders' speeches and of old party march music, they drank a toast to the Fuhrer.

When they were arrested, one of the young men said the party had been planned merely as "ein guter Gag." Perhaps so. But for millions of other Germans the re-creation of "the Nazi time" is serious business: for some, because they want those good old days back, and for a few because they fear the others may very easily get their wish when the Federal Republic of Germany must at last put its democracy to the test. The fear is heightened by the steady and at times spectacular rise in what is called die Hitlerwelle—the Hitler wave, or Hitler boom—which has kept pace with the economic crisis, price levels and unemployment. The number of jobless has doubled since December.

It is as much a Hitler and Hitler-associated boom as a Nazi boom. This is not to say that Nazi thinking has no following in West Germany—quite the contrary, as the letters-to-the-editor columns of newspapers demonstrate. In Bavaria—Nurnberg (indeed where else?), in a 17th-century Franconian castle, a 25-man "army" of youths trains regularly, with the same steel helmets and rifles that the Wehrmacht used from 1939 to 1945. Their leader is a sign-painter named Karl-Heinz Hoffmann, whose goals are simple: the destruction of communism and big capital, the end of parliamentary rule, government by an unelected elite, the annexation of Austria (which, as the Weimar Constitution makes clear in Article 61, was also the goal of the first German "republic"), and the reunification of the Federal Republic of Germany and the German Democratic Republic.

There is a core of some 120,000 regular readers of the National Zeitung, which for two decades has been whitewashing the Nazi era, "proving" that the only concentration and extermination camps were those built after the war by German prisoners under American orders, for propaganda purposes (there are even pictures); promoting a brisk trade in Nazi medals, uniforms, weapons and other memorabilia, as well as books and recordings of speeches, party congresses, narrations of military campaigns (victorious ones), and engaging in a fairly subtle anti-Semitism. There is no need for blatancy, after all the Jews were only the first and most conspicuous of Nazi targets. Twelve or so million non-Jews murdered by the Germans died just as painfully—facts that are almost daily branded as "lies" in letters to newspapers, occasionally in demonstrations, less infrequently in swastika-daubings and cemetery vandalism.

But these things—the Sylt birthday party, Hoffmann's "army" (which ought to be taken seriously—the Nazi party's strength rose to seven members when Hitler joined it), the National Zeitung, the "antiquarians" whose windows and shops are filled exclusively with Wilhelmine and especially National Socialist objets de vertu—are only symptoms of the Hitlerwelle. The real thing is far more widespread, far deeper and more "respectable." In West Berlin alone there are more than 500 cars bearing registration plates that, after the mandatory "B" (for Berlin), carry such letter combinations as SS, SA, HJ, KZ before the various numerals. These designations—for Schutzstaffel (Elite Guard), Sturmabteilung (Storm Troops), Hitler Jugend, Konzentrationslager (concentration camp)—have not been issued routinely. They are issued by request, and Karl Koenig, the Social Democrat who heads the city's Economics Department, the issuing office, explains that under West German law such requests cannot be refused. (I am not for one moment implying that the law should be revised: one does not fight ideas, or even brute hatreds, with muzzles.) The same kinds of plates are visible in many other parts of Federal Germany.

There are now in print literally thousands of paperback titles dealing with every possible aspect of the Third Reich and its personalities. There are serious, analytical histories that sacrifice success for integrity; on the other hand two big, exhaustive, expensive biographies of Hitler are selling more than well, and one of them, by Joachim C. Fest, an editor of the arch-reactionary Frankfurter Allgemeine Zeitung, has gone well past 275,000 copies at almost $20 apiece—the publishers have 25,000 more ready and waiting in the warehouse. This book makes much of Hitler's "modernity," little of his barbarities: he was necessary to his time. The other, which is much more overtly an apologia—is by Werner Maser, who teaches the Hitler era at the University of Munich. It has sold 30,000 copies. It endeavors to create the impression that, had he not had certain problems arising out of misguided medication in 1938, Hitler would have done more good (and less harm).

In addition there are the big hardcover editions of Hitler's speeches (four volumes) and Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels' (two volumes); four new books about Rudolf Hess, Hitler's deputy who is now, at 80, the last prisoner in Spandau, innumerable radio and television programs dealing with various aspects and personalities of the period; and, most lately, a fortnightly publication, Das dritte Reich, planned to cover the whole "NS-Zeit" for popular consumption in two years, and then expire.

The Allies—especially the Americans—for a long time forbade any mention whatever of the Hitler period, and West Germany, once it became a more or less independent state, continued these bans for years. Even more than other peoples, Germans have the touching notion that censorship and repression will effectively eliminate ideas and facts; and, against this, neither the left nor the right has the faintest concept of civil liberties. Thus it is still forbidden, even though the German Communist party has been legalized again, to form a "Nazi" or "National Socialist" party. Consequently the old SA and SS men organized the totally Nazi Nationaldemokratische Partei Deutschlands,

In England and in the US there has been a revival of interest in the Hitler era paralleling the one in West Germany. At least 12 English and American publishers have capitalized on this interest. Here's a sampling of their recent books:

Pictures: Sieg Heil!, an illustrated history of Germany from Bismark to Hitler, by Stefan Lorant (Norton), more than 700 photographs and a literate text. Hitler Close-up (Macmillan), interesting because these are the pictures taken by Hitler's friend Heinrich Hoffmann, with commentary by confidant and diarist Henry Picker.

History: Hitler's Rise to Power, The Nazi Movement in Bavaria, 1923-1933, by Geoffrey Pridham (Harper & Row). In-depth answer to the question, what made people support Hitler in the early '20s? Careful and scholarly.

Military: Hitler's War Aims, The Establishment of the New Order, by Norman Rich (Norton). The second volume of a huge, hugely detailed study dealing with Hitler's foreign policies. The Rise and Fall of the Luftwaffe, by David Irving (Little, Brown), the life of Field Marshall Erhard Milch who was second in command to Goering and who survived to tell much of this to the author. The Admiral's Wolf Pack, by Jean Noli (Doubleday), containing authentic first-hand accounts of U-boat (Grey Wolves) actions. Battle Over the Reich, by Alfred Price (Cambridge University Press), contains pictures and text about the bombing and strafing of German cities and towns. Part of the revival because it is Germany seen as destroyed from the air. Hitler's Strategy, 1940-1941 The Balkan Clue, by Martin van Creveld (Cambridge University Press), a new view of Hitler's interest in the Mediterranean and his relations with Italy.

Religion: The German Church Struggle and the Holocaust (Wayne University Press), a collection of essays that grew out of the First International Scholars' Conference in 1970.

Refugees: Island Refuge, by A. J. Sherman (University of California Press). An interesting study of how Britain changed her policy about refugees from the Third Reich from 1933 to 1939 and why.

Persons: Target: Heydrich, by Miroslav Ivanov (Macmillan). Play-by-play account of the assassination of Czech occupation head Reinhard Heydrich and the Nazi revenge that culminated in Lidice. Hitler, by Joachim Fest (Harcourt Brace Jovanovich), the English translation by Richard and Clara Winston of the biography in which Fest concludes that if Hitler had died or been killed in 1938 "few would hesitate to call him one of the greatest of German statesmen," which may be why the book is seven-eighths over before we come to the Hitler of the war years. Werner Maser's Hitler Legend: Myth and Reality (Harper & Row). Enormously detailed with so many facts they obscure the man and his works.

Future: To be published by Viking in August, already published in England (Secker & Warburg), The Loneliest Man in the World, the "inside story of the 30-year imprisonment of Rudolf Hess," inside because the author, Eugene K. Bird, was former commandant of Spandau Prison, and seems to have won Hess' confidence. Despite its promises it says very little that has not already been known or surmised.

which, after some initial successes, took cover in the hardly inhospitable Christian Democratic and Christian Social Unions but has recently announced its determination to purge itself of this "taint." In addition in spite of the constitutional ban (Article 18) on any use of civil liberties to endanger the undefined "free democratic basic order," the state of Lower Saxony alone has 34 active Fascist and Nazi organizations, publishing houses, and mail-order book distributors. No one knows how many members and customers they have because they operate furtively, as the rather stupid law compels them to do. Mut (Courage), a monthly magazine addressing a frankly Fascist if not Nazi program to the young in that state, has a circulation of 10,000 and is regarded by the Lower Saxon Minister of the Interior as potentially or latently dangerous.

Everywhere there is curiosity about those mysterious 12 years. The teachers who taught then are still teaching, unless superannuated, but very few of them dare to teach what they used to teach, or even to talk about "the past." That is why Das dritte Reich was founded this year: to make money out of that curiosity. The idea was that of Hans-Peter Dietze, now its managing editor, according to his editor-in-chief, Dr. Christian Zentner, who stakes a pious claim to a desire to show his young compatriots how the Third Reich came to pass, in order to prevent its ever happening again. After four issues, Dr. Zentner is not so sure that his publisher, the big Hamburg house of John Jahr Verlag KG, will do much more than break even, because, he told me, what millions of people are insatiably interested in is not "the abstractions" of nazism and its history but its personalities, and in particular Adolf Hitler. These, he says, are "simple" people who do not read books but who watch television and read magazines, and it was they whom he set out to capture—to clarify the past for them.

His magazine is expensive—about $1.50 a copy. A tremendous advertising campaign, of dubious taste, resulted in first-issue sales some 150,000 above the 250,000 copies that the editors and publishers expected. The second issue sold between 330,000 and 340,000 copies, the third something over 250,000 so far, and the fourth—which is still on the newsstands—more than 200,000. The overwhelming majority of the purchasers and subscribers, Zentner admits, seems to include few of those young people he was looking for. the real circulation is among the people old enough to remember, the Nazis who write furious letters to the editor because he tarnishes their legends. Both Dietze and Zentner told me that the greatest sales of Das dritte Reich are not in cities but out in the country and the small towns, in Bavaria and Franconia especially.

One of the reasons for the phenomenal success of a television program called "Ein Herz und eine Seele" ("One Heart and One Soul") is its enthusiastically enjoyed derogations of the sub-men, by name: the Slavs, the Jews, the Latins, the Levantines. A German exaggeration of "All in the Family," the program plays also on the hysterical dread of "the Communists" that has been endemic here ever since the general staff realized in 1918 that it had made a terrible mistake in helping Lenin in 1917. Ex-Chancellor Willy Brandt was a constant target because of his illegitimate birth and his "traitorous" conduct from 1935 to 1945, when he fought against nazism, as well as his "selling out" to "the Reds." The program regularly attracts 60-65 per cent of the national audience, and only an occasional editorial writer or commentator dares to see its popularity for the danger it is. Its "left-liberal" creator, Wolfgang Menge, claims it to be a satire and so recognized because people say its protagonist, Alfred Tetzlaff, sounds just like Franz Josef Strauss, the head of the CSU: but then in each regional election this year more of them vote for the Strausses.

In mid-March the Bavarian State Radio and Television broadcast a long interview with Hitler's (and Franklin Roosevelt's) old friend, Ernst (Putzi) Hanfstaengl, who is now 87. Though in the end—through a rather gruesome practical joke—he felt he had to flee to the United States in 1937, and was materially assisted by Roosevelt, his old Harvard classmate, in gaining entry (later he became an adviser on policy to the American forces!). Hanfstaengl spent his whole time on camera telling what fine fellows Hitler, Goering, Goebbels, Himmler and the others really were, when all was said and done—and masters of their trades to boot: fine soldiers, geniuses at propaganda, und so weiter. Their Weimar predecessors he belittled and dismissed as nothings, though he admitted he had never known much about their aspirations or their achievements. Moreover in spite of having, with his wife and sister, lavishly and almost singlemindedly supported Hitler from the days before the 1923 Munchen Putsch to his own abrupt departure for the decadent democracy, Hanfstaengl insisted that he had never thought for a moment that the unremitting virulent anti-Semitism of his friend and hero would ever amount to anything serious ("some of my best friends were . . ."), or that his protege would ever have been "stupid enough to start a war."

The real danger of a Hitler renascence, in the view of Dr. Hugo Marx, a scholar who suffered under the original, lies in the combination of a romantic nostalgia and the millennial German faith in authoritarian rule as the solution to all problems. Weimar, after all, failed primarily, as both William B. Shirer and Karl Dietrich Bracher have shown, because no one, including the Social Democrats who proclaimed it out of desperation when they could find neither a Hohenzollern nor any other royalty to accept the throne, wanted a republic. When the economic crash came after 1929, the millennial search for the "strong man" lost its last restraint.

SUBJECT Intention of the Executive Committee of the National Democratic Party to Urge Non-participation of the Party in Baden-Wuerttemberg Election

ACQ Germany, Hamburg (10 March 1972)

FIELD NO. EGG-1825

SOURCE An official West German security service at the Land level. Analogous information from other West German services should not be construed as confirmation. The sub-source is an NPD official who had access to the information.

1. The executive committee of the West German National Democratic Party (NPD) will meet on 18 March with officials of the Baden-Wuerttemberg NPD organization and attempt to persuade the Land organization not to contest the 23 April Land election. The executive committee will point out that if the NPD does not run candidates in this election, the chances for the Christian Democratic Union (CDU) to obtain a majority in the Baden-Wuerttemberg election will be enhanced. This would enable the CDU to retain its Bundesrat majority and improve the chances of defeating the Eastern treaties of the Social Democratic Party/Free Democratic Party government.

2. The background of the executive committee's desire to avoid contesting the Baden-Wuerttemberg election is its estimate that the NPD would capture only two per cent of the vote this year compared with 9.4 per cent in the last election, a result which the executive committee is most anxious to avoid.

SUBJECT SUMMARY OF ADOLF VON THADDEN'S 3 DECEMBER SPEECH TO THE NORTHWEST MINING ASSOCIATION

ACQ GERMANY, HAMBURG (23 NOVEMBER 1971) FIELD NO. EGG-1721

SOURCE AN OFFICIAL WEST GERMAN SECURITY SERVICE AT THE LAND LEVEL. ANALOGOUS INFORMATION FROM OTHER WEST GERMAN SERVICES SHOULD NOT BE CONSTRUED AS CONFIRMATION. THE SUB-SOURCE IS AN NPD OFFICIAL WHO HAD ACCESS TO A COPY OF THE DRAFT SPEECH.

1. (FIELD COMMENT: ADOLF VON THADDEN, FORMER NATIONAL CHAIRMAN OF THE WEST GERMAN NATIONAL DEMOCRATIC PARTY (NPD), HAS BEEN INVITED TO SPEAK TO THE ANNUAL GENERAL MEETING OF THE NORTHWEST MINING ASSOCIATION, SPOKANE, WASHINGTON, ON 3 DECEMBER ON THE TOPIC: A EUROPEAN'S VIEW OF THE AMERICAN CURRENCY PROBLEM. SEE AMERICAN CONSULATE GENERAL HAMBURG TELEGRAM 767, 10 NOVEMBER 1971. DESPITE VON THADDEN'S RECENT RESIGNATION FROM HIS NPD POST HE STILL PLANS TO ATTEND THE MEETING AND

TO PRESENT THE SPEECH WHICH IS SUMMARIZED BELOW.)

2. VON THADDEN BEGINS BY TRACING THE HISTORY OF THE UNITED STATES' RELATIONSHIP WITH GERMANY FROM WORLD WAR I TO THE PRESENT, DEVOTING CONSIDERABLE ATTENTION TO THE 1929 STOCK MARKET CRASH. HE GIVES CREDIT TO THE UNITED STATES FOR HELPING EUROPE BACK ON ITS FEET AFTER WORLD WAR II THROUGH THE MARSHALL PLAN. BUT POINTS OUT THAT THE NATIONS WHICH WERE HELPED USED THE AID TO BUILD AN EXPORT BASE WHICH NOW IS CONTRIBUTING TO AMERICA'S FINANCIAL TROUBLES. HE SAYS THAT GERMANY AND OTHER COUNTRIES BECAME INFECTED WITH AN "EXPORT HYSTERIA" AFTER THE WAR WHICH HAD SHORT TERM BENEFITS FOR WORLD TRADE, BUT WHICH IN THE LONG RUN DAMAGED THE DOMESTIC ECONOMIES OF THE EXPORTING COUNTRIES.

3. THE 15 AUGUST 1971 SPEECH BY PRESIDENT NIXON IS COMPARED WITH THE 24 OCTOBER 1929 STOCK MARKET CRASH, AND VON THADDEN SAYS THAT THE SPEECH WILL HAVE JUST AS PROFOUND AN EFFECT ON THE WORLD'S FINANCIAL SYSTEM AS DID THE CRASH. HE DEPICTS THE SPEECH AND THE RESULTING CONTROLS AS SPELLING THE END OF THE ECONOMIC SYSTEM ESTABLISHED AT BRETTON-WOODS.

4. IN HIS ANALYSIS OF THE TYPE OF WORLD ECONOMIC SYSTEM WHICH SHOULD FOLLOW THE CURRENT AMERICAN CONTROLS AND FLOATING OF THE DOLLAR, VON THADDEN DRAWS HEAVILY FROM THE 23 SEPTEMBER PRESS CONFERENCE OF FRENCH PRESIDENT POMPIDOU. HE SAYS THAT THE DOLLAR CAN NO LONGER BE CONSIDERED THE SINGLE WORLD CURRENCY. THE PRODUCTIVE CAPACITY OF EUROPE MAKES IT NECESSARY THAT A EUROPEAN RESERVE CURRENCY BE AVAILABLE AS A SECOND WORLD CURRENCY. THIS CANNOT BE THE BRITISH POUND AS MANY PEOPLE AT ONE TIME WOULD HAVE BELIEVED, BUT MUST BE A CURRENCY ACCEPTED BY BOTH FRANCE AND GERMANY AND ADMINISTERED BY A COMMON GERMAN-FRENCH BANK SUPPORTED BY GOLD. ALL EUROPEAN STATES WOULD USE THIS BANK FOR INTERNATIONAL CURRENCY TRANSACTIONS. VON THADDEN VIEWS POMPIDOU'S SPEECH AS A SIGNAL TO THE UNITED STATES THAT THE FRENCH ARE NOT WILLING TO STAY PERMANENTLY UNDER ECONOMIC PRESSURE FROM WASHINGTON, AND AS PROVIDING AN OUTLINE OF THE TYPE OF ECONOMIC ORDER EUROPE SHOULD HAVE IN THE FUTURE. HE CRITICIZES THE WEST GERMAN GOVERNMENT FOR NOT TAKING A SIMILAR STAND, SAYING THAT WHEN IT IS POSSIBLE FOR ONE STATE TO PUT ECONOMIC PRESSURE ON OTHER STATES, THE SITUATION CAN LEAD TO

POLITICAL AND MILITARY PRESSURES WHICH WOULD BE PROFITABLE ONLY TO THE COMMUNISTS.

5. VON THADDEN SEES TWO ALTERNATIVES IN THE PRESENT SITUATION, I.E., EITHER A RETURN TO FIRM PARITY WITH A DEVALUED DOLLAR, OR A CHANGE TO FLEXIBLE EXCHANGE RATES AGREED TO BY THE INDIVIDUAL COUNTRIES AND GUARANTEED BY INDIVIDUAL CURRENCIES. HE BELIEVES THE DOLLAR MUST BE DEVALUED BECAUSE THE UNITED STATES CANNOT EXPECT EUROPEANS TO CONTINUE TO BUY THE DOLLAR AT A RATE WHICH IS NOT LEGALLY FIXED. HE VIEWS FLEXIBLE EXCHANGE RATES AS DESIRABLE FOR EUROPE, BUT NOT REALIZABLE AT PRESENT BECAUSE THIS SYSTEM WOULD EXCLUDE THE "THIRD WORLD" AND THUS WOULD BE OPPOSED BY THE UNITED STATES.

6. SUMMARIZING, VON THADDEN STRESSES THE NECESSITY FOR THE FREE WORLD TO REMAIN STRONG AND FOR EACH EUROPEAN COUNTRY TO RETAIN ITS NATIONAL CHARACTER AND DIGNITY TO PREVENT DOMINATION BY COMMUNIST AND FAR-LEFT FORCES. HE CRITICIZES THOSE WHO SAY THAT AMERICA IS NO LONGER NEEDED AS A COUNTERWEIGHT TO THE USSR, DECLARING THAT THERE IS NO OTHER COUNTRY WHICH CAN SERVE IN THIS CAPACITY, ESPECIALLY NOT PRESENT DAY WEST GERMANY. HE SAYS THAT THE WEST

GERMAN PEOPLE, THROUGH COMMUNIST INFLUENCE AND LEADERS WHO ARE FRIENDLY TO COMMUNISM, HAVE LOST THEIR NATIONAL CHARACTER AND ARE TOO WEAK TO OPPOSE THE USSR. HE ENDS BY CALLING FOR A CHARACTER RENAISSANCE IN THE FREE WORLD TO MAKE IT STRONG ENOUGH TO COUNTER COMMUNISM. (HEADQUARTERS COMMENT: THE STATEMENT OF VON THADDEN IN SPOKANE MAY ATTRACT PRESS INTEREST DUE TO THE NOTORIETY HE GAINED IN RECENT YEARS AS LEADER OF A GERMAN NATIONALIST PARTY WIDELY DESCRIBED AS NEO-NAZI. IN FACT, THE PARTY HAS DECLINED IN THE FEDERAL REPUBLIC TO THE POINT WHERE IT IS THREATENED WITH EXTINCTION, AND VON THADDEN'S RECENT RESIGNATION FROM THE PARTY DEPRIVES HIM OF ANY POLITICAL PLATFORM IN WEST GERMANY.)

SUBJECT Intention of Adolf Von Thadden to Resign As Chairman of the National Democratic Party

ACQ Germany, Hamburg (8 March 1971) FIELD NO. EGG-1682

SOURCE An official West German Security Service concerned with right and left radical organizations, from sources described as NPD officials, who have access to the information. Similar information received through other West German intelligence channels should not be construed as confirmation.

1. In early March 1971 Adolf Von Thadden indicated to close associates including members of the Executive Committee of the National Democratic Party of Germany (Nationaldemokratische Partei Deutschlands - NPD) that he plans to resign as Chairman of the NPD in the near future. Von Thadden has not announced the date when he plans to resign but close associates believe it will be sometime during the period 1 April to 1 June 1971.

2. Von Thadden's decision has been prompted by his discouragement over prospects for the NPD, serious financial difficulties of the party and by severe internal bickering within the NPD Executive Committee during the past several weeks. Von Thadden is basically more moderate than many members of the Executive Committee. Among other disagreements, Von Thadden has opposed certain aspects of the "Resistance Action" - (Aktion Widerstand) in which NPD members have recently staged demonstrations which erupted into violence. Von Thadden was also personally humiliated when his sister and other relatives asked him not to attend the funeral of Von Thadden's brother-in-law, the well-known historian Percy Schramm who died in Goettingen in January 1971.

3. (Source Comment: Von Thadden's resignation will in all probability mean the end of the NPD as an effective political organization. With the possible exception of the Bavarian District Chairman of the NPD, Dr. Siegfried Poehlmann, the NPD lacks effective and dynamic leaders. Poehlmann, however, has health problems and also does not have the stature of Von Thadden. The disintegration of the NPD will probably result in a number of smaller right-wing groups coming into existence, some of which, like the recent "Aktion Widerstand" may have a propensity for violence. After the NPD disintegrates, most of its former supporters will probably cast their votes for one of the three major political parties in West Germany. The CDU and CSU stand to gain most of these votes.)

SUBJECT Analysis of the West German National Democratic Party's Election Chances and Cohesiveness

ACQ Germany (27 February 1970)

FIELD NO. ~~OGA-953~~

SOURCE A medium-level West German government official who follows the activities of the National Democratic Party (NPD), from an NPD official who attended the party congress. The report is the NPD official's analysis of the party's situation in the wake of the congress. The information is also passed to an official West German service, from which similar information should not be construed as confirmation.

1. Adolf von Thadden, NPD chairman, remains firmly in control of the party following the 14-15 February 1970 NPD congress in Wertheim.

2. Skepticism about the future of the NPD is increasing among party leaders. The NPD is definitely planning to wage vigorous campaigns in all 1970 Land elections, but there appears to be little chance that the party will do even as well in these elections as it did in the 1969 Bundestag elections, when it failed to obtain five percent of the total vote.

3. At the congress, several prominent NPD leaders emphasized the need for party unity; these appeals were well received by the delegates. There are many unresolved questions and problems, however, which will continue to plague the party. For instance, the "national-conservative" concept, which was adopted in the manifesto issued by the congress, came under strong attack. One group, which includes both older and younger members, rejects the concept of the NPD as a conservative party, because they consider that this term conveys the idea that the party is an out-of-date and reactionary political group. On the other hand, the proponents of the national-conservative concept consider themselves as upholding "positive values" in the face of manifestations of disintegration. Von Thadden is the party's unifying force, and one delegate accurately summarized the situation by saying: "Von Thadden, by virtue of the charisma of his speeches, succeeded in bridging the many cracks in the party."

SUBJECT West German Ministry of Interior Evaluation of the Prospects of Banning the National Democratic Party

ACQ Germany (1 September 1969)

FIELD NO. OGA-913

SOURCE A medium-level West German government official who follows the activities of the National Democratic Party and who had access to the study during his official duties. The information was extracted from the original document and is believed to be an accurate summary of its highlights.

Summary: In June 1968, the West German Ministry of the Interior prepared a basic study of the prospects of banning the West German National Democratic Party (NPD). The summary of this study given below describes the major charges which the government could bring against the NPD, the defenses the NPD could be expected to make against these charges, and the probable political results which would follow both a successful and an unsuccessful case against the NPD. According to the source, this study is still considered the basic Interior Ministry evaluation of the case against the NPD and is being studied by senior federal government and state (Land) officials. End of Summary.

1. (Field Comment: For several years, West German political and government leaders have debated seeking a constitutional court ban on the NPD. On 13 November 1968, Ernst Benda, West German Interior Minister, advised Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger that there was sufficient evidence to warrant bringing a suit against the NPD. Kiesinger, however, opposed bringing a suit, and the subject became embroiled in West German politics. On 23 April 1969, the Federal Cabinet decided not to seek a court ban of the NPD, at least until after the September elections. This decision was prompted by evidence that the NPD was making no membership gains and apparently was losing popular support.)

2. In June 1968, the West German Interior Ministry prepared a 50-page study of the prospects for banning the NPD entitled "Considerations Regarding a Ban of the National Democratic Party." The study was well prepared and carefully written. It is still considered the basic Interior Ministry paper on the NPD and is being studied by senior officials of both the federal and state governments. It avoids giving an opinion on the prospects of obtaining a court decision against the NPD, but from the content of the study, it is clear that the authors believed that the courts would probably reject a government proposal to ban the NPD. (Field Comment: If the study is still considered current, it is unclear how it fits with Benda's November 1968 statement that there was sufficient evidence to obtain a ban against the NPD.)

3. The study summarized the case which could be brought against the NPD as follows:

a. It could be shown that there was a similarity between the NPD and the National Socialist German Workers Party (NSDAP) which has been outlawed.

b. It could be argued that the goals, and parts of the party platform, of the NPD are contrary to the principles of a free democratic state.

The study concludes that a sufficiently strong case could be presented to prevent the case being thrown out by the courts without a hearing.

4. The study lists the following points which the NPD could be expected to use in its defense:

a. The party could prove that it has given firm instructions to its members not to engage in rowdyism or violence.

b. It could show that a sizeable number of former NSDAP members have been forced out of the party as part of the Selbstreinigung (self-cleaning) process.

c. It could point out many features of its program which are in accord with democratic principles.

d. It could show that its elected representatives have worked with other parties and have not disrupted the Landtage (state diets) and other elected bodies in which they participate.

e. It could point out that other political parties have many ex-Nazis and ex-communists as members and could claim that the majority of the 28,000 NPD members are not opposed to the concept of the Federal Republic.

f. It would charge that the government's charges were one-sided, unfairly presented, and out of date.

g. It would claim that not all of Professor Ernst Anrich's points were included in the party platform. (Field Comment: Anrich is a former university professor from Darmstadt whose proposals were apparently more extreme than those incorporated in the party platform.)

h. It could claim that the increased violence (Verrohung) of the political climate in West Germany is the fault of the New Left and not of the NPD.

5. The study states that it would be very difficult to refute these NPD defenses in court. The government would have to admit that since early 1968 there have been very few statements made by NPD leaders, or incidents caused by the NPD, which could be used to support the government's case. Objectively, it would have to be admitted that many incidents of violence in which the NPD has been involved were initiated by opponents of the party.

6. The study predicts the following probable results should the government win its case against the NPD:

a. The NPD would probably respect the prohibition. It is very unlikely that the NPD would attempt to go underground as the illegal Communist Party of Germany (KPD) did.

b. NPD members and sympathizers would not change their opinions because of a ban. Many would join other groups or parties and continue to work for their political beliefs.

c. NPD and rightist sympathizers would begin a campaign for the banning of the new German Communist Party (DKP) and other leftist groups.

d. A ban of the NPD would be well received in foreign countries.

7. The study concludes that if the government should lose a case against the NPD, it would be the result of the lack of valid evidence (Beweisschwierigkeiten). In such an event, the following adverse effects would occur:

a. The NPD would receive a new impetus and valuable publicity.

b. The policy of Selbstreinigung which has had some success in keeping former Nazis out of key positions would be halted.

c. Many middle-class persons who sympathize with the NPD, but who have refrained from open support because of the stigma of being associated with a party which could be declared illegal, would join the party or become active supporters.

d. The party would undoubtedly attract more members. (Field Comment: The NPD leadership is known to be worried because the party's membership has not increased significantly during the past 18 months.)

REF: EGBT-14589, dated 9 September 1969

1. We are very pleased with the quality of the information on the NPD which has been made available through CATERROR. It is particularly useful during this pre-election period, but we also appreciate not having to wait 6 to 8 weeks for CAWHISPER to digest the material and pass it on.

2. After looking over the Reference, we are inclined to stick with the requirements mentioned in DIRECTOR 39284 for items worthy of intel dissemination. In this context Bonn State Department Telegram 12253 dated 17 September quotes Foreign Minister Brandt as saying that there has been evidence that the East Germans, undoubtedly with Soviet approval, had given financial support to von Thadden. While we are inclined to think that Brandt's comment may be wishful thinking, evidence of East German financing for the NPD would be of great interest and utility. Material not bearing on the requirements in DIRECTOR 39284 should be forwarded now to Headquarters for review. The NPD, as you know, is a subject of interest beyond its proportions as a political force, and we are grateful for the timely opportunity to keep up with the ins and outs of it.

ACQ Germany, Hamburg (15 August 1969)

FIELD NO. EGG-1444

SOURCE Member of the National Democratic Party in Schleswig-Holstein whose reliability has not yet been established. He obtained the information from two district officials of the Party.

1. According to a ranking official of the Kiel district of the National Democratic Party (NPD), Karl-Heinz Knipphals, the chairman of the Kiel district of the NPD, and Adolf von Thadden, the national chairman of the NPD, are personal enemies. (Source Comment: In January 1969 Knipphals was elected to be his party district's candidate for the West German Parliament. Knipphals, a Kiel lawyer, is in his early 50's. He was severely wounded during World War II and has only one arm.)

2. Von Thadden is aware of, and unhappy about, the fact that Knipphals, prior to joining the NPD, participated in Easter Marches and received unfavorable publicity. Furthermore, von Thadden is concerned about Knipphals' strong and ruthless political ambitions. He has referred to Knipphals as a "second Hitler", and he welcomes and encourages the fact that there is strong opposition to Knipphals even within the Kiel district of the party. Von Thadden, for the above reasons, would very much like to see Knipphals remain on the district level and is anxious to keep him out of the West German Parliament.

3. The same official who made the remarks about von Thadden and Knipphals also stated that many wealthy industrialists contribute funds to the NPD anonymously, because they do not wish their association or sympathy with the party to become known.

4. The chairman of another NPD district in Schleswig-Holstein stated that, in view of the fact that each new

ACQ Germany, Bonn (26 March 1969) FIELD NO. EGN-4107

SOURCE An official West German security service.

1. A 77-page German-language report, describing the National Democratic Party (NPD) and presenting documentary and testimonial evidence of possibly unconstitutional aspects of the NPD, has been deposited in the files of the CIA Document and Pictorial Services Division, from which copies may be obtained upon request. The report is the shorter of two versions prepared by the Federal Office for the Protection of the Constitution (Bundesamt fuer Verfassungsschutz). This shorter version is said to be complete in substance and is the version which was made available to West German Cabinet members in preparation for Cabinet discussion of whether the NPD should be banned. The longer, two-volume version has not been obtained.

2. Appraisal of the legal validity of the evidence against the NPD was omitted from the report at the order of the Minister of the Interior, who reserved to himself an assessment of the NPD's legality. Also, pages 9 to 13--a section entitled Chief Features of the Ideology (Grundzuege der Ideologie)--was omitted from the report at the request of the Minister of the Interior. (Headquarters Comment: The evidence in the report appears to be overt and less than conclusive. The West German Cabinet decided in the spring of 1969 not to request a ban of the NPD; substantial doubt existed as to whether there were sufficient grounds to obtain a legal ban of the NPD. The omissions from the text, referred to in this paragraph, may reflect realization by the Interior Ministry of the weakness of the case against the NPD.)

FIELD NO. EGB-24,611

SOURCE Intercepted communications, supplemented by information from a member of the West Berlin National Democratic Party (NPD) with close contacts among members of the Berlin NPD Executive Council and a record of accurate reporting.

Summary: The Berlin NPD has been plagued by a split between the Berlin City leadership, which is loyal to the Party's national leaders, and the "Loyalists" headed by the Berlin district leaders, who opposed the dissolution of the Berlin NPD ordered by National Party Chairman Adolf von Thadden in October 1968. Court action led to the thwarting of the plan for dissolution. In an effort to keep the Berlin Party alive, in mid-March von Thadden ordered a cessation of open Party activities until after the September parliamentary elections. Subsequently, von Thadden arranged a postponement of a scheduled Berlin Party convention until October, because of the possibility of a ban on the Berlin NPD by the Allies and the threat of trouble from the militant left. At the end of March, Berlin City NPD Chief Rudolf Kendzia resigned in an effort to promote party unity in Berlin, but he remains active behind the scenes. Since early April, the Berlin NPD leadership has followed von Thadden's guidelines. The influence of the Loyalists has been greatly reduced, and in accordance with von Thadden's instructions party activities have been circumspect. Both the Berlin and the National leadership are hoping that the NPD will obtain 25 to 35 Bundestag seats in September, which, they feel, will make the party more acceptable to right-wing voters in Berlin and enhance NPD chances during the 1971 Berlin communal elections. Berlin is planning to send volunteer workers to campaign for the NPD in West Germany, especially in North Rhine-Westphalia, the NPD stronghold. End of Summary.

1. (Field Comment: In October 1968, the West Berlin NPD had approximately 480 dues-paying members. According to a senior party official, more than 100 members have officially dropped their membership and others are dropping out quietly. In March the paid-up membership was about 300.)

2. Following the abortive attempt by the National Democratic Party (NPD) leadership to force the Berlin NPD to dissolve itself for tactical reasons in October 1968, routine party activity resumed almost immediately. It was characterized by a split between the leadership of the Berlin City (Landesverband) party unit and that of district (Kreisverband) party units. The former are generally loyal to National Party Chairman Adolf von Thadden and the national leadership in Hanover and their broader tactical concepts, while the latter, referred to as the "Loyalists" (Satzungstreue), defend the letter of the Berlin NPD statutes. The Loyalists initially objected primarily to the method of the attempted dissolution, but the friction with the city Executive Committee (Landesvorstand) headed by Rudolf Kendzia led to total mutual mistrust, disloyal statements to the press, and efforts to get each other expelled from the party by a party court (Schiedsgericht).

3. At a general membership meeting in Berlin on 15 March 1969, von Thadden attempted to achieve a truce within the party and ordered that there be no "political organizational activity" until after the September 1969 parliamentary elections. At this meeting von Thadden approved the scheduling of a Berlin party convention (Landesparteitag) for 26 April 1969, at which a new and hopefully more stable city Executive Committee was to be elected.

4. The 15 March meeting provided an indication that the Berlin NPD may well stick together under von Thadden's guidance until 1971, in spite of the friction between city and district leadership. Although the eight spokesmen for the local leadership, who took the floor after Kendzia's situation report and von Thadden's keynote speech, approved the action of the Berlin NPD districts in opposing the self-dissolution of the local party, and no one contradicted them, all but 31 of the 140 members present then voted for a resolution condemning District Chiefs Johann Ratzek (Schoeneberg) and Philipp Goelles (Wilmersdorf), leaders of the Loyalists, for anti-party activity. This vote amounted to a vote of confidence in the tactics of the Berlin City leadership, and according to members present was due solely to von Thadden's presence and influence. In the view of these members, a meeting without the attendance of representatives of the Hanover headquarters would have led to a no-confidence vote in the Kendzia leadership. During the meeting, von Thadden also rejected Kendzia's "Berlin Program," which called for a softer line on East Germany and on German reunification.

5. At the 15 March session, left-wing, anti-NPD protestors assaulted a number of NPD members and forced the NPD twice to change its meeting site. This leftist action and the obvious fact that the militant left has a penetration of the Berlin NPD have had a seriously dampening effect on the NPD's willingness to meet in the open. The party is now tentatively planning to hold future meetings on a rented excursion boat whose location would not be announced until the time of the meeting.

6. The Berlin NPD has made strenuous efforts to determine which left-wing organizations made up the task force which tried to disrupt the 15 March meeting. The Extraparliamentary Opposition (APO) claimed the honor, but the NPD investigation showed definitely that all but a handful of the protestors were an organized group dispatched by the Spandau branch of the West Berlin Socialist Unity Party (SEW) whose actions are part of a long-range program of harassment by the East Berlin Socialist Unity Party (SED).

7. Because of the subsequent possible threats of prohibition by the Allies (signalled by a letter from Governing Mayor Klaus Schuetz to the Allies asking that the NPD in Berlin be banned) and of further counter-demonstrations by the militant left, on 27 March von Thadden wrote a letter to the Berlin City leadership asking that the Berlin party convention be postponed until October 1969, the normal expiration date of the term of the present city Executive Committee and well after the national elections. The letter, which was read at several district meetings, also stipulated that the city and district organizations were to restrict themselves to routine monthly meetings with no speeches and no invited guests until next October.

8. In a tactical move to promote party unity, Party Chief Kendzia resigned on 28 March. In response to von Thadden's letter, the Berlin district ~~party~~ unit leadership, which otherwise remained intact, called a session of the Berlin Party Council (Landesausschuss) on 10 April to approve the postponement of the party convention. (Field Comment: The Party Council consists of the Executive Committee plus the 12 district leaders.) Walter Seezen, a member of the national leadership, was present. The situation was ticklish because the Berlin NPD statutes provide that if full membership meetings in four of the 12 districts had voted for holding of the party convention in April, the postponement motion would fail; there was a distinct danger that this could occur. At the 10 April meeting, the district leaders grumbled but approved the postponement until 11 October.

9. On Kendzia's resignation, Guenther Mensel, a member of the Executive Committee, was selected as Acting Party Chief and Speaker of the Party Council until a new Executive Committee is elected in October. Mensel, an attorney, was hesitant about accepting the job because of its possible effect on his practice, and did not commit himself until the 10 April executive meeting. Mensel's age (62) and stability were the main reasons for his selection. The only other replacement considered was Guenter Kleinert, also on the Executive Committee, whom Kendzia did not trust. Mensel's duties are to consist of calling and chairing pro-forma monthly Executive Committee meetings and of presiding at the party congress next October.

10. Kendzia considers his resignation a temporary tactical retreat caused by disagreements with the NPD national and Berlin district leaders, by von Thadden's public rejection of his "Berlin Program," loss of business because of unfavorable publicity, and a hit-and-run car accident involving a bicyclist on 27 March. Kendzia promised Mensel to remain active behind the scenes and set up a vacant office in his place of business as party headquarters, with desks for himself and Executive Committee members Frank Schwerdt, Joachim Rebuschat and Hans Werner Andreas, the de facto heads of the Berlin NPD.

11. Kendzia and a majority of the NPD leaders hope that the fall elections will bring some 25 to 35 NPD members into the Bundestag. This, they feel, will make the party more acceptable to potential right-wing voters in Berlin and thus enable the NPD to make a showing in the 1971 Berlin communal elections. (Source Comment: The Berlin NPD's major problem in Berlin is to keep its membership intact and its machinery functioning until 1971. Whether Kendzia will hold to his promise to direct the Berlin NPD from behind the scenes indefinitely, and whether he will emerge as leader in 1971, are open questions, because Kendzia has shown an interest in the current program and policies of the Free Democratic Party (FDP) and particularly in its "General-Contract" concept, which fits in with his "Berlin Program." A close friend of Kendzia's, (fnu) Nerchert, resigned from the NPD to protest its participation in the presidential election in Berlin on 5 March and has already made overtures to the FDP.)

12. Since Kendzia's resignation and the 10 April executive meeting, the Berlin City Executive Committee (under Kendzia's behind-the-scenes tutelage) has kept the Berlin NPD functioning and loyal to the Hanover leadership. Executive Committee members (especially Schwerdt, Rebuschat and Andreas) have attended annual election meetings in all 12 party districts. Through their influence, pro-von Thadden or neutral District Executive Committees have been elected in each case. The district officers who led the opposition to the self-dissolution of the Berlin NPD last fall have been effectively expelled or neutralized. As of early May, Loyalist influence had been greatly reduced. Although there is now no significant internal opposition group, there was a call pending for formation of an informal group representing both the city organization and the districts to propose organizational changes. Routine monthly district meetings with "guests" from West Germany, whenever possible, are to be continued, under the watchful eye of the pro-tem Executive Committee, until next October when the party convention of the Berlin NPD will elect a new leadership.

13. Schuetz' attempts to have the NPD banned in Berlin have not been taken seriously. Local party activists are preparing to support the NPD election campaign in West Germany by sending volunteer workers. A letter appealing for such help states that the decisive electoral campaign which will determine whether or not the NPD gets into the Bundestag will be waged in North Rhine-Westphalia. Air fare and living expense subsidies are being offered to volunteers who are to distribute leaflets, put up posters and ring doorbells. (Field Comment: The NPD made inroads in North Rhine-Westphalia during the economic recession of 1965-66, and the NPD national leadership is counting heavily on salvaging their foothold in the Bielefeld-Ruhr area.)

14. The main NPD weapons in the national election campaign are to be pamphlets describing the party's election platform. One is to be distributed between 1 and 15 June; a follow-up pamphlet, between 15 and 30 August; and a third pamphlet on the eve of the election. Each will be printed in 15,000,000 copies. Distribution will be handled by two firms--Velbringer Company and Erdmann Company.

15. Ruediger Krauss, head of the NPD's student organization, the National University League (Nationaler Hochschulbund - NHB), has moved from Berlin to Bonn to assume the post of chairman of the Bonn City NPD Executive Committee. Von Thadden plans to use the tactic of moving reliable leaders into critical areas after the elections. For example, he plans to move a Bavarian NPD officer to Berlin and assume the chairmanship of the Berlin NPD. In an attempt to obtain legal recognition for the NHB in Berlin, (fnu) von Hindy, a Hungarian law student and good friend of Krauss, is to be appointed Krauss' successor.

SOURCE A medium-level West German government official who follows the activities of the National Democratic Party and who had access to the study during his official duties. The information was extracted from the original document and is believed to be an accurate summary of its highlights.

Summary: In June 1968, the West German Ministry of the Interior prepared a basic study of the prospects of banning the West German National Democratic Party (NPD). The summary of this study given below describes the major charges which the government could bring against the NPD, the defenses the NPD could be expected to make against these charges, and the probable political results which would follow both a successful and an unsuccessful case against the NPD. According to the source, this study is still considered the basic Interior Ministry evaluation of the case against the NPD and is being studied by senior federal government and state (Land) officials. End of Summary.

1. (Field Comment: For several years, West German political and government leaders have debated seeking a constitutional court ban on the NPD. On 13 November 1968, Ernst Benda, West German Interior Minister, advised Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger that there was sufficient evidence to warrant bringing a suit against the NPD. Kiesinger, however, opposed bringing a suit, and the subject became embroiled in West German politics. On 23 April 1969, the Federal Cabinet decided not to seek a court ban of the NPD, at least until after the September elections. This decision was prompted by evidence that the NPD was making no membership gains and apparently was losing popular support.)

2. In June 1968, the West German Interior Ministry prepared a 50-page study of the prospects for banning the NPD entitled "Considerations Regarding a Ban of the National Democratic Party." The study was well prepared and carefully written. It is still considered the basic Interior Ministry paper on the NPD and is being studied by senior officials of both the federal and state governments. It avoids giving an opinion on the prospects of obtaining a court decision against the NPD, but from the content of the study, it is clear that the authors believed that the courts would probably reject a government proposal to ban the NPD. (Field Comment: If the study is still considered current, it is unclear how it fits with Benda's November 1968 statement that there was sufficient evidence to obtain a ban against the NPD. There have been other reports, however, that the evidence was not as clear-cut as Benda would have had the Chancellor believe. See, for example, ZGN-3894.)

3. The study summarized the case which could be brought against the NPD as follows:

a. It could be shown that there was a similarity between the NPD and the National Socialist German Workers Party (NSDAP) which has been outlawed.

b. It could be argued that the goals, and parts of the party platform, of the NPD are contrary to the principles of a free democratic state.

The study concludes that a sufficiently strong case could be presented to prevent the case being thrown out by the courts without a hearing.

4. The study lists the following points which the NPD could be expected to use in its defense:

a. The party could prove that it has given firm instructions to its members not to engage in [illegible] or violence.

b. It could show that a sizeable number of former NSDAP members have been forced out of the party as part of the Selbstreinigung (self-cleaning) process.

c. It could point out many features of its program which are in accord with democratic principles.

d. It could show that its elected representatives have worked with other parties and have not disrupted the Landtage (state diets) and other elected bodies in which they participate.

e. It could point out that other political parties have many ex-Nazis and ex-communists as members and could claim that the majority of the 28,000 NPD members are not opposed to the concept of the Federal Republic.

f. It would charge that the government's charges were one-sided, unfairly presented, and out of date.

g. It would claim that not all of Professor (fnu) Anrich's points were included in the party platform. (Field Comment: Anrich is apparently a rightist whose proposals were more extreme than those incorporated in the party platform.)

i. It could claim that the increased violence (Verrohung) of the political climate in West Germany is the fault of the New Left and not of the NPD.

5. The study states that it would be very difficult to refute these NPD defenses in court. The government would have to admit that since early 1968 there have been very few statements made by NPD leaders, or incidents caused by the NPD, which could be used to support the government's case. Objectively, it would have to be admitted that many incidents of violence in which the NPD has been involved were initiated by opponents of the party.

6. The study predicts the following probable results should the government win its case against the NPD:

a. The NPD would probably respect the prohibition. It is very unlikely that the NPD would attempt to go underground as the illegal Communist Party of Germany (KPD) did.

b. NPD members and sympathizers would not change their opinions because of a ban. Many would join other groups or parties and continue to work for their political beliefs.

c. NPD and rightist sympathizers would begin a campaign for the banning of the new German Communist Party (DKP) and other leftist groups.

d. A ban of the NPD would be well received in foreign countries.

7. The study concludes that if the government should lose a case against the NPD, it would be the result of the lack of valid evidence (Beweisschwierigkeiten). In such an event, the following adverse affects would occur:

a. The NPD would receive a new impetus and valuable publicity.

b. The policy of Selbstreinigung which has had some success in keeping former Nazis out of key positions would be halted.

c. Many middle-class persons who sympathize with the NPD, but who have refrained from open support because of the stigma of being associated with a party which could be declared illegal, would join the party or become active supporters.

d. The party would undoubtedly attract more members. (Field Comment: The NPD leadership is known to be worried because the party's membership has not increased significantly during the past 18 months.)

West Germany's National Democrats and the Grand Coalition

WEST GERMANY'S NATIONAL DEMOCRATS AND THE GRAND COALITION

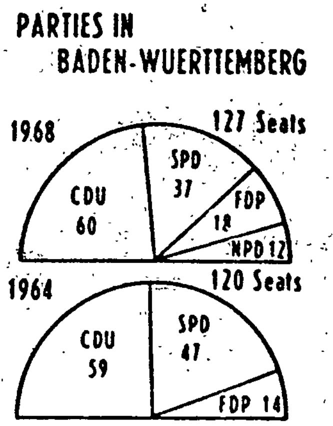
Germany's far-right National Democratic Party (NPD) showed another increase in strength in recent elections in Baden-Wuerttemberg, while the Social Democrats (SPD) lost heavily. This outcome in a traditionally liberal and prosperous state appears to stem in part from the dissatisfaction of many Socialists and trade unionists in the SPD with their party's cabinet cooperation with the Christian Democrats (CDU). Another factor was the discontent of farmers and refugees with the policies of the Grand Coalition in Bonn. Concern over student disorders contributed to the NPD gains, but this was not as decisive as some have supposed. Despite these gains, the NPD is unlikely to achieve a growth comparable to that of the Nazi Party in the early 1930s.

The outcome in Baden-Wuerttemberg confirmed the belief of many Socialists that their cooperation with the CDU at both the national and state level is proving to be unprofitable for the party. As a result, they have already decided at the state level not to renew cabinet cooperation with the CDU in Baden-Wuerttemberg, thus making prospects for the Bonn coalition appear less favorable. Nevertheless, SPD leaders in Bonn remain committed to the Grand Coalition and serious instability at the federal level seems unlikely. Over the long run the outcome of this latest election may have certain implications nationally, including the possibility that Bonn leaders may be encouraged to take a more nationalist line.

The NPD's Success

The West German state elections in Baden-Wuerttemberg on 28 April brought the far-right National Democratic Party (NPD) 9.8 percent of the vote, the most impressive total it has yet attained in any state. About 71 percent of the voters turned out, approximately three percent more than in the last Baden-Wuerttemberg state election in 1964, but 15 percent less than in the 1965 federal election.

Christian Democratic Union (CDU) strength fell slightly to 44.1 percent (1964: 46.2 percent), while the Social Democratic Party (SPD) achieved a vote of only 29.1 percent (1964:



90630 5 68

37.3 percent). The liberal Free Democratic Party (FDP), made a slight gain, winning 14.4 percent of the vote (1964: 13.1 percent). Against the background of last October's Bremen elections, in which the National Democratic Party won what was then a record percentage of 8.9, the Baden-Wuerttemberg results brought renewed cries of alarm over the dangers of neo-Nazism in the Federal Republic. More important, the results also raised doubts as to the future of a coalition government by the Christian Democrats and Social Democrats, not only in Baden-Wuerttemberg but at the federal government level as well.

Baden-Wuerttemberg: A Test Case

Baden and Wuerttemberg traditionally have been strongholds of liberal, nonsocialist democracy in Germany. In the early 1930s, the Nazi vote in this area was almost always appreciably lower than elsewhere in Germany. The hotbeds of Nazism lay in other regions, for example in Franconia, East Prussia, and Schleswig-Holstein.

The economic and social picture in Baden-Wuerttemberg would lead to expectations of stability there. The proportion of the population now employed in industry is higher than in any other state. The economy of the state was virtually untouched by the recent West German recession, during which unemployment never exceeded one percent. Per capita income is above average. Protestants and Catholics are almost evenly balanced in population, while the proportion of protestants in the Federal Republic is slightly higher.

A few observers correctly forecast the outcome, but the general expectation was that the vote for the National Democratic Party would be lower than in Bremen. The two major West German polling organizations had predicted in March that the NPD would receive five percent of the vote.

Federal-level politicians had campaigned actively in the state. Chancellor Kurt Kiesinger, a popular native son, made a three-day speaking tour, in which he sharply attacked "arrogant, thoughtless, and dangerous nationalism." He stressed this theme in the Hohenlohe area, where the NPD later received its highest vote in the state. Willy Brandt also appeared to speak for the Social Democrats.

NPD Representation in West German States

The participation by national figures reflected a feeling in Bonn that this state election, the last before the 1969 federal election, might influence national politics. The analogy to the federal scene was pointed up by the existence in Baden-Wuerttemberg of a coalition of Christian Democrats and Social Democrats, similar to that in Bonn.

Reaction to Student Riots

In looking for explanations of the NPD gains, German observers have emphasized the public reaction against the Easter student rioting, and dissatisfaction with the federal grand coalition. Conservatives lean to the former explanation, while students and trade unionists stress the latter. The NPD did not receive less than 6 percent in any electoral district. This suggests that the sentiment expressed by the vote is widespread, and may extend throughout the FRG.

Reaction to student rioting probably contributed something, but this aspect seems to have been exaggerated as a factor in NPD gains. In Heidelberg, the NPD vote rose to 11.9 percent, but in three other university towns, the party's vote fell below the state average of 9.8 percent. In industrial Esslingen, where there had been two student riots, the NPD only attained 9 percent. Some voters may have been influenced by student demonstrations to transfer their votes from the SPD to the CDU, whose spokesmen have generally advocated a stern treatment of rioters.

At the same time, the "new left" certainly failed to win popular support. The Democratic Left, supported by radical students, won only 2.3 percent in the state as a whole, while making better showings in certain university and industrial localities. While the Democratic Left's state-wide average was better than the far left had attained in recent elections under other names, it fell below the last, low figure gained by the Communists before they became illegal: 3.2 percent.

Hostility to the Grand Coalition?

There is dissatisfaction with the coalition within the CDU, and it can be assumed that some of the party's right wing voted for the National Democrats. The Socialists, however, suffered the greater loss. Left-of-center Socialists often complain that the party has compromised its principles and lost public favor. There is an undercurrent of feeling in these quarters that the party has endangered German democracy by abandoning its longtime position of opposition and entering into collaboration with the CDU.

Although the SPD has provided much of the impetus to the grand coalition's economic and foreign policies, and although the coalition in Baden-Wuerttemberg has generally functioned well, dissatisfaction undoubtedly exists among idealistic members of the left and among traditionally class-conscious union members. Middle class voters of this persuasion probably turned to the Free Democratic Party, which has assumed the role of respectable opposition. The connection between this left-liberal criticism and the NPD gains on 28 April is not immediately apparent.

Some commentators including some Socialists, conclude that many SPD voters defected to the NPD. The respected Frankfurter Allgemeine Zeitung fudged some of the election data to support its argument that workers had gone over to the NPD, but a more careful analysis has shown that the NPD did indeed win above-average support in some working-class neighborhoods.

Many old Socialists and trade unionists, such as Willi Bleicher, the powerful boss of the metalworkers in this state, are cool to the coalition and hostile to intellectuals, and some of them are repelled by anarchic student leftism. Even so, most workers are unlikely under conditions of full employment to cast what they would consider a neo-Nazi vote; certainly Bleicher would never favor such action. SPD electoral losses would seem to be due less to defection to the NPD than to the failure of lower-level SPD functionaries, apathetic, or even hostile toward the coalition, to get out the vote, and to the failure of many trade union and normally SPD voters to go to the polls.

In traditionally socialist Mannheim, only 58 percent of those entitled to vote turned out. SPD percentages dropped 14 percent in one district and 13 percent in another. The percentage of NPD strength rose to 12.1, 10.9, and 11.2 in the three city districts, but working class votes would not be needed to provide these percentages, especially in the face of a low SPD turnout. These votes probably came mainly from the CDU, the FDP, or from those who had not voted before.

NPD Activity Pays Off

The NPD organization worked hard during the campaign, conducting more meetings than all the other parties put together. The party has overcome its former inexperience and disunity, and is developing into a well-oiled political machine. The organization fields speakers and provides canned speeches and propaganda materials to local groups. The NPD's heritage is not purely Nazi. It encompasses more respectable antecedents, such as the Deutschnationaler (German Nationalists) and other conservative elements. In the interests of avoiding a government ban, the National Democratic Party shuns blatantly Nazi appeals and tactics.

Adolf von Thadden, the national leader of the NPD, is a smooth personality from a Junker family who denies charges that he was an active Nazi. He seems to model himself more on De Gaulle than on Hitler. The Baden-Wuerttemberg leader of the party, Wilhelm Gutmann, is a former Nazi. During "the good old days," he was Buergermeister of Tiengen on the Swiss border, where he sponsored anti-Semitic activities in 1938. He refused to permit the raising of white flags when the Allied forces arrived in 1945. Despite his past, he won 15,000 votes in Karlsruhe. In one commune in the northern end of the state, the NPD gained an absolute majority with 55 percent of the vote; this was the home of an NPD candidate named Valentin Goetz, who had been voted out as Buergermeister two years before.

The NPD won its greatest relative successes in three northern districts: Oehringen (14.8 percent), Crailsheim (14.5 percent), and Tauberbischofsheim (14.3 percent). The first two of these districts are largely protestant; the latter is predominantly Catholic. This northern area, and especially its Hohenlohe section, is filled with dissatisfied small farmers, who now face Common Market competition and who have recently suffered the loss of a state subsidy on milk. Rural dissatisfaction provides opportunities for the NPD, but this is not a promising base for a mass movement, particularly since the farm population in the Federal Republic has dropped in the last ten years from 20 percent to 11 percent. Another important voting factor in this northern area is the relatively high proportion of refugees, who were probably aroused by recent statements by Willy Brandt about the Oder-Neisse line and by the failure of the CDU to react more forcefully against Brandt.

As was the case in the early 1930s, overwhelmingly Catholic areas, where the Church influences its members politically, had the lowest right extremist vote. One overwhelmingly Protestant district, Freudenstadt, also produced a low NPD vote. A postelection poll of 1967 voters in Bremen showed that, unlike the Hitler movement, the National Democrats do not yet attract many women and youth. More than two thirds of the voters for the party were males, and the strongest participation was in the 45 to 60 age bracket.

FDP Gains and Losses

The FDP profited from its position in the opposition. Ralf Dahrendorf, a sociologist from the University of Konstanz with an international reputation, has recently entered the party and has assumed a leading role, influencing the FDP in a leftward direction and attracting left-liberal support. In the Stuttgart district where he was a candidate, the party vote rose by 6 percent. On the other hand, the new pattern is not acceptable to many old members of this traditionally business-oriented party, who looking askance at Dahrendorf's readiness to debate and discuss with Rudi Dutschke and other radical students. Two of the three districts with heaviest NPD gains also showed heavy FDP losses, as did some other former FDP areas of strength.

Perspectives on the Vote

The over-all picture appears to be that while both the Christian Democrats and the Free Democrats lost to the NPD, they gained at the expense of the Socialists. The Socialists suffered from apathy and incurred some loss to both the NPD and Democratic Left. The NPD probably garnered some new and uncommitted votes. It is fortunate for the SPD leaders in Bonn that the annual party congress came before the Baden-Wuerttemberg election. It is hardly likely that the congress would now defeat a motion withholding endorsement of the coalition, as it did by a four-vote margin in March. Assuming the SPD remains faithful to the Bonn coalition now, the prospects are for further erosion of its strength and for greater difficulties within its ranks.

Meanwhile, the NPD probably will continue to grow in influence. It now is probably stronger in some other areas than in Baden-Wuerttemberg. A change from proportional representation to single-member constituencies, which might have served to block NPD growth, has now become even less acceptable than before to the SPD, which would have lost three-fifths of its Baden-Wuerttemberg seats under this system.

A ban of the NPD appears unlikely unless the party commits some flagrant violation of accepted rules. A Bonn press office spokesman has stated that the government will seek a political debate with the NPD, and not a ban. On present form, the NPD may get 40 seats in the 1969 Bundestag elections. An attempt to set a higher minimum percentage of votes (present minimum: five percent) for Bundestag representation would arouse violent FPD opposition, and does not seem to be under serious consideration at the moment. It would violate German tradition, and might produce a reaction in favor of the NPD, enabling it to overstep even the new margin.

Although the growth of the NPD is disturbing, alarm does not seem to be warranted. In the early 1930s, Germany suffered from depression and high unemployment, and had bitter memories of a recent inflation which wiped out savings. Powerful elements in the government and society, including President von Hindenberg, the army, the courts, and heavy industry, were highly reactionary and either cool or hostile to republican democracy--as were the professors and students. Racism was rampant and more or less respectable, and unwillingness to accept defeat in World War I provided endless opportunities for demagoguery. All these conditions are now virtually absent. The defeat in 1945, and subsequent disclosures, work to discredit any real Nazi manifestations. Moreover, the fact that no other state will elect a new assembly before the 1969 federal elections may help to prevent a real bandwagon development. It must be emphasized that the NPD is still a small party, if no longer a mere splinter group.

The Coalition Problem

German observers tend to be more worried about the effect of the NPD showing on foreign opinion than about the increase in NPD strength itself, and their greatest concern is over the prospects for the grand coalition, resulting from the SPD losses. A Baden-Wuerttemberg SPD convention voted on 18 May against continuing the coalition in Stuttgart, and the old state SPD leaders resigned. This would seem to make the prospects for the Bonn coalition less favorable.

At the same time, the FDP appears not to be in a mood to return to a coalition in either Bonn or Stuttgart. Dahrendorf has suggested that there might be a CDU minority government in the state. State CDU leaders may, however, prefer to call new elections if a coalition cannot be formed. In this event, they would appeal for an absolute majority from the voters. If they got it and if the NPD vote declined, this would be encouraging, but new elections might also have a less favorable outcome.

If the 1969 federal election follows the pattern of the 28 April election, the same problems will arise in Bonn. With this kind of a breakdown of the vote, the FDP and the SPD together cannot form a majority, and a refusal on the part of both of them to join the CDU means that the latter cannot organize a majority government either--unless the CDU invites NPD collaboration, which it is far from ready to do.

A collapse of the grand coalition in Bonn either before or after 1969 and a return by the SPD to opposition positions would signify more than a passing cabinet crisis. In the past, parties tended to harden into intransigence, committed to particular ideological and material interests, and unable to reach pragmatic compromises with each other. In recent years, West German politicians have tried to break with this tradition and to work on the consensus principle. A failure of these efforts would have serious implications. If--as does not seem likely at present--the three major parties were unable to form a majority government, this might lead to severe instability and the discrediting of parliamentary government.

Bonn and Weimar

Many misleading analogies have been drawn between the Bonn and Weimar republics. One Weimar precedent may help, however, to explain why some observers view the coalition problem seriously. In March 1930, another grand coalition with SPD participation collapsed over the question of cuts in unemployment insurance, leading to the formation of a conservative majority government under Heinrich Bruening. Bruening was later replaced by the reactionary Franz von Papen, who in turn was followed first by a wire-pulling general, Kurt von Schleicher, and then by Adolf Hitler. The worst aspect of the SPD withdrawal was that it made the parliament ineffective and powerless.

Once minority government was embarked on, supported by presidential prerogatives, there was no effective test for legitimacy except the will of Hindenburg by then susceptible and old. The Nazis ultimately came to power, not by a majority vote, but through the paralysis and impotence of the constitutional system and through intrigues in the presidential palace on the part of those, especially Papen and Schleicher, who thought they could "use" Nazi mass support.

In contrast to the 30s, the presidential powers now are far weaker,* and aside from all the other factors inhibiting a recurrence, the Weimar precedent itself must influence SPD leaders in Bonn. They are completely committed personally to the present coalition. A decision to go into opposition is unlikely under Brandt and Wehner.

The absence of executive emergency powers is not of course without dangers. In a bitter parliamentary deadlock, an illegal assumption of power, perhaps by extragovernmental elements, might be the only way out.*

Another possibility might be a left-wing withdrawal from the SPD, although the leadership for a dissident faction has yet to emerge. This might provide a healthy outlet for criticism of the system without a turn to minority rule. Unlike the early 1930s, virtually all West German politicians now would do their best to maintain a functioning constitutional system. Real dangers will probably not arise unless, as in the late Weimar period, the government finds itself confronted with economic or political problems which seem to defy compromise settlement or rational solution.

Immediate Prospects

Assuming that the Bonn coalition lasts until the 1969 elections, its leading members may still modify their policies somewhat in the light of the Baden-Wuerttemberg experience. The adverse vote of the refugees in the recent election could act as a brake on the policy of detente with Czechoslovakia and Poland, although there is no sign of this as yet. Chancellor Kiesinger has attributed NPD gains partly to "years of agitation against our own history and against healthy self-confidence," which suggests that he may try to sound a more nationalistic note. To the extent to which the results continue to be attributed to student activities, this will strengthen the demand for firmness. Even before the election, Brandt sent a telegram to SPD state headquarters, advising that speakers should react "completely hard" against student demonstrations.

Although the antistudent reaction does not seem to have been as important a factor as some have believed it to be, constant violence and provocation on the part of the students, accompanied by constant press attention, could lead to severe official or unofficial counteraction. This, in turn, could bring more serious student violence, perhaps with the support of other elements.

Some matters of student concern have appeal for others. Thus students and many trade unionists oppose emergency laws, and this question is again being agitated. Because of the Nazi experience, there is widespread aversion among left-of-center elements to the use of force in the name of "order," however great the provocation. But also because of the Nazi experience, a really large increase in NPD votes does not seem likely in the 1969 election, or in an earlier new election in Baden-Wuerttemberg, should that come to pass. THE NATIONAL DEMOCRATIC PARTY IN WEST GERMANY

The poor showing of the ultranationalistic National Democratic Party (NPD) in recent elections in several West German states clearly disproves the party's claim of providing an acceptable alternative to the policies and programs of the country's major parties. The NPD's failure to maintain the momentum suggested by the successes scored in two state elections last fall is directly attributable both to its own well-publicized internal dissension and to voter preference for the Christian Democrats and Socialists deriving from the image of vigor and decisiveness imparted by their "grand coalition" under Chancellor Kiesinger. Barring some serious reversal in the fortunes of the Kiesinger government--which is unlikely--it is doubtful that the NPD will be any more successful than other fringe groups have been in seeking to rally latent right-radical sentiment in Germany and revive it as a dynamic political force.

Election Setbacks

The NPD has claimed wide attention both in Germany and abroad and led many observers to conclude that it was a force to be reckoned with. Within two and a half years of its founding in November 1964, the party elected representatives to the legislatures in five of West Germany's ten states (11 counting West Berlin). In elections this April the party was expected to obtain close to 10 percent of the vote in Rhineland-Palatinate and 12 to 15 percent in Schleswig-Holstein but actually won only four seats in each parliament with 6.9 and 5.8 percent of the vote respectively. In the 4 June election in the party's "home base bastion" of Lower Saxony, the NPD's performance was similarly unimpressive--7 percent of the vote and 10 Landtag seats.

Emphasis by party leaders on their success in gaining representation in all the states where the party has competed during the past year has not masked their disappointment that the NPD's momentum of growth has leveled off. The party's failure to make a good showing in Schleswig-Holstein and Lower Saxony--areas considered particularly susceptible to nationalist appeals--is especially damaging, and raises fundamental doubt about the party's future prospects.

Origins and Early Successes

Formed from the remnants of the defunct German Reich Party (DRP)--one of a number of ultranationalistic splinter groups which have dotted the political landscape of postwar Germany--the NPD quickly established a political apparatus capable of functioning throughout the country. The new party soon distinguished itself by its relative success in attracting the support of other ultranationalistic elements and a variety of political malcontents. Earlier attempts by other groups to unite disparate nationalists invariably had foundered on personal rivalries and tactical disagreements. Some were no more than platforms for self-expression by leaders advocating a particular set of extremist notions. Even the most successful, the Socialist Reich Party (SRP), which at its high water mark obtained 11 percent of the vote in the Lower Saxony Landtag elections in 1951, was unable to establish effective working relations with rival rightist groups before it was outlawed by the West German supreme court in 1952.

During its first year, the NPD encountered many of the problems experienced by its predecessors. The party was unable to put on an effective campaign for the September 1965 national elections and obtained only 2 percent of the votes--short of the 5-percent minimum required for representation in the Bundestag. In local elections in Bavaria and Schleswig-Holstein in March 1966, however, the NPD showed that it could command pockets of strength. In the Bavarian cities of Nuremberg and Bayreuth, it received between 7 and 10 percent of the vote and elected representatives to the local governing councils. These gains were facilitated by concentrating the party's efforts in selected areas such as the Protestant centers of Middle and Upper Franconia in heavily Catholic Bavaria.

The first clear demonstration that the NPD could attract more than the ultranationalist vote came two weeks later in Hamburg, where the party nearly doubled its vote as compared with the Bundestag election the year before. Although the NPD failed to elect any deputies, the Christian Democrats and the Socialists were concerned about its ability to secure even 3.9 percent of the vote. The threat to the traditional third party, the conservative Free Democrats (FDP) became apparent. The FDP fell a third below its 1965 vote and lost 4 of its 12 seats in the Hamburg city council. Profiting from a decline in the economy which was already under way and the increasing public disenchantment with the leadership of then Chancellor Erhard in Bonn, the NPD accelerated both its organizational effort and its public relations campaign.

The stage was then set for the party's breakthrough in the Hesse and Bavaria state elections last fall in which it won 7.9 and 7.4 percent of the vote and elected 8 and 15 deputies respectively. In Bavaria the NPD emerged as the only small party in the Landtag, causing the FDP to lose its representation in the legislature for the first time in its history. By underlining the weakness of the FDP, the election outcome contributed to the formation of the grand coalition government in Bonn by the Christian Democrats and the Socialists.

For the major parties, the NPD's successes had disturbing implications. In contrast to its various predecessors, the NPD appeared capable of mobilizing urban as well as rural support and of altering the general trend long evident in most West German elections toward a two-party system. In Hesse, the combined vote of the Christian Democrats and Socialists was a lower percentage of the total vote than in the previous election four years earlier. Still more significantly, however, Hesse and Bavaria provided further evidence of the NPD's ability to attract "protest" votes from various disaffected lower-middle-class elements including small businessmen and farmers unhappy with their lot in present-day Germany.

Basic Characteristics and Sources of Support

In spite of its direct lineage from the old German Reich Party, the NPD has tried to dispel the impression among the general public that it is the spiritual heir of Hitler's National Socialists. The party has sought acceptance as a legitimate political party and insists that it intends to function within the established democratic order. Party spokesmen maintain that it differs from the established parties primarily in its allegedly superior devotion to the national interest, which they accuse the governing parties in Bonn of having failed to protect. The NPD says it offers the voter a genuine choice between bankrupt policies of the major parties and a return to national morality.

As much as some NPD supporters might wish to play down the party's Nazi associations, however, it has been clearly established that the leadership consists of a nucleus of former Nazis who have been active in neo-Nazi parties throughout the postwar years. According to police reports, some 2,000 of the estimated 25,000 members of the NPD belonged to the Nazi party before 1933. This ratio is roughly eight times that for the public as a whole. The party has lost libel suits in which it has challenged charges of neo-Nazism. The German Interior Ministry notes the parallels in political outlook and philosophy between the NPD and the Nazis, and maintains that the party's activities "approach" unconstitutionality. In the words of one former party member, the NPD is made up of people "who have forgotten nothing and learned nothing" from Germany's past.

The Bonn government is generally reluctant, however, to ban the NPD, believing that it would be imprudent to drive the ultra-rightists underground. If the NPD were to score impressive new successes in future elections, however, the resulting concern in the major parties might prompt a reconsideration of this policy. Interior Minister Luecke favors banning the party as soon as enough evidence can be obtained to assure successful court action. It is also possible that new NPD gains would motivate the established parties to make proposed changes in the electoral law that would make it more difficult for the NPD to obtain Bundestag representation.

Although the NPD program is strongly reminiscent of Hitlerian National Socialism, the party's electoral supporters in Hesse and Bavaria also include persons who have no prior Nazi affiliations or any particular susceptibility to Nazism per se. It has managed to attract impulsive youngsters, as well as political malcontents of all ages. Its membership includes individuals from a broad range of occupations. The NPD's special appeal among the lower-middle-class, and particularly among the small businessmen and farmers is reinforced by the economic squeeze these groups are experiencing as a result of government economy measures. In Hesse and Bavaria, the party did especially well in areas noted for traditional German nationalism and in areas which are predominantly Protestant. Many NPD adherents are expellees from the territories lost at the end of World War II.

The makeup of the formal NPD membership is not radically different in age or occupation group from a cross section of the general public. However, there are certain characteristics of NPD supporters which set them apart from supporters of the three major parties. The NPD tends to attract a somewhat larger number of older persons as well as young adults, and the number of lower middle class members, including pensioners, is disproportionately large. Formal membership among students, however, is very small and only 350 of a total of 244,000 university students are on the party rolls.

There is no evidence that the NPD receives significant financial support from German industrialists. It is, however, able to operate in the black. The sound state of its finances is in part a result of its practice of charging admission to its rallies. This serves the double function of making the rank and file feel that they have a stake in the party and of making it necessary for its opponents to pay for the right to heckle. The party also derives considerable sums from membership dues, subscriptions to party publications, and donations from members and sympathizers.

Rumors of clandestine financial support from the Communists or from sympathizers among Nazi emigrants to Latin America have not been confirmed.

Despite NPD claims of widespread sympathy in the West German armed forces, there is no evidence of this. German security officials estimate that no more than 2 percent of armed forces members are card-carrying NPD members. Since the NPD is a legal political organization, military leaders are constrained from openly influencing members of the armed forces to oppose it.

Many Germans are probably reluctant openly to admit their support for an organization like the NPD. It is significant, however, that only 6 percent of respondents to a national opinion poll in January 1967 indicated a preference for the NPD.

Leadership Problems

The most notable single handicap confronting the NPD is the weakness of its leadership. None of its leaders possesses any great talent or stature. Certainly no individual with Hitler's demagogic genius has yet appeared. The absence of strong leadership in what has been called a "fuehrer-oriented party" has left it divided and weakened by factionalism. This was clearly demonstrated in March 1967 when then party chairman Fritz Thielen and Deputy Chairman Adolf von Thadden engaged in a public feud which further damaged the party's reputation. An outgrowth of long-standing personal antagonism, the dispute was triggered by Thielen's resistance to Von Thadden's attempted take-over as party chairman in Lower Saxony. Thielen claimed that Von Thadden's election to the state chairmanship had been illegal and would hurt the party's reputation. The party's federal executive, however, turned the tables on Thielen and not only voted to reinstate Von Thadden but also to drop Thielen from the national chairmanship and expel him from the party. Thielen clung to the helm under a temporary court order until finally throwing in the sponge in early May with an announcement of his formation of a new, rival party, the National Peoples Party (NVP).

More of an archconservative than a neo-Nazi, Thielen was never more than a figurehead. Real authority and leadership--as well as ideological guidance--was provided by Von Thadden. Von Thadden is a 45-year-old native of Pomerania, a member of a prominent and aristocratic Prussian family, a number of whose members were prominent in the anti-Nazi resistance. Although Von Thadden applied for Nazi party membership he apparently was never formally admitted. An ardent nationalist, Von Thadden aspires to become a German De Gaulle rather than a re-creator of the German Reich.

Other leaders of some prominence include Otto Hess, party propaganda chief, and Waldemar Schuetz, editor of the NPD's official weekly, Deutsche Nachrichten. Both were active Nazis.

Thielen's departure clears the way for Von Thadden formally to take over leadership of the NPD. It is doubtful that Thielen has the personal force or following to organize a party with significant strength. The impact of the new party on the NPD will probably be small since the bulk of the NPD membership appears to prefer the leadership and ideology of the Von Thadden group. On the other hand, the strengthening of extremist tendencies within the NPD signaled by the triumph of Von Thadden may hurt the party's interests in the long run. The result is also likely to assist those actively seeking a formal government crackdown on the party.

Program

In addition to its leadership difficulties, another failing of the NPD is its inability as yet to offer a clear, positive program relevant to existing problems. Xenophobic and opportunistic, the NPD feeds upon nostalgia for an older German nationalism, discontent with the existing social order, and Germany's international standing and frustration over the fact that reunification remains as distant a prospect as ever. Its stated objectives are ill defined, when not deliberately ambiguous, and are sometimes inconsistent. Its electoral approach is generally negative and destructively critical rather than affirmative. Its principal targets include foreign interests and culture which undermine old values and "de-Germanize the fatherland." It attacks the renunciation by those in power of what the NPD regards as justified German objectives. It deplores what it considers the miseducation and corruption of youth, "crime in the streets," foreign aid, and the competition of foreign workers.

The NPD demands an end to German dependence on the US and calls for the revival of German national consciousness. It attempts to draw a parallel between West German - US relations and those between the East German regime and the USSR. In order to free Germany from foreign domination, NPD spokesmen maintain, American "occupation" forces must go, although not before the withdrawal of Russian troops, which the NPD would have occur simultaneously with that of US troops. Germany must again become master of its own fate, party leaders insist, and the "lie" of war guilt and war crimes trials must be ended and a new German general staff created. A key demand is that the reunification of Germany cannot be limited to uniting West and East Germany but must include the lands beyond the Oder-Neisse border now held by Poland. Although it does not advocate the use of force to achieve this objective, the party holds out hope that recovery will be possible by a Machiavellian deal of some sort. NPD spokesmen at present renounce a national nuclear capability for Germany.

The party puts forth slogans proclaiming "Germany for the Germans" and "Europe for the Europeans." Indeed, the NPD favors a united Europe somewhat along the lines advocated by De Gaulle. Europe, it holds, should be completely independent of the US, and possess its own nuclear deterrent. It should be built on a Franco-German alliance that smaller European countries sooner or later would have to join. The NPD would welcome the decay of NATO as signaling the end of sterile policies which do not serve Germany's real interests.

In seeking to gain the broadest popular acceptance, the party avoids affirming the more extreme aspects of Nazi ideology. There is, for example, no obvious anti-Semitism in the party program and Jews technically could become party members. The private attitudes of the leadership, however, are said to resemble traditional Nazi anti-Semitism closely. The NPD makes vague references, moreover, to the importance of "blood ties," rejects evidence relating to the Nazi extermination policy, makes derogatory references to the Jews in the party press, and denounces aid to Israel.

In recent campaigning in Lower Saxony, NPD spokesmen shifted tactics somewhat by no longer stressing issues obviously associated with the Nazi period such as war guilt and reparations. Instead, they sought to exploit current grievances including the economic recession, unemployment, lack of progress on reunification, and what they called the unreliability of NATO.

Future Prospects

The NPD's failure to maintain the momentum of last fall's successes in this year's state elections in Schleswig-Holstein, Rhineland-Palatinate, and Lower Saxony is a serious blow to the party's hopes. The squabble among the leadership apparently reinforced the feeling among uncommitted elements that casting a protest vote for the NPD was not worthwhile under present circumstances. The widespread discontent among farmers over government economy measures did not result in a significant shift of votes to the NPD. Moreover, there has been a strong resurgence of general confidence in the Bonn government. Although the NPD benefited last fall from the popular dissatisfaction with the Erhard government, the grand coalition headed by CDU Chancellor Kiesinger has displayed vigor and decisiveness which has been rewarded at the polls.

Even if the NPD were to follow its forerunners into oblivion it would not mark the end of rightist extremism. A portion of the German electorate will remain receptive to this kind of appeal. In the absence of a party such as the NPD, right-wing voters tend to give their support to one of the insignificant splinter parties, or to one of the more conservative established parties, such as the FDP, when they vote at all.

It is possible--although increasingly unlikely--that the NPD could turn out to resemble other parties of a national-conservative stamp. Despite the radical views of some of their members, such groups have managed to operate without subversive manifestations. The German Party (DP), for example, which had been represented in several North German state legislatures and in the Bundestag conducted itself in a responsible fashion.

The NPD at present draws a good deal of this traditional right-wing vote from the old Refugee Party, the DP, and small conservative regional parties such as the Bavarian Party. The total extremist vote, however, has increased very little since the establishment of the NPD. Estimates of the extent of hard-core ultranationalist sentiment in Germany vary between 5 and 15 percent of the electorate. Under present conditions this does not constitute a threat to German democratic institutions and is not greater than the degree of extremist sentiment in other Western European countries.

Outlook

Assuming the NPD survives the current period of internal strife, its potential for further growth beyond its present 6- to 8-percent range appears to be limited under conditions now prevailing in West Germany. The NPD is still capable of capitalizing on circumstances which might present themselves as a result of a protracted economic recession or major political blunders which would discredit the present government leadership. The outcome of recent state elections, however, tends to confirm that the overwhelming majority of German voters continues to prefer the moderate, albeit increasingly independent and nationalist, policies of the major parties and the government, and rejects the radical alternatives advocated by the NPD. 1. (Summary: The West German Federal Office for the Protection of the Constitution (BfV) and its regional affiliates (LfV) have undertaken a program to monitor and counter the activities of the National Democratic Party (NPD). Included in this program are efforts to penetrate the NPD at all its levels, to monitor its membership and finances, and to counter its influence.)

2. Report: For a number of years the BfV has been engaged in penetrating and monitoring the activities of right radical organizations. Since the establishment of the NPD in [illegible] ago, 1964, the BfV has made a concerted effort to penetrate it at both the national and regional levels. This effort has resulted in the recruitment of about 60 sources with access to the NPD organizations at all levels. In several cases the BfV or LfV have been able to recruit local NPD county chairmen and in six Laender have access to the minutes and files of the Land organizations. The BfV has also penetrated the national headquarters of the NPD in Hannover.

3. Through its penetration of the national organization, the BfV has been able to obtain and photograph the entire membership rolls, which currently contain about 20,000 names. The national list has been augmented by additional membership applications obtained via penetrations of the [illegible] Land organizations. The BfV is currently in the process of tracing all of these membership applications against the master Nazi Party membership files at the American controlled Berlin Document Center. Although this tracing activity has not been completed and is handicapped by lack of personnel at the Berlin Document Center, the BfV estimates its current file on the NPD is far more accurate than the files at the NPD headquarters. Because of its access to the Berlin Document Center, the BfV will eventually have a better estimate of the number of NPD members who are former Nazi Party members than does the NPD itself.

4. The BfV is also making a concerted effort to obtain documentary evidence on the NPD's sources of income. The recruitment efforts to do this are directed at spotting and recruiting clerical help who work in NPD offices and have access to files. Information in the BfV's possession to date, which includes considerable documentary evidence regarding finances, indicates that the party is not receiving any substantial financial assistance from abroad. The principal sources of funds are as follows:

   a. The monthly DM 3.- membership dues. For the 20,000 members, this amounts to DM 60,000 per month or DM 720,000 a year.

   b. Subscription fees for publications.

   c. Single donations from financially well-to-do members and supporters.

   d. Admission fees for political rallies. The BfV has registered, since May 1966 when the NPD began its campaign in Bavaria, a total of more than 2000 political rallies in Bavaria. Although at times more than one third of those attending such rallies were estimated to be opposed to the NPD, everyone attending the rally paid an admission fee. The BfV estimates that the NPD has been able through the above sources of income to collect from DM 3,000,000 to DM 4,000,000. The LfV are watching this funding quite closely, particularly for evidence of financing from Communist countries. Thus far they have been unable to substantiate the existence of any such support. Although there is no firm evidence of actual financial support of the NPD from Communist sources, the BfV is aware of an interest on the part of the Eastern intelligence services to penetrate the NPD and monitor its activities.

5. At the instigation of Federal Minister of Interior Luecke, the BfV has undertaken to establish a confidential all-party committee consisting of members of the Social Democratic Party (SPD), Free Democratic Party (FDP), and the Christian Democratic Union (CDU) and the Trade Union Movement (DGB) to counter the NPD in Rheinland-Pfalz prior to the upcoming elections in spring 1967. All of the parties have agreed to participate and this activity is moving ahead. Recently at a two-day conference chaired by the BfV in a village on the Mosel River, it was decided not only to counteract NPD propaganda during the election campaign, but also to undertake orientation lectures for all officials in the Rheinland-Pfalz and other local governments who have shown NPD leanings. These courses will be launched as soon as the campaign gets underway. A similar propaganda and orientation activity is also being planned for the elections in Schleswig-Holstein in 1967.

6. The BfV has persuaded the DGB to set up an action group aimed at organizing the Labor movement into countering the influence of the NPD. The BfV is assisting the DGB in working out methods for the infiltration of workers into NPD organizations to report and counteract their influence within factories and workers councils. The BfV has also established contact with the German Industrial Institute in Cologne, which is sponsored by the German equivalent of the U.S. National Association of Manufacturers. The BfV used as an argument with the industrialists the fact that increasing influence of the NPD in German industry would have a negative effect upon foreign trade.

7. The BfV undertook a survey of the election results at the village and county level in Land Hesse. This survey showed that the NPD had substantial success in areas containing German military installations. It was further determined that the NPD had considerable appeal among non-commissioned professional soldiers who feel they have failed to find acceptance in the postwar German society. This negative attitude has been less among Bundeswehr officers and draftees than among non-commissioned officers, who feel themselves underpaid and lacking in social acceptance. The BfV has contacted the security organizations of the Bundeswehr to undertake a program of orientation to counter the influence of the NPD within the Bundeswehr.

Headquarters Comment: CS-311/16288-66 from a different source reported that the President of the West German Association of Military Reservists had stated that a large percentage of older reserve officers and non-commissioned officers had voted for the NPD in the Land Hesse election.

1. The Conseil de la Resistance in Cherbourg is composed of three main groups: the O.C.M., Liberation and the Front National:

The Chief of the Conseil de la Resistance, M. Groslin, is an O.C.M. leader and his organization holds the majority of seats in the Conseil. The O.C.M. is generally composed of merchants, landowners and notables who, prior to the armistice, were Rightists or extreme-Rightists.

Liberation, which claims to have been the most active and efficient movement in the Department, is led by and generally composed of Socialists and C.G.T. men. In fact all the Resistance Socialists and Union men are members of Liberation.

As in the rest of France, the Front National is here the Communist Party's resistance organization. It is not as influential here as it is reported to be in other regions.

2. The right hand man to M. Groslin is M. Bocher (Beauchet), who seems to be as well the most prominent labor leader of the department. Bocher is at the same time secretary of the Regional Socialist Federation, secretary of the Merchant Sailor's Union, secretary of the Union des Syndicats, representative of the I.T.F. and head of the local Liberation movement. He is a very efficient man and seems to be respected and esteemed even by his political adversaries.

3. The enthusiasm in favor of the Allies described in the newspapers should not be overestimated. The Norman did not like the Germans and is glad that they have been thrown out. But a very great number of people here are suspicious of Resistance because of the presence of Communists and Socialists. Moreover, they are very reserved towards foreigners as a rule, and they are not sure of what the Allies intend to do. They are also puzzled about the currency which has been introduced. On the part of Labor, there is a sincere enthusiasm for the victories of the democracies somewhat tempered by the way local problems are handled by military authorities. For example, the ~~Army or the Navy~~ have hired dozens of workers to repair the Cherbourg harbor, but ~~they have done it~~ without consulting the unions. (They have Thus given work to ~~a lot of~~ former Todt workers, more or less reliable, while skilled workers who were in Resistance Movement are left unemployed. Instances of this kind are frequent.

Regarding relations of the Socialist Party with resistance groups, [illegible] Soldani, member of the [illegible] of the party for the [illegible] and member of the [illegible], expressed his deep regret over the fact that fusion between the Socialist Party and the [illegible] now seems impossible. He said he had hoped this fusion of the [illegible] of the [illegible] with the best elements of the Socialist Party would constitute a great rejuvenated Socialist Party of the future. During the [illegible] on this subject, [illegible] took exception to an insinuation by [illegible], member of the Bureau Directeur of the party, that the leaders of the [illegible] were simply a group of arrivistes who were trying to take advantage of the situation to gain political power.

13. As for foreign policy, the Congress expressed itself as opposed to the hegemony of any one great power, whether it be Britain, the United States or Russia, and in favor of a system of collective security, with all the democratic nations of the world equally represented in an international association of nations. This association should have its own army, credit, transport, etc. in order to be able to guarantee the peace. Regarding the treatment of Germany, the Congress voted its opposition to any dismemberment of the country, but approved a long occupation with a severe allied control of all German industry and approved also a long-range program for the re-education of German youth.

15. [illegible], president [illegible] member of [illegible], maintained that the Communists have gained many new followers in the [illegible] since the war, at the expense of the Socialists. He claims this is due to a large extent to the Communists' nationalist policy and also to their young, vigorous leaders as compared with the Socialists [illegible] the [illegible] leaders representing the old regime. He stated that the policy of the Communist Party would remain nationalist in the future; that it would be difficult to return to a revolutionary program.

16. [illegible] asserted that the Communists get along better with the Christian Democrats than with the Socialists, since the latter - as he put it - place party interests above the national interests.

17. The Communists are opposed to the holding of elections next February. Their reasons [illegible] as follows: the elections were scheduled before the recognition of the [illegible] government by the Allies [illegible] of holding [illegible] popular [illegible] the Allies that [illegible] and the country [illegible]. [illegible] indicated his personal opposition to the holding of elections at the present time since the women's vote constituted an experiment and he was [illegible] of conducting such experiments while France was still at war. (He [illegible] may well feel that to hold elections now would mean a loss of strength for the [illegible] as well as for the [illegible].) [illegible] Allegre, Communist municipal delegate, stated flatly that he believed the elections would be postponed, although the party is making its plans so as to have everything in readiness in case the elections are held in February.

18. Both [illegible] and [illegible] criticized the [illegible] of the Var, M. [illegible], for not being [illegible] enough in his [illegible] of the departement, particularly the procurement of adequate food supplies. [illegible] for his personal courage and for his active participation in resistance activities but pointed out that he was formerly secretary of the sous-prefecture at Toulon and that he had not broken away from the old habits of the plodding permanent fonctionnaire.

19. [illegible] described Admiral [illegible], prefet maritime of Toulon, as a reactionary of the old tradition - along with the great majority of high naval officers at the Toulon naval base.

20. According to [illegible], the Toulon edition of Rouge-Midi, the Communist paper published in Marseille, has a daily circulation of [illegible],000 and a Sunday circulation of [illegible].

A departmental federation of the MRP is in the process of organization; [illegible] hopes to have it organized before the end of the year. [illegible] a membership in the Toulon section of [illegible] - but this appears to be an exaggeration. [illegible] stated that the Toulon edition of the Christian Democrat newspaper, Le [illegible], published in Marseille, has a local circulation of [illegible]. This Toulon edition was started [illegible].

22. The Union [illegible] ([illegible]) is the women's adjunct of the [illegible] at Toulon. [illegible] is making serious efforts to capture the women's vote [illegible], series of three free weekly political lectures, starting 13 December 194[illegible] has been organized by the [illegible].

23. Radical-Socialist Party: It is reportedly stated that the Radical-Socialists are [illegible] as a political force in the Var. No party headquarters has been established in Toulon, and aside from one brief newspaper announcement, no sign of any Radical-Socialist activity was discovered.

24. [illegible] and [illegible] Cotajer, of the PS, is optimistic over the possibility of fusion between the [illegible] and the PS in the Var [illegible] after the agreement just reached between the two groups in the Department of the Gard. On the other hand, [illegible], of the [illegible], points out that many members of his organization are hesitant about uniting with the PS, because they see in this an attempt

Notes on Toulon

1. [illegible] is in full political [illegible], with [illegible] towards [illegible] elections [illegible] for next [illegible]. The Communists and Socialists are the [illegible] of the [illegible] political parties, and their strength [illegible] divided. The Christian Democrats ([illegible]) are lagging [illegible] place [illegible] the Radical-Socialists [illegible] a very [illegible]. As for the [illegible] organizations, both the [illegible] ([illegible]) and the [illegible] ([illegible]) are [illegible] strong [illegible] in the public eye. It is difficult to estimate the extent of their popular following [illegible] leaders [illegible] unwilling to [illegible] any figures [illegible] but both appear to be about equal in strength to the [illegible] Communists.

2. [illegible] According to Mr. [illegible], [illegible] of the [illegible] Toulon [illegible], the Socialist Party has [illegible] registered [illegible] in Toulon (as compared [illegible]) and the [illegible] in the department of the Var (as compared with [illegible] before the war). He pointed out that the Var was traditionally a Socialist stronghold: in 1939, of [illegible] conseillers generaux, [illegible] were Socialists and [illegible] Communists; he stated that if elections were held [illegible], the Socialists [illegible].

3. [illegible] feels that the political situation is confused by the existence of the [illegible] and the [illegible], and that since the work of the [illegible] is over, these groups should disappear and give way to the political parties. He maintains that the leaders of the [illegible] are motivated by [illegible] of personal interest, their object being to replace the [illegible] and the old leaders. He states that [illegible] of the Socialist Party with the [illegible] will not be accomplished, and that [illegible] Socialists joined the [illegible] simply to [illegible] the [illegible] elements in that organization and to counteract the influence of the [illegible].

4. [illegible] Mr. [illegible], in private conversation, and [illegible], Socialist [illegible] of Marseille, in his speech before the Congress of the Socialist Federation of the Var at Toulon, [illegible] September 1944, stressed the need for holding [illegible] elections in [illegible]. They pointed out that present [illegible] of [illegible] Liberation were not representative of the will of the people [illegible] public opinion. [illegible] proof of popular support before he could [illegible] considered [illegible] the [illegible] Liberation [illegible] in favor of the Communists, [illegible] the people. [illegible] the [illegible] ([illegible]) [illegible] of the [illegible] (almost always a [illegible]) [illegible].

5. [illegible] feels it possible that the [illegible] may [illegible] pressure on the government [illegible]. [illegible] a [illegible] of the elections [illegible] order in France although he does not [illegible] the attention here would [illegible] to the [illegible] of [illegible] because of the [illegible] popular support of General De Gaulle.

6. The Socialists [illegible] a certain [illegible] of the women's vote. They feel that the women are likely to be strongly influenced by the clergy when they go to the polls. Despite this fact, however, the Socialists want the elections to be held next February.

7. The Socialist party [illegible] on the Blvd. [illegible] the [illegible] of Toulon, with [illegible] display of posters and propaganda material, and huge paintings of Leon Blum and Jean Jaures. The Toulon edition of Le Provencal, the Socialist paper published at Marseille, [illegible] the daily [illegible] Le Petit Varois [illegible] a small knot of [illegible] Frequent meetings of the Toulon Section and of local sub-sections are held.

8. Congress of the Socialist Federation of the Var: The first Socialist Congress of the Department of the Var was held Sunday, 16 December, at Toulon, under the chairmanship of [illegible] of [illegible] of the party and Mayor of [illegible]. About 300 delegates and [illegible] each party section in the Department being represented by 3 delegates. The meeting lasted all day, with a break for lunch. It was conducted in a serious, business-like manner.

9. The [illegible] debate centered on the [illegible] of the activities in the Front National of [illegible] one of the Socialist deputies of the Var. The Congress unanimously adopted a motion [illegible] by the Bureau Federal whereby [illegible] would be permitted to continue in the Front National on the condition that all his public propaganda appearances were devoted exclusively to the interests of the Socialist Party. [illegible] of the impossible position in which he was placing himself and the Socialist Party by [illegible] an active part in the leadership of the [illegible], the question of the trade unions was raised; the [illegible] is in favor of the trade unions, [illegible] opposed. [illegible] refused to accept the conditions imposed on him by the Congress, and resigned from the party. [illegible] the Congress unanimously voted a resolution rejecting his resignation and excluding him from the party.

10. There was also [illegible] on the question of collaboration with the Communist party, [illegible] a motion in favor of [illegible] with the [illegible] working class [illegible]. However, a motion was finally voted unanimously approving the continuation of discussions [illegible] national [illegible] unity of the working class, and [illegible] the desire of the Socialists for harmonious relations with the [illegible]. The [illegible] anti-Communist but expected, in return, that the Communists would not be anti-Socialist.

11. During the debate, there was sharp criticism of the conditions forced against the Socialists in the [illegible] and local Comités de Libération by the Communists through the [illegible] that the CGT was not maintaining a sufficiently independent and apolitical attitude.

12. In discussing relations of the Socialist Party with resistance groups, M. Soldani, member of the Bureau Federal of the party for the Var and member of the MLN, expressed his deep regret over the fact that fusion between the Socialist Party and the MLN now seems impossible. He said he had hoped this fusion of the socialists of the MLN with the best elements of the Socialist Party would constitute a great regenerated Socialist Party of the future. During the debate on this subject, he took vigorous, almost explosive exception to an insinuation by Cdt. Mistral, member of the Bureau Directeur of the party, that the leaders of the MLN were simply a group of arrivistes who were trying to take advantage of the situation to seize political power.

13. As for foreign policy, the Congress expressed itself as opposed to the hegemony of any one great power, whether it be Britain, the United States or Russia, and in favor of a system of collective security, with all the democratic nations of the world equally represented in an international association of nations. This association should have its own army, credit, transport, etc. in order to be able to guarantee the peace. Regarding the treatment of Germany, the Congress voiced its opposition to any dismemberment of the country, but approved a long occupation with a severe allied control of all German industry and commerce and a long-range program for the reeducation of German youth.

14. Communist Party: According to Mr. [illegible], secretary of the Toulon section of the Socialist Party, the Communists claim to have 4,000 registered members in the Var. Communist leaders interviewed declined to quote any figures.

15. M. Rothier, prominent Communist member of the MLN, maintains that the Communists have gained many new followers in the Var since the war, at the expense of the Socialists. He claims that this results to a large extent from the Communists' nationalist policy and also from their young, vigorous leaders, as compared with the Socialists who still have the same leaders representing the old regime. He stated that the policy of the Communist Party would remain nationalist in the future; that it would be difficult to return to a revolutionary program.

16. Rothier asserted that the Communists get along better with the Christian Democrats than with the Socialists, since the latter - as he put it - placed party interests above the national interest.

17. The Communists are opposed to the holding of elections next February. Their reasoning, ostensibly, is as follows: the elections were scheduled before the recognition of the Provisional Government by the Allies as a means of holding a popular referendum and thus showing the Allies that De Gaulle had the country behind him. Now that the Allies have recognized the De Gaulle government, the pressing need for immediate elections no longer exists. Besides, it would be only fair to wait for the return of the three million prisoners and deportees before proceeding to the polls. According to M. [illegible] of the MLN, however, the real reason the Communists are opposed to the elections is their fear of losing some of the strength which they now hold on the various departmental [illegible] mental and local liberation committees. Incidentally, M. Arrighi himself indicated his personal opposition to the holding of elections at the present time, since the women's vote constituted an experiment and he was not in favor of conducting such experiments while France was still at war. (Arrighi may well feel that to hold elections now would mean a loss of strength for the MRP as well as for the Communists.) Etienne Allegre, Communist municipal délégué, stated flatly that he believed the elections would be postponed, although his party is making its plans so as to have everything in readiness in case the elections are held in February.

18. Both Allegre and Pothier criticized the Prefect of the Var, M. [illegible], for not being vigorous enough in his handling of the affairs of the département, particularly the procurement of adequate food supplies. Pothier praised [illegible] for his personal courage and for his active participation in resistance activities but pointed out that he was formerly secretary of the sous-préfecture at Toulon and that he had not broken away from the old habits of the plodding government fonctionnaire.

19. Pothier described Admiral Lambert, Préfet Maritime of Toulon, as a reactionary of the old tradition - along with the great majority of higher naval officers at the Toulon naval base.

20. According to Allegre, the Toulon edition of Rouge-Midi, the Communist paper published in Marseille, has a daily circulation of [illegible] and a Sunday circulation of 15,000.

21. Mouvement Républicain Populaire: The Toulon section of the MRP was formed about one month ago. The officers are: M. Labrosse, president; M. Jouzien, attorney, secretary; M. Cornier, worker at the Naval Arsenal, treasurer. A departmental federation of the MRP is in the process of organization; Labrosse hopes to have it organized before the end of the year. Labrosse claims a membership in the Toulon section of 1,000 - but this appears to be an exaggeration. Labrosse stated that the Toulon edition of the Christian Democrat newspaper, Le Méridional, published at Marseille, has a local circulation of 2,000. This Toulon edition was started two weeks ago.

22. The Union Féminine Civique et Sociale (UFCS) is the women's adjunct of the MRP at Toulon. As in Paris, the MRP in Toulon is making serious efforts to capture the women's vote. A series of three free weekly political lectures, starting 13 December 1944 has been organized by the UFCS.

23. Radical-Socialist Party - It is universally stated that the Radical-Socialists are practically absent as a political force in the Var. No party headquarters has been established in Toulon, and aside from the brief newspaper announcement, no sign of any Radical-Socialist activity was discovered.

24. MLN and FN. Pothier, of the FN, is optimistic over the possibility of fusion between the MLN and the FN in the Var echelon after the agreement just reached between the two groups in the department of the Gard. On the other hand, Arrighi, of the MLN, points out that many members of his organization are hesitant about uniting with the FN, because they see in this an attempt [illegible] of the FN to absorb the MLN. However, he states that discussions are still continuing between the two groups. [illegible] asserts that although many members of the FN are not Communists all the positions of responsibility in that organization are held by Communists.

25. CGT. According to M. Bessone, representative of the CGT on the CDL, there were [illegible] registered members of the CGT in the Var on 1 December 1944, as compared with 24,907 members in 1937. Bessone considers one of the most urgent problems before the CGT in the Var to be that of the stabilization of salaries. Some workers are too highly paid [illegible] in comparison to the salaries of equally skilled workers in other trades. This state of affairs was created by the Germans who paid very well in order to attract labor to certain high-priority jobs. For example, workers in the building trades are getting up to 31 francs per hour, while skilled pâtissiers and boulangers earn only 12 francs per hour. Bessone points out that it is not possible to raise all salaries to the highest levels established by the Germans, since this would cause an inflationary trend. Therefore, the CGT was faced with the delicate task of working at the same time for the reduction -- to a certain extent -- of some salaries and the raising of others.

Police and Military Units

26. Groupes Republicaines de Securite and Gardes Civiques [illegible]. The Forces Republicaines de Securite have a total strength of [illegible] officers and men in the Var, under the command of Lt. Colonel (FFI) Barrat. Their headquarters are at [illegible], about 7 km. west of Toulon, at the Chateau [illegible], a requisitioned private estate formerly occupied by the Vichyite GMR (Groupes Mobiles de Reserve).

27. The two companies under Barrat form part of the FRS of the 15th Military Region (Vaucluse, Hautes Alpes, Basses Alpes, Alpes Maritimes, Bouches-du-Rhone, Var) organized by Regional Commissioner [illegible] and placed under the command of General [illegible]. The FRS are an official, paid militia, working under the prefect in each Department of the 15th Military Region, with the principal task of combatting traitors, collaborationists and black marketeers and of maintaining order. In the Var, the FRS has the additional task of guarding the [illegible] political prisoners at the camp of [illegible]. Members of the FRS in the Var are all former FFI. The men are paid 2,0[illegible] francs monthly; officers and non-commissioned officers receive regular army pay.

28. Barrat stated that he is badly in need of arms and equipment for his men. There are rifles for only [illegible] percent of his [illegible] men, and their total arms consist of [illegible] German [illegible] and two light machine guns. Barrat pointed out that it would mean a great deal for the discipline of his men if they could all be properly armed and equipped. He hastened to add that in spite of circumstances, discipline was good. An inspection tour of the quarters, however, revealed a rather relaxed discipline; the men lacked the military smartness and bearing of trained soldiers. German prisoners working on the premises were more prompt than the members of the FRS to come to attention and salute at the approach of Lt. Colonel Barrat.

29. Barrat stated that he had sent detachments out on expeditions against the

29. [illegible] stated that he had sent detachments [illegible] on expeditions against the [illegible] blanc -- elements of which had been reported in various localities in the [illegible] -- but so far without success. The [illegible] was not in radio contact with these elements anywhere in the [illegible]. [illegible] also has men circulating in civilian clothes in Toulon to help stamp out the black market. Thus far, the [illegible] made 250 arrests in [illegible], for all offenses.

30. [illegible], who was formerly departmental chief of the Milices Patriotiques, and who is still a member of the departmental committee of the Gardes Civiques Républicaines (ex-Milices Patriotiques), claims the credit for the [illegible] in the Var [illegible]. Barral stated the men of the [illegible] were the same as those of the [illegible], but that the former were unpaid civilians devoting only their spare time to this task.

31. [illegible]. According to [illegible], Colonel [illegible], all the remaining FFI of the Var are grouped in the Demi-Brigade des Maures at [illegible], under the command of Colonel (FFI) Salvatori. This unit consists of about 3,000 men, and is preparing to leave shortly for the front to join the 1st French Army. In Toulon, former FFI members have formed an Amicale des FFI. According to one of the members, the Amicale has a total membership of [illegible].

Franco-American Relations

32. American sailors stationed in Toulon report a number of cafe fights and arguments between themselves and Frenchmen, principally over women. The feeling is fairly general among American sailors at Toulon that the French would overcharge an American at every opportunity possible.

33. On their side, the French are, to a greater or lesser degree, resentful over the American bombing of Toulon, which destroyed a large part of the city; over American treatment of German PW's; and over the fact that American food supplies for the civilian population have not arrived in greater quantities. [illegible] (a Corsican, about 55, veteran of the last war and maquisard for over two years during this war) remarked bitterly that American soldiers had sold cigarettes, rations and soap at high black market prices and had not given anything away, contrary to what was expected of them. Cigarettes were sold at 50 to 100 francs a pack; soap at 50 francs a cake.

34. [illegible], Communist member of the [illegible] and director of La Liberté du Var, stated that he noticed a general feeling that General Leahy, as Ambassador to Vichy, had continued relations with the Vichy Government even after his recall; that Washington was not pleased with the De Gaulle government and would have preferred a Giraud or a Chautemps to De Gaulle; that a report was circulating in [illegible] newspaper circles to the effect that three days before the liberation of Paris, American diplomatic representatives had penetrated into the city and had discussed with Vichy officials the possibility of setting up a new French government replacing the De Gaulle Government.

35. [illegible] also stated that many people were wondering whether the Allies had consented to [illegible] the decision of the Government to dissolve the [illegible] Civiques [illegible]. In that connection, he stated that the [illegible] and the FTP [illegible] great necessity, since the people had no confidence in the police [illegible] many of the same men who had served the Vichy regime.

Economic Situation

36. Housing Destruction. Toulon has suffered heavily from Allied bombing. The port area was particularly hard hit, but a good deal of destruction was caused in the center of town as well. According to the municipal bureau of Reconstruction, of a total of 16,[illegible] houses in Toulon, 993 were entirely destroyed, 1,3[illegible] more than 50 percent destroyed and [illegible] were suffered damage. Since it is extremely difficult to obtain building materials to make repairs, houses which were only partially damaged are deteriorating rapidly from the effects of the weather. Many people made homeless are temporarily living with friends and relatives, in makeshift quarters; a large number have not yet returned to Toulon from the interior, where they had sought refuge during the bombings. Toulon's normal population of 160,000 had dropped to [illegible] at the end of August; it had risen to [illegible] at the end of October, and is now around [illegible].

37. The municipal Service [illegible] Reconstruction estimates needs of building materials for repairs as follows:

8,[illegible] tons of tile shingles for roofing
3,[illegible] tons of bricks
5,[illegible] tons of plaster
1,[illegible] tons of cement
1,[illegible] tons of lime
200,[illegible] square meters of window panes.

Temporary roofing repairs are being made with wood planks.

38. Food. Food conditions in Toulon are bad, the most serious shortages being milk for children, and fats and oils. There is only enough milk to permit distribution to infants up to 9 months. According to Dr. [illegible], in order to provide milk for the 1,677 children of 9-18 months, 600 cans of condensed milk would be required daily. Another [illegible] cans daily would be needed for the 1,500 children 18 months - 3 years of age. [illegible] stressed the urgency of this problem. Dr. [illegible] recommends that if American milk is shipped to Toulon, it be given directly to the municipality for distribution, instead of to the Red Cross. (He claims that on previous occasions when American milk was distributed through the French Red Cross, much of it found its way into the black market and never reached the children for whom it was intended.)

39. Despite the fact that the Var is an important producer of olive oil, there is a serious shortage of this product on the market. According to [illegible], municipal [illegible] in charge of Ravitaillement, whatever stocks of olive oil do exist in the region are blocked by the Ministere de Ravitaillement for distribution throughout France. This is a source of discontent among the people however, distribution of [illegible] [illegible] present time, and [illegible] with the [illegible] [illegible]. It is expected that the [illegible] will improve by the end of the year. At present, olive oil sells [illegible] francs per litre on the black market, but it is not constantly even on the black market. When available, it sold for [illegible] francs per [illegible] [illegible] supply.

40. The bread ration of [illegible] [illegible] is [illegible] considered satisfactory and the meat ration of about [illegible] grams weekly is felt to be a considerable improvement over the 90 grams monthly received during the occupation. However, people seemed to expect a more immediate and greater improvement in the food situation with the coming of the Allies than has actually taken place.

41. Public Services: Electricity, gas and water supply are normal. The streets are partially lighted at night. Public services are functioning in Toulon and its suburbs. There is one [illegible] train daily to Marseille, and one alternately daily with connections with the Marseille-[illegible] train.

FRENCH POLITICAL

Reported Replacement of "Front National" by a New Paper

The following report is from a member of the staff of "Front National" and is a close friend of Thorez. This information was disclosed directly to a well-tried source, who has extensive contacts in French press circles:

1. It appears improbable that "Front National" will continue to be published after the elections, because of the breaking down of this political formation, which is of no further interest - except perhaps a marginal one - to the Communist Party. However, until now, Thorez has been opposed to its disappearance.

2. At present the leaders of the CP are planning to replace it by a more effective organ, and are studying three possible solutions:

(a) A newspaper which might be called "Ce Matin", and which would be supplementary to "Ce Soir" which would be responsible for its publication. The directors of "Ce Soir", which is a successful paper, are opposed to this idea, because they do not see the necessity for placing an additional load on the budget.

(b) A paper exclusively for women and which would treat all questions interesting to women: the home, the factory, food, the child, clothing, education, etc. But it is wondered if women have not adopted the habit of reading their husbands' paper, and would not be reluctant to indulge in the expense of an extra paper.

(c) An evening paper which would sell for 3 fr., and which would be similar to "Le Monde" in form, and would be the leftist opposite number of that paper. This paper would be destined particularly for the elite, and would stress cultural matters, accurate documentation, etc. The difficulty lies in assembling a first rate editorial staff to handle the political, economic, financial and artistic departments of such a paper.

3. It appears likely that a decision will be reached before the end of May.

Although this report is based principally on information received from HOMOHEDRAL, the chief facts have been confirmed by HOMESTRETCH and HOMOGENE. Much of the information, especially the excerpts from CADI reports, was taken from the original CADI documents which HOMOHEDRAL lifted from the CADI files. (One of HOMOHEDRAL's sub-agents got the char-woman who cleans the CADI offices to lift a few reports each night for a period of a week.) The Italian immigrant sent by this station to the CADI office is Ettore GUIDETTI.

1. The Comite d'Action et de Defense des Immigres (CADI) was organized at Paris in November 1944 and operated overtly until ordered dissolved as a subversive group by a decree of the Ministry of the Interior in December 1948.

2. The principal organisations which joined to form CADI are as follows:

Parti Communiste Francais
Confederation Generale du Travail
Conseil National de la Resistance Front National Union des Femmes Francaises
Union des Patriotes Sovietiques
Comite Italien de la Liberation
Comite d'Unite de la Defense Juive
Union National de la Colonie Tcheco-Slovaque en France
Union Democratique des Hongrois en France
Aide a la Patrie Polonais
Front National Armenien
Italia Libera
Front National Roumain
Union de la Jeunesse Republicaine de France
Union Nationale Espagnole en France
Federation des Espagnols Residant en France

3. As the name CADI implies, the organisation was formed to aid foreign immigrants in France. It was not ostensibly founded as a political organisation, nor was it ostensibly designed to support any particular political party. Its apparent purpose was rather to give social and legal aid to any and all immigrants in France. Its social program was quite simple and was largely devoted to the distribution of food, clothing, shelter, and money to needy immigrants. Its legal program was two-fold: first, it offered legal assistance to the individual immigrants through its lawyers; and secondly, it sponsored a series of measures in the Chamber of Deputies which were designed to benefit the status of all immigrants.

4. The measures which CADI sponsored were officially known as the "resolutions pour la promulgation d'un Statut Juridique des Immigres", and demanded the following benefits for the immigrants:

a. That "Cartes de residence privileges" be granted to all immigrants, without exception, after three years residence in France.

b. That immigrants be allowed to choose their place and type of employment.

c. That immigrants be granted all the social benefits to which a French citizen is entitled.

d. That expulsion from France be made dependent on a court order, rather than on a decree of the Ministry of the Interior.

5. CADI sponsored the above measures for all immigrants. For those certain immigrants who had volunteered for service in an Allied army, or had taken part in the Resistance, or had been deported to Germany, CADI made the following demands:

a. That naturalization be granted by judges of the peace upon simple proof of the immigrant's claim to be in one of the above categories, and that all other naturalization requirements be waived.

b. That all invalids, deportees, and widows of men of this category be entitled to the same social benefits as French citizens of similar classification.

c. That the term "Mort pour la France" be added to the titles of the deceased of all immigrants of this category.

6. For those immigrants of the above category (para 6) who preferred to maintain their original citizenship, CADI demanded:

a. That they be allowed to choose their place and kind of work and that they be permitted to change their profession whenever they so desired.

b. That they receive all social benefits granted to French citizens.

c. That all "administrative measures resulting from their antifascist activity before and during the War be annulled." (Field comment: This is a direct translation from the French and refers to any legal actions taken against immigrants who, as Communists, refused to obey the orders of the French government between September 1939 and the German attack on Russia.)

SECRET 29-4-11-2

7. CADI was largely successful in realising its demands, for the Statute of Immigrants which was passed by the Consultative Assembly (the Statute was composed of the ordonnance of 24 March 1945, the ordonnance of 2 November 1945, the ordonnance of 19 October 1945, the ordonnance of 15 October 1945, and the decree of 25 December 1945) gave to immigrants an equality of rights approximate to those enjoyed by a French citizen. The most active supporter of the CADI measures in the Consultative Assembly in 1945 was Madeleine BRAUN, prominent Communist and one of the leaders of the Front National. The Communist Party and the CGT also heavily backed these measures.

8. Paragraphs 4 through 6 represent CADI's original program; it was overt, it was designed to benefit all immigrants, and it was supposedly non-political. To implement its program, CADI established branch offices throughout France in the cities which had large numbers of immigrants. These branch offices were known as Centres d'Action de Defense des Immigres. CADI also took the lead in organising the annual National Congress of Immigrants (Congres National des Immigres), the first one of which was held in Paris on 25 January 1945. M. [illegible]RACHA, representative of the Ministry of Industrial Production presided. In 1946, CADI again sponsored the congress, now called the International Congress of Immigrants in France (Congres International des Immigres en France), which took place in Paris 15 February to 17 February. Some 15,000 delegates, representing 3 million immigrants of all nationalities, attended. Justin GODARD, president of CADI, made the principal speech. Louis SAILLANT, secretary-general of the CGT and president of the CNR, was a member of the sponsoring committee and sat on the speakers' platform. The sponsors' committee for the 1947 Congress which was also held at Paris in February, consisted of Justin GODARD, Louis SAILLANT, Jacques DUCLOS, Albert BAYET (delegate of the Ligue des Droits de L'Homme), PINEAU (director of the Union de Jeunesse Republicaine de France), Madeleine BRAUN, and Joseph NORDMANN (lawyer for the Lettres Francaises in the KRAVCHENKO TRIAL).

9. Although the ostensible and apparent purpose and activities of CADI were those outlined in paragraphs 3 to 6, its true purpose and its clandestine activities were quite different. CADI was not the non-political organisation that it professed to be, but was in fact a tightly controlled Communist organisation. To be sure, the legislative measures it supported benefited all immigrants, but they were designed primarily to help Communist immigrants. Similarly, CADI's program of aid to immigrants was restricted solely to Communist or pro-Communist immigrants. The true purpose of CADI was to aid Communist and pro-Communist immigrants to enter France; to aid them in establishing themselves in France; to place them in industries, mining, and agriculture; to organise them into faithful followers of the Communist Party; and finally to control them.

10. In order to realise its true purpose, CADI embarked on a clandestine program which may be divided into three major parts: the supplying of certain necessary identification papers, to illegal Communist immigrants, the placing of these immigrants in certain jobs, and the organising of these particular immigrants, along with all the foreign laborers in France, into submissive groups which would follow the orders of the CGT and the Communist Party.

11. Evidence of this first activity is found in the CADI office in Marseille. This office is currently operating a program whereby any avowed Communist immigrant coming to the office is furnished a "carte de travailleur etranger", [illegible] given a job in industry or agriculture, and, for the sum of 5,000 francs, is furnished with a naturalisation decree.

12. (Field Comment:

Having heard from two sources that CADI was operating such a program, this station sent on 10 March 1949 one of source's sub-agents, an Italian immigrant who had entered France clandestinely, to the Marseille CADI, at 8 Place de la Prefecture, to ascertain if these reports were true. At CADI our sub-agent was received by George LINIVER. Our sub-agent then presented himself as an Italian immigrant who entered France clandestinely and asked that he be given a "carte de travailleur etranger". LINIVER asked our sub-agent who had sent him to CADI, to which the sub-agent replied, "I am a Communist." LINIVER asked to see the sub-agent's Party card, and the latter showed it to him. LINIVER then asked the sub-agent if he had a job in France, to which the sub-agent replied in the negative. LINIVER told the sub-agent to return in two weeks at which time he would give him an "autorisation de sejour", and in three weeks, he would provide him with a "carte de travailleur etranger". LINIVER also promised to give our sub-agent an agricultural job in Sete (Herault). Finally, LIHIVER told our sub-agent that for 8,000 francs he would provide him with naturalisation papers. Our sub-agent replied that he wanted such papers, but that he would first have to acquire the money. The interview ended with both men raising their fists in the Communist salute.

13. From questioning our sub-agent, it appears that the papers CADI furnishes are genuine papers which they obtain through the connivance of certain individuals in the Marseille Prefecture.

The sub-agent's sister unfortunately died in Paris on 12 March. The sub-agent then left immediately for Paris and has not yet returned. Upon his return to Marseille, this station will send him back to CADI to claim his "carte de sejour" and "carte de travailleur etranger". We will also give him 5,000 francs with which to acquire his naturalisation papers and we will direct him to accept the proferred job in Sete.)

14. Additional evidence that CADI is engaged in supplying these papers is found in the fact that on the 24, 25, and 26 of January 1949 four foreigners presented themselves at the office of the "Confederation Generale des Internes et Deportes Politiques de la Resistance et des Victimes de l'Oppression Nazie et du Racisme" where, thinking they were at the CADI office, they asked that they be given "cartes de sejour". These men were:

MILLER, Robert - born in Baden, Germany
JACOBSOHN, Carl - born in Hamburg, Germany
GEORGES, Morice - born in Sockelyncmakely, Hungary
LASZLO, Alexandre - born in Marsvahely, Hungary

These four had entered France clandestinely and each had been told before leaving his own country to apply to CADI for his French papers.

15. The following excerpts from CADI reports indicate CADI's activity in placing immigrants in industries and in agriculture.

a. "The Poles sent by CADI into the iron and coal mines number 60,000. In addition CADI has placed 80,000 Polish agricultural workers in France." (Field comment: From a report by LOUKA, delegate of the Conseil National Polonais en France.)

b. "In the large chemical and metallurgical factories of Marseille one-third of the employees are immigrants. In the Acieries du Nord, 340 workers are foreigners; the Cotel Plant, 485 workers are immigrants. CADI has placed many of these men and will continue to place as many again." (Field comment: From a report of Guido ZAMIS, CADI secretary in Marseille.)

c. "There are 3,800 foreigners in the coal mines at Carmaux-les-Mines. CADI has placed 80% of these men." (Field comment: From a report of the CADI representative for the TARN department.)

16. The following excerpts from CADI documents indicate CADI's activity in organising the immigrant laborers into submissive groups ready to follow CADI-CGT-Communist orders:

a. "It is necessary that CADI take the lead in organising these foreign laborers in strong and democratic unions. We must protect them from their capitalist oppressors and we must aid them in their struggle against their employers. In CADI and in the CGT, the immigrant finds his strength." (Field comment: From a report by Louis PETIT, one of the organisers and national leaders of CADI.)

b. "It is through CADI that the immigrant masses are able to mobolise for the tasks which lie before the whole country. It is CADI which must educate the immigrants in the ways of true democracy and it is for CADI to lead them in their struggle." (Field comment: From a report of LAROCHE, secretary-general of CADI.)

c. "Before the war, the countries from which these immigrants came were under the control of Fascist and reactionary regimes. The immigrants left their homes without hope of returning. Now things have changed; the countries from which they came are today true democracies and they now have the problem of helping those of their former citizens who are now living outside their borders. It is CADI who, working with these democratic governments, is attempting to obtain the rights of liberty and democracy for these immigrants now in France." (Field comment: From a letter written by Louis PETIT.)

d. "We are proud to be from a region where the majority are immigrants, the immigrants who organised the great strike of 100,000 workers during the occupation under the leadership of Auguste LECOEUR. In those times, all orders were executed clandestinely, and we will execute them today with the same enthusiasm. CADI must lead the way." (Field comment: From a speech by the CADI secretary in the Pas-de-Calais.)

e. "The control of the recruiting of immigrant workers must be done in a rigorous manner by CADI and the French workers unions. We must prevent the immigrant worker from becoming a tool in the hands of the capitalists." (Field comment: From a speech by GIOVETTI, (fnu), delegate of Italia Libera.)

17. Further evidence of CADI's activity in organising the immigrant workers is found in ~~CADI files.~~ Report after report from various CADI delegates throughout France list by nationality the number of immigrants in their areas, and in addition many of the reports note the number of these immigrants who are under CADI control. These reports are all similar, and it is sufficient to quote from one: "More than 50% of the miners in the Loire basin are immigrants; of these, the following percentages adhere to CADI: 95% of the Poles, all the Yugoslavs, 80% of the Portuguese, 60% of the Italians, and 75% of the Hungarians." (Field comment: From a report by CADI secretary from the Loire.)

18. Although supposedly dissolved by Ministerial decree in December 1948, CADI continues to operate clandestinely throughout France. Its present national president is Justin GODARD, former minister; FRYDMAN, (fnu), a member of the Comite d'Unite de la Defense Juive, is vice-president; LAROCHE, (fnu), is secretary-general. National Headquarters are located at 108 rue de l'Universite, Paris. The principal organisations supporting CADI today are those listed in paragraph 8, except for those of these organisations which have ceased to exist.

19. CADI functions in conjunction with these organisations and in addition it has its own delegates scattered throughout France in the industrial and mining regions. Among the CADI delegates are the following:

HORCADO - delegate of the Federation des Espagnols Residant en France
LOUKA - delegate of the Conseil National Polonais en France
GIOVETTI - delegate of Italia Libra
KOVACS, Muranyi - secretary-general of the Union Democratique des Hongrois en France
PANAS - member of the Front National Hellenique
MELIK - member of the Front National Armenien
VINCIGUERRA - president of the Union des Voluntaires Etrangers
SORU - delegate of the Front National Rouman
CONTI, Mme. Germaine - secretary of the CADI in Paris
ZELENY - delegate of the Union Nationale de la Colonie Tchesco-Slovaque en France
GUERRIERO - member of the Federation des Immigres Portuguais
HOLLAND - delegate of CADI on Eastern France
FRYDMAN - vice-president of CADI; delegate of the Comite d'Unite de la Defense Juive.
PETIT, Louis - one of the organisers and responsibles of CADI

(Field comment: It is realised that some of the organizations of which these men are listed as delegates have been dissolved, notably Italia Libra and the Front National Armenien. However, the names of the individuals and their affiliations are shown exactly as they appeared on CADI documents.)

20. CADI is well-financed. Its principal financial support comes from the Communist Party and the CGT. (Field comment: CADI documents acknowledge unspecified contributions from these organisations. One of source's informants, the chief of the Foreigners' Section of the Marseille Prefecture, has stated that he knows the Marseille CADI has an undetermined quantity of rubles, presumably received from the Communist Party.)

21. In Marseille, the CADI office was established by Guido ZANIS and George LINIVER in March 1946. It was originally located on the Blvd. du Muy, but in September 1947 it transferred to 3 Marche des Capucins. In February 1948 it moved to 97 rue Longue des Capucins and then, after it was ordered dissolved, it continued to function clandestinely at 2 Place de la Prefecture, where it remains today. ZANIS remains the director of the Local CADI, assisted by LINIVER.

Ilie [illegible], a cobbler, and member of the Front National Roumain (Field Comment: [illegible] has previously been reported by source as a rich man, though cobbler by profession. He has property at [illegible] (Seine et Oise). At Paris, he lives at [illegible] rue Anjou. He is a frequent visitor and telephone caller at the Rumanian Embassy.)

Marta-[illegible], legation employee ([illegible]

[illegible] VILLARD, a French citizen and noted Communist.

In addition to the above and belonging to the same category is [illegible], who was arrested on 17 November.

2. The apartments of the foregoing were searched, but apparently nothing of importance was found. Subsequently, the five incriminated persons were released.

3. The Association des Roumains Amis de la France (Front National) was dissolved by order of the Surete, which has also forbidden the publication of the newspaper "La Roumanie Libre."

SPECIFIC- List of Alleged Communist dominated organizations

1. Attached is a copy of a list given to Leon H. S[illegible]man recently by Jack West, Legal Attache. The attachment was originally given to West by Keith Angell, Security Office, ECA-OSR, Paris. Mr. Angell advised that he had received this list from a source in the Prefecture of Police, Paris, and that it is based upon information in Prefecture files and investigation by that agency.

2. It will be noted that this list is apparently of quite recent date in that these international organizations recently expelled from France (IFDW, WFDY, WFTU) are noted as "dissolved".

3. Mr. West also transmitted a copy of this list to Mr. William Crawford in the Embassy here.

2. [redacted] has been [redacted] in Mexico City since 5 June 1963. He last returned from home leave on 13 January 1966 but because his wife's parents are in very poor health, the Station has requested on his behalf that the date of his home leave be advanced to 23 September 1967.

PROFESSIONAL

There's nothing outstanding about Tarasoff - just an average joe trying to make a living and without the ambition, energy, perspicaity to make use of a saleable article: knowledge of Russian. Physically he's sort of soft, tends to be overweight - he's about 5'8"tall, and about 190 in weight. His personality is on the negative side, his manner dull.

Tarasoff was greatly interested in the possibility of working for the US Government. He wants that security. And he has about reached the end of the line salary wise as a maintenance man or building superintendent. Tarasoff is willing to work in D.C. but insists on a GS 7 because he has to support a wife and two children. He does not mind the sedentary aspects of Project Detail - I doubt if he'd be interested in anything that wasn't sedentary. He also liked the the other aspects of Detail and I would think from talking with him that he would be quite able to handle a job on Detail. He can translate - reads with a great deal of ease. His PHS I notice indicated he's interested only in o/s - this is not what he told me; he is interested in US also but he will go o/s if necessary.

I recommend Tarasoff for a GS 7 on Project Detail.

Indicate significant strengths or weaknesses demonstrated in current position keeping in proper perspective their relationship to overall performance. State suggestions made for improvement of work performance. Give recommendations for training. Comment on foreign language competence, if required for current position. Amplify or explain ratings given in Section B to provide best basis for determining future personnel action. Manner of performance of managerial or supervisory duties and cost consciousness in the use of personnel, space, equipment and funds, must be commented on, if applicable. If extra space is needed to complete Section C, attach a separate sheet of paper.

This officer has continued to perform his assigned tasks in superior fashion. Not only is he a skilled transcriber/translator, he is also able to put his experience and knowledge into words in preparing character analyses which have been of great value to the Station's operational program. Although his work load is often quite heavy, he can always be counted on to complete his assignments promptly and he willingly puts in the extra time frequently needed.

His team spirit and dedication are shown by the fact that on several occasions, in spite of advancing age and recent illness, he spent long hours in base houses on live-monitoring assignments. He will be greatly missed when he retires in the near future.

As previously noted, this officer does not handle operational funds or have supervisory responsibilities. He has had no cover problems, nor has he required any unusual administrative support, other than that which is to be expected in connection with his forthcoming retirement.

This officer continues to perform his assigned duties in a superior fashion. Illness put him out of action for some time, but otherwise the Station received the fine performance which has come to be routine with him. This officer's experience and dedication make it possible for him to work effectively with an absolute minimum of supervision. He responds instinctively to items of operational significance, and his experience and knowledge make it possible for him to write penetrating analyses of target personalities, and interrelationships among these persons, based solely on what he hears.

This officer has also been called upon to transcribe material from audio operations, in addition to the telephone material which is his normal assignment. He has also handled this well, although his advancing age and less acute hearing make this task much more difficult for him.

While not called upon to use Spanish normally, he has sufficient fluency to handle material in Spanish when required.

This officer uses his time well and takes good care of the equipment assigned to him. He does not handle operational funds nor does he have any supervisory responsibilities.

This officer continues to consistently perform at the excellent level which has characterized his work in this Station for several years. His high level of personal dedication and professional competence have become standard.

From his daily work he has an intimate knowledge of and insight into the personalities of individual Soviets and the personal inter-relationships existing between members of the local Soviet colony. The character analyses which he prepares are excellent and an invaluable aid to our Soviet program.

He has had no professional, administrative, or personal problems during the reporting period.

His knowledge of Spanish continues to improve and aids him considerably in his work.

Subject has continued to demonstrate a very high level of interest and competence in his work. Beyond the relatively technical aspect of producing transcriptions, which he accomplishes with timeliness, accuracy and thoroughness, he strives to provide the Station and Headquarters with an insight in depth on the local Soviet complement. He does this capably, particularly when one understands the limitations of his technical access. His wife, a contract employee, assists him in the preparation of the technical product. However, her over-all contribution goes beyond this, since Subject and his wife work together in effort to distill the meaning of their product in terms of personality assessment. They are uniquely well adjusted to their deep cover circumstances, are of little burden administratively to the Station, and are presently interested in continuing their assignment in Mexico City indefinitely.

Amplify or explain ratings given in Section B to provide best basis for determining future personnel action. Manner of performance of managerial or supervisory duties must be described, if applicable.

The relatively limited period of Subject's assignment to the Station, coupled with the normal complications attendant to a staffer's conversion to the DDP and to a deep cover status on a first assignment abroad, compels the supervisor to make a tentative assessment only at this time. However, from all indications to date it would appear that Subject and his family are acclimating themselves very well to the environmental, cover and work situation. Subject is interested in his work, applies himself conscientiously and is prompt in completing his assignments whether the work load for a day is light, or is heavy and requires unpaid overtime concentration. The translation product is presently exact and conforms to the Station's standards for such work. As Subject becomes more familiar with specific Station requirements, through experience and with closer supervision than afforded to date, he will be able to make a more imaginative contribution to his work, an effort that he has already begun.

TRAINING REPORT

Spanish Basic Reading, Speaking, Writing
(900 hours, full time)

09/24/63 - 02/15/63

Student	: Boris D. Tarasoff	Office	: WH
Year of Birth	: 1908	Service Designation:	D
Grade	: 11	No. of Students	: 4
EOD Date	: 02/56	Instructor:	Mrs. L. Edwards

COURSE OBJECTIVES - CONTENT AND METHOD

This is a 20-week, full-time course. The general aim of the course is to enable the student to use the spoken language with moderate facility and accuracy in a large number of everyday situations while providing a basis for further learning of the language either by actual use in the area or by further formal study. The major objectives of the course are to develop an ability; 1) to distinguish and produce the sounds of the language; 2) to use a large variety of basic sentences and expressions in the spoken language and apply them by re-combination to new situations; 3) to comprehend spoken Spanish in a variety of current everyday situations; 4) to develop the skills and techniques needed to read Spanish texts with minimum use of the dictionary; 5) to write the language in basic form, including letters, telegrams, short composition, etc.

The entire working day, 5 days a week, is devoted exclusively to language study. Four to five hours daily (a maximum of 25 hours a week) are devoted to guided drill and conversation practice with native speakers. The balance of the day is devoted to language laboratory drill and preparation of assigned material. Three days at mid-term and the final week of the course are spent in a special language-house in which Spanish is spoken exclusively.

ACHIEVEMENT RECORD

Student progress is evaluated primarily on oral recitation in the form of drills and free conversation based on memorized material. In addition, several tests are given during the course. The number of students receiving each adjectival rating on overall course performance is shown below. This student's rating is indicated by the asterisk.

Incomplete	Unsatisfactory	Satisfactory	Excellent
1		2*	1

Mr. Tarasoff's application and interest throughout the course was unstinting. Progress in all course objectives was modest but steady. In future study particular attention should be given to pronunciation and structure.

COMMENTS OF REVIEWING OFFICIAL

I agree with this rating. Mr. Tarasoff has common sense and intelligence sense. He appreciates the significance of information, for intelligence purposes, both in the fields for which he is responsible and in other fields as well.

His ability to scan rapidly a great volume of Russian-language material, and extract or note items of value, will be sorely missed.

Serious-minded, hard-working, well-informed. Has profound knowledge of the USSR, its people, and its institutions. Innately an intelligence officer, he has the ability to discern news of intelligence value where others see nothing. Maintains an image of the world, the USSR, the US and the CIA in his mind, and seldom makes incorrect prediction or estimate regarding World or Soviet affairs.

His intellectual maturity of the Russian language makes him adaptable to a large variety of assignments. Is characterised by resolutnes, steadfastness, and ability to resist pressure or propaganda.

His work in the section has been excellent throughout, and he covers subject fields equivalent to the work of 3 people in 1955. He works very well as part of a team.

His qualifications are an asset both for work in FDD and for assignments involving personal contacts and utilizing spoken Russian.

Amplify or explain, if appropriate, ratings given in SECTIONS B, C, and D to provide the best basis for determining future personnel actions.

His native Russian language facility is of tremendous assistance to the section and the agency. His rapid scanning of Soviet documents for his own projects turns up valuable bits of information on other subjects, which he is always careful to refer to the proper persons. He is always ready to assist with language problems and if he doesn't know the answer he exhausts all possible means to find it. He is called on for special branch or division projects involving reverse translations, and he has held a number of TDY assignments requiring spoken Russian. The morsels of intelligence gleaned for his own reports from the masses of material which he scans are briefly and tersely stated. Is a systematic worker, keeps good files, and avoids duplication. Plans and organizes his activities carefully so that he always manages to complete a project well ahead of the target date. Has constant informal contact with all his consumers and goes to any length to give them what they want, provided that their request is reasonable and justifiable. If they ask for something which he knows is of no value or which has been duplicated elsewhere, he has no difficulty in persuading them to cancel the requirement, since they have learned that they can trust his work and his genuine desire to help. It is not hard to discern that he sometimes gets bored with the monotony of his work, but an occasional tour of TDY is generally sufficient to revive his enthusiasm for another year at his desk. Has an uneven temperament, sometimes gloomy and sometimes bantering, but only rarely does this affect his working relationships.

SECTION E — NARRATIVE DESCRIPTION OF MANNER OF JOB PERFORMANCE

Stress strengths and weaknesses demonstrated in current position. Indicate suggestions made to employee for improvement of his work. Give recommendations for his training. Describe, if appropriate, his potential for development and for assuming greater responsibilities. Amplify or explain, if appropriate, ratings given in SECTIONS B, C, and D to provide the best basis for determining future personnel actions. Shows skill and good judgment in extracting data on a wide range of technical subjects from Soviet documents, which he scans with great rapidity. His written reports based on this material present good intelligence information. However, they suffer slightly from small inaccuracies in syntax and grammar, and there are occasional passages where the meaning is vague or the logical connection between facts has not been made clear. This type of passage may be further complicated by his lack of native familiarity with the precise English idiom and his tendency sometimes to use the wrong connective. However, any such failings in the use of English are entirely offset by his superior knowledge of Russian. His promptness in submitting reports and in completing other assignments is exceptional. Maintains close relations with consumers and goes out of his way to fill all their requirements to the letter. His greatest asset to the section, branch, and division is his native Russian fluency and his knowledge of the USSR. He not only serves as consultant and authority on ~~XX~~ the Russian language for the section and branch, but takes on extra jobs as translator or interpreter as required by the division or the agency. His natural intelligence has enabled him to do on-the-spot or rush jobs in fields in which he has had no background. He continues to learn and to retain his knowledge. During a period when his well-deserved promotion was blocked because of thelack of a slot, a situation which was unfortunate but the fault of no one in his office, he became a bit rebellious and reluctant to take on extra duties which he otherwise would have accepted. He feels, and rightly so, that he is capable of more challenging and perhaps more interesting assignments which require the use of spoken Russian. Every opportunity has been given him to find such a permanent assignment, and he has just been on extended TDY involving such activities.

Reads Russian rapidly and looks out for material of interest to others as he scans. Is adaptable and flexible and handles several different technical fields with equal facility. Can tackle almost any subject without previous experience and turn out a good job. His native knowledge of Russian is of considerable benefit to the whole section. Selects the salient points from masses of useless or repetitive material with intelligent judgment, and compiles reports which are pointed and concise. His only deficiency of any consequence is the slight awkwardness and occasional lack of clarity in his written English style. His English has improved considerably during the past two years, but sometimes the failure to use the most precise term or the right connective complicates for the reader a conception which is perfectly clear to the writer.

SECTION D. SUITABILITY FOR CURRENT JOB IN ORGANIZATION

Minor difficulties with English usage do not prevent him from turning out reports which are concise and to the point. Ideas are in general clearly formulated, although there are occasional instances of inexactness of expression. Because of his native facility in the Russian language, on the other hand, he is frequently consulted on all levels throughout the branch on matters involving interpretation of the foreign text. He is not an eager beaver, and because of his language fluency can accomplish as much as others in less time and with less effort. Probably works at full capacity only under pressure, and for this reason some of his best contributions have been on special projects with target dates, several of which have covered material outside his field of responsibility. SECTION C. JOB PERFORMANCE EVALUATION

1. RATING ON GENERAL PERFORMANCE OF DUTIES

DIRECTIONS: Consider ONLY the productivity and effectiveness with which the individual being rated has performed his duties during the rating period. Compare him ONLY with others doing similar work at a similar level of responsibility. Factors other than productivity will be taken into account later in Section D.

INSERT RATING NUMBER: 4

1 - DOES NOT PERFORM DUTIES ADEQUATELY; HE IS INCOMPETENT.
2 - BARELY ADEQUATE IN PERFORMANCE. ALTHOUGH HE HAS HAD SPECIFIC GUIDANCE OR TRAINING, HE OFTEN FAILS TO CARRY OUT RESPONSIBILITIES.
3 - PERFORMS MOST OF HIS DUTIES ACCEPTABLY; OCCASIONALLY REVEALS SOME AREA OF WEAKNESS.
4 - PERFORMS DUTIES IN A COMPETENT, EFFECTIVE MANNER.
5 - A FINE PERFORMANCE; CARRIES OUT MANY OF HIS RESPONSIBILITIES EXCEPTIONALLY WELL.
6 - PERFORMS HIS DUTIES IN SUCH AN OUTSTANDING MANNER THAT HE IS EQUALLED BY FEW OTHER PERSONS KNOWN TO THE SUPERVISOR.

c. For supervisors, ability to supervise will always be rated as a specific duty (do not rate as supervisors those who supervise a secretary only).
d. Compare in your mind, when possible, the individual being rated with others performing the same duty at a similar level of responsibility.
e. Two individuals with the same job title may be performing different duties. If so, rate them on different duties.
f. Be specific. Examples of the kind of duties that might be rated are:

2 - BARELY ADEQUATE IN THE PERFORMANCE OF THIS DUTY
3 - PERFORMS THIS DUTY ACCEPTABLY
4 - PERFORMS THIS DUTY IN A COMPETENT MANNER
5 - PERFORMS THIS DUTY IN SUCH A FINE MANNER THAT HE IS A DISTINCT ASSET ON HIS JOB

3. NARRATIVE DESCRIPTION OF MANNER OF JOB PERFORMANCE

DIRECTIONS: Stress strengths and weaknesses, particularly those which affect development on present job.

I feel that Mr. T. has not yet been on the job long enough to demonstrate his maximum capacities. Although he came with no background in his specialized field, he has shown considerable facility in acquiring technical information and building up his technical vocabulary. He has a good eye for intelligence. Although he has not native English fluency, his reports are pointed, concise, and, except for occasional minor points of grammar, very well expressed indeed. Owing to his persistence and application, he was rated second highest in a class in English usage. Soon after his EOD, the analyst whem Mr. T. was assisting was transferred, leaving him with full responsibility for covering a field which was still very new to him. He has done an exceedingly good job under the most unpropitious circumstances. He needs to develop fuller utilization of varied research methods, but this will be easier as he becomes more familiar with the materials and problems with which he has to deal. His native Russian fluency is a decided asset. He is calm, cooperative, and easy to work with.

SECTION D. SUITABILITY FOR CURRENT JOB IN ORGANIZATION

DIRECTIONS: Take into account here everything you know about the individual....productivity, conduct in the job, pertinent personal characteristics or habits, special defects or talents....and how he fits in with your team. Compare him with others doing similar work of about the same level.

RATING NUMBER: 4

1 - DEFINITELY UNSUITABLE - HE SHOULD BE SEPARATED
2 - OF DOUBTFUL SUITABILITY...WOULD NOT HAVE ACCEPTED HIM IF I HAD KNOWN WHAT I KNOW NOW
3 - A BARELY ACCEPTABLE EMPLOYEE...BELOW AVERAGE BUT WITH NO WEAKNESSES SUFFICIENTLY OUTSTANDING TO WARRANT HIS SEPARATION
4 - OF THE SAME SUITABILITY AS MOST PEOPLE I KNOW IN THE ORGANIZATION
5 - A FINE EMPLOYEE - HAS SOME OUTSTANDING STRENGTHS
6 - AN UNUSUALLY STRONG PERSON IN TERMS OF THE REQUIREMENTS OF THE ORGANIZATION
7 - EXCELLED BY ONLY A FEW IN SUITABILITY FOR WORK IN THE ORGANIZATION

IS THIS INDIVIDUAL BETTER SUITED FOR WORK IN SOME OTHER POSITION IN THE ORGANIZATION? ☒ YES ☐ NO. IF YES, EXPLAIN FULLY:

His native Russian fluency might be better utilized in some other type of position, although his performance on his present job is entirely satisfactory.

Indicate your opinion by placing the number of the descriptive rating below which comes closest to expressing your opinion in the appropriate column. If your rating is based on observing him supervise, note your rating in the "actual" column. If based on opinion of his potential, note the rating in the "potential" column.

1 - BELIEVE INDIVIDUAL WOULD BE A WEAK SUPERVISOR IN THIS KIND OF SITUATION

4. COMMENTS CONCERNING POTENTIAL

I feel ~~xx~~ very definitely that Mr. Tarasoff's overall potentials are greater than he has had an opportunity to show thus far. This will doubtless be reflected in his next evaluation.

SECTION H. FUTURE PLANS

1. TRAINING OR OTHER DEVELOPMENTAL EXPERIENCE PLANNED FOR THE INDIVIDUAL

Since Mr. T. has been on duty such a short time, present plans are simply to give him further training in his present job and to allow him to develop to his maximum capacity there. He will soon be enrolled in the I.O.C.

2. NOTE OTHER FACTORS, INCLUDING PERSONAL CIRCUMSTANCES, TO BE TAKEN INTO ACCOUNT IN INDIVIDUAL'S FUTURE ASSIGNMENTS

His native Russian fluency should be taken into account.

REVIEWING OFFICIAL'S COMMENTS: I do not think he so nearly average in all respects as indicated in Sec. I, below. I do not know him well enough to disagree with most of the ratings, but I would rate him "4" on items 7, 15 and 29, at least. Quiet, unobtrusive, modest, cooperative. Have seen few indications of initiative, but such not to be expected while he is learning a new job; no reason to assume incapable of initiative. T.Bielefeldt 1956-1959: I worked for various establishments in Washington, D.C., as a translator from Russian into English, such as the Library of Congress, and various other translating firms, which abound in Washington, with a salary varying in accordance with the output of translated material, from $500.00 to 1,000.00 per month.

1959-1963: I was employed by ~~I joined~~ USJPRS Bureau of Standards, Dept of Commerce Wash, D.C. on Western Avenue in ~~Washington, D.C., which is a company under contract to the Dept. of State, the Dept. of Defense and on occasion to the Dept. of the Interior (fish hatcheries division)~~. I worked as an analyst and translator, at home most of the time, translating and analyzing articles from newspapers and technical magazines. I was paid $8.00 for 1,000 words for ordinary material, $10.00 for technical and $12.00 for scientific subjects. Also, I was [illegible] ~~hired~~ by the Dept. of State to be an interpreter for two Soviet delegations at $25.00 per diem plus expenses. I spent five weeks with each of them.

1963-1970: After leaving USJPRS I came to Mexico with my wife and children to avoid the weather extremes of the USA XXXXXXXX and to look into possibilities of profitable investments that could aid me financially after my retirement. My income during this period came from annuities and the moneys lent to my brother-in-law in Cleveland, Ohio, who is a successful real estate man and the owner of an amusement machines business (Cadillac Music Co.) in which I had invested some money previously. ~~I was also connected by mail with a Linguistics Studies firm, Room 212, 419 Boylston St., Boston 16, Mass. Frequently some of my friends from USJPRS would send me some special articles for translation. I would charge the above organizations in accordance with the time spent in translating. This amounted to roughly $10,000.00 a year.~~

SUBJECT : Retirement Planning

1. The established policy of the Agency favors early retirement of its employees who, as you know, are normally expected to retire when they become eligible for a full annuity. The prospect of retirement deserves serious thought and planning, and you should therefore know that you will be eligible for retirement, according to our records, during November, 1970.

3. You deserve to know as much as possible about the general subject of retirement and more specifically about the retirement policy itself, your annuity, life and health insurance protection, opportunities for other employment, Social Security benefits, and educational materials available on the subject. The Agency feels that this type of information and advisory service should be made available to you at least five years prior to the date of your eligibility.

4. You are requested to call the Executive Secretary of the Board, Mr. Howard G. Phillips, on extension 6872 to arrange an appropriate time to discuss any plans you may have and benefits available to you upon retirement.

INSTRUCTIONS TO APPOINTING OFFICER

The appointing officer before whom the foregoing certificate is made shall determine to his own satisfaction that this appointment would be in conformance with the Civil Service Act, applicable Civil Service Rules and Regulations and acts of Congress pertaining to appointment.

This form should be checked for holding of office, pension, suitability in connection with any record of recent discharge or arrest, and particularly for the following:

(1) Identity of appointee.—It is the duty of the appointing officer to guard against impersonation and to determine beyond reasonable doubt that the appointee is the same person whose appointment was authorized. The appointee's signature and handwriting are to be compared with the application and other pertinent papers. If the appointee qualified in a written examination, the signature on this form should be compared with the signature on the declaration sheet, which was signed in the examination room. His physical appearance may be checked against the medical certificate. The appointee may also be questioned on his personal history for agreement with his previous statements.

(2) Age.—If definite age limits have been established for the position, it should be determined that applicant is not outside the age range for appointment. Until such determination is made, the appointment may not be consummated.

(3) Citizenship.—The appointing officer is responsible for observing the citizenship provisions of (1) the Civil Service Rules and (2) appropriation acts. Form 61 constitutes an affidavit for both purposes and is acceptable proof of citizenship status in the absence of conflicting evidence. In doubtful cases the appointment should not be consummated until clearance has been secured from the certifying office of the Civil Service Commission.

(4) Members of Family.—Section 9 of the Civil Service Act provides that whenever there are already two or more members of a family serving under probational or permanent appointment in the competitive service, no other member of such family is eligible for probational or permanent appointment in the competitive service. The appointments of persons entitled to veteran preference are not subject to this requirement. The members of family provision does not apply to temporary appointments. Doubtful cases may be referred to the appropriate office of the Civil Service Commission for decision.

MEMORANDUM FOR: J. Walton Moore
THROUGH : Head of Career Service
SUBJECT : Retirement Planning

1. In order to assist employees in planning for their eventual retirement, it is the practice of the Agency to notify each employee well in advance of the date he is scheduled for retirement. I am, therefore, taking this opportunity to advise you that you are scheduled to retire on 5 October 1979.

2. The prospect of retirement from the Agency deserves serious thought and careful planning so that you may make the transition to the next phase of life with purpose and confidence. To assist you in this regard, the Agency offers various resources which are attuned to the needs of prospective retirees. You will, in the near future, be invited by the Retirement Counselor for your Directorate to an individual pre-retirement counseling session, or more than one if you wish. This phase of retirement planning will be tailored solely to your own particular situation and circumstances and will be within the context of the retirement system under which you will retire. The individual counseling sessions are intended to give you a wide range of information on such matters as estimates of your annuity, survivor benefits, life and health insurance, Social Security, taxes, relocation and movement of household effects and assistance in obtaining other employment. In addition, you will be invited to attend a Retirement Information Seminar that will be offered in the autumn of 1974.

3. Some persons who wish to retire voluntarily prior to the scheduled date and who wish to commence their planning as early as possible, prefer to work with their Retirement Counselor well before the time he would normally contact them. If you believe you would benefit from such an earlier start on your personal planning, you are entitled to contact the Retirement Counselor responsible for your Directorate at the Retirement Affairs Division, 212 Magazine Building, on telephone extension 3328.

ADMINISTRATIVE - INTERNAL USE ONLY

SUBJECT: Retirement Planning

4. Experience has amply demonstrated that careful planning facilitates the transition to retirement. I recommend, strongly, that you avail yourself of the services the Agency offers you in planning your own retirement.

5. It is requested that you indicate receipt of this memorandum by signing below. The original of this memorandum should be returned to Retirement Affairs Division, Retirement Operations Branch, Room 205, Magazine Building, as soon as possible.

MEMORANDUM FOR: Mr. J. Walton Moore

THROUGH : Head of IT Career Service

SUBJECT : Notification of Non-eligibility for Designation as a Participant in the CIA Retirement and Disability System

1. As you may know, we are in the process of reviewing the employment history and current career field of all employees in the Agency to identify those who are eligible for designation as a participant in the new CIA Retirement and Disability System. In this process, the initial review of each case is made by the individual's Career Service. If the Head of his Career Service nominates him for participation in the system, this nomination is reviewed by the CIA Retirement Board which recommends final action to me. However, if the Head of the Career Service advises that the employee does not meet the basic requirements of HR 20-50 for participation, I have accepted this finding without further review by the CIA Retirement Board. This practice has been adopted in the interest of expediting this screening process so that those employees who are eligible to participate in the system may be designated participants as soon as possible.

2. In your case, the Head of your Career Service has advised me that you do not meet the requirements of HR 20-50 for designation as a participant and I have accordingly made the formal determination required by the regulation that you are not eligible for designation. From a review of your record it appears that the decision of your Career Service was based upon the fact that you have 15 years or more of Agency service, but have not as yet performed 60 months of qualifying service as required by regulation. My determination that you are not eligible at this time for designation in no way affects your current status under the Civil Service Retirement System, nor does it preclude reconsideration of your eligibility to participate in the CIA System if you should meet the requirements for designation in the future.

3. Should you desire further information concerning the requirements for designation as a participant in the CIA Retirement System, I suggest that you read paragraph e of HR 20-50 and paragraph 5 of the Employee Bulletin dated 30 July 1965, entitled "Public Law 88-643, The Central Intelligence Agency Retirement Act of 1964 for Certain Employees".

4. It is always possible that the records upon which the determination made in your case may have been incomplete or inaccurate regarding your actual employment history with the Agency. If, after studying the materials cited above, you have questions regarding the determination that you are not eligible to participate in the CIA Retirement System, please feel free to contact officials of your Career Service. They are familiar with the details of your case and will gladly discuss them with you. In addition, you may wish to discuss your case with the CIA Retirement Staff located in Room GE-1319 Headquarters (extension 6001). If such discussions do not resolve any questions you have regarding your eligibility, you may request that your case be formally considered by the Board. However, this request must be made within 30 days of the date of this memorandum.

APPLICATION FOR MEMBERSHIP in the CAREER STAFF of the
CENTRAL INTELLIGENCE AGENCY

To the Director of Central Intelligence

Sir:

I submit herewith my application for membership in the Career Staff of the Central Intelligence Agency as defined below:

> "The Career Staff of the Central Intelligence Agency is a group of carefully selected and trained individuals who accept an obligation to devote themselves to the needs of the Agency, and who intend to make a career with the Agency."

In accordance with this definition, I desire to devote myself to the faithful performance of duty in the Central Intelligence Agency, and I accept the obligations and conditions of that service which are determined to be essential to the furtherance of its mission.

I am aware of the many restrictions necessarily placed upon me by virtue of the security requirements inherent in my employment by the Central Intelligence Agency. I am also aware that as a member of the Career Staff, it will be my obligation to serve anywhere and at any time and for any kind of duty as determined by the needs of the Agency, and I have been assured that in order to carry out this policy, full consideration will be given to my particular capabilities, interests, and personal circumstances. By virtue of this application for membership and upon my acceptance in the Career Staff, I am assured that, with continuing satisfactory work performance and conduct on my part, just and equitable attention will be accorded my personal progress during my tenure in the Career Staff. I am also assured that, on my satisfactory completion of any assignments, I will be offered reassignments which are compatible insofar as possible with my abilities and career interests, and that I shall be entitled to the benefits now available or to be made available in the future to members of the Career Staff of the Central Intelligence Agency.

2. Mr. Moore's performance as Chief of Station, Calcutta, has been excellent. He has been given an "Excellent" efficiency rating by the Consul General and also received a special commendation for some of his biographic reporting. Mr. Moore was well liked by Consulate personnel, the British, and the natives with whom he came in contact. He is a man of good judgment and commonsense and has carried on OSO operations in a secure and efficient manner.

MEMORANDUM FOR THE DIRECTOR, CENTRAL INTELLIGENCE

Subject: Administrative Instruction No. 30-1

1. Administrative Instruction No. 30-1, dated October 31, 1946, makes provision for Group II classification for civilian employees who are Chiefs of Missions or principal officers directly subordinate to Washington, D.C. The order specifies that these officials will fall in Grades CAF-13 or P-6 or above, unless otherwise approved by the Director.

2. I recommend the Group II classification for Mr. James M. Moore, who will be a Chief of Station and directly subordinate to Washington, but whose Grade is below the CAF-13 or P-6 level. It is believed that the fulfillment of the obligation at the Station concerned justifies the Group II classification.

3. Therefore, there is attached a proposed letter of authorization for the Director's signature. The Director's approval of this proposed letter will permit Special Funds to pay the Group II classification to the individual concerned.

4. It is recommended that the payment under the Group II classification be made effective as of the date of his assumption of duties at the overseas post.

SUBJECT: Transportation of Car to China

1. In view of my recent appointment in Shanghai, China to head up SI operations in that area, it is respectively requested that I be allowed to take my car to this port.

2. It is anticipated that a considerable part of my work will of necessity be done at night when office transportation would not be available. The poor transportation system in Shanghai will also make going to and from work very difficult without an automobile.

3. Am willing to reimburse the government funds for all charges in the delivery of my car from the United States to my station.

Through: Asst. Executive for Personnel

1. Basic communication requesting the transportation of privately owned auto is forwarded with a recommendation for approval.

2. It is felt that since Mr. Moore will reimburse this Agency for all expenses connected with the transportation of his private auto, there is no objection to such an arrangement. It will indeed materially aid Mr. Moore in his work to have a car at his disposal. It is understood by Mr. Moore that he will not rent or lease this vehicle to the Government for official use. Should it become necessary for the personnel of the station to use this car for official travel, Mr. Moore will be reimbursed at only the rates allowed by regulations which govern the use of privately owned autos in Government Travel.

COMMENTS OF REVIEWING OFFICIAL

I concur in Mr. Watts' evaluation. Mr. Moore is a very good administrator and his office has performed its collection mission very well and provided excellent operational services and support. They have not been tested in our emigre program because of a lack of potential but I am confident they will do the job well as required. I rate Mr. Moore superior in his ability to represent CIA and the Intelligence Community on the outside and he does a very good job in representing DCD within CIA and the Community. In a pinch I feel that I could depend on Mr. Moore more than almost any other DCD field chief of his grade.

MEMORANDUM IN LIEU OF FITNESS REPORT

SUBJECT: Mr. J. Walton Moore

1. During the period under review, Mr. Moore continued in his assignment as Chief of the DCD Field Office in Dallas, with responsibility for the supervision of a Resident Office in Tulsa and a Residency in Austin. The Houston Resident Office was raised to Field Office status on 1 September 1976, and the New Orleans Resident Office was placed under the newly formed Houston Field Office. Both of these offices were formerly subordinate to the Dallas Field Office.

2. Under Mr. Moore's able direction, the Dallas Field Office has continued to perform the full range of collection and support tasks exceptionally well. The office produces well prepared reports on subjects of priority intelligence interest. Mr. Moore is a quiet and efficient manager with high personal and professional standards. He is well liked and respected.

3. During this rating period, Mr. Moore and the Dallas Field Office were formally commended by the Office of Strategic Research for timely reporting of information which resulted in substantial improvement of an estimate on Soviet military medical staffing. The information supplied by Mr. Moore "...resulted in a reduction of over 500,000 in the Community's estimate of the total number of Soviet military personnel."

4. Extraordinarily fine work has been done under Mr. Moore's direction during this rating period supporting the activities of the FR Base. The FR Base is relatively new and has depended heavily on Mr. Moore's readiness to support it in the early stages of development. In November 1976, Mr. Moore was formally commended by the FR Base Chief "...for his outstanding support to the new Dallas Base during the period October 1975 to October 1976. ...The level of overall support from DCD Dallas was consistently outstanding." Under Mr. Moore's management, the Dallas Office support of FR objectives is among the most effective and comprehensive in DCD.

5. Mr. Moore is a strong supporter of the Emigre Task Force Program, and the Dallas Office is responsive to cases and requests assigned by this project. The potential in the Dallas area is not as great as in other major cities of equivalent size, but the office has performed very well against those targets available.

6. Mr. Moore is an experienced and effective officer; the Dallas Field Office under his careful and tactful management is a productive and smooth functioning office.

COMMENTS OF REVIEWING OFFICIAL

Mr. Moore's long and unique experience in the FBI, OSS, and CIA coupled with his background in China and his admirable personal qualities make him a very valuable asset to DCD. When he recommends something to me, I know he will be correct; when he is asked to represent the Agency in some highly important contact, I know he will do it well and make an excellent, professional impression, and I can count on him to run a very good office with a high level of productive activity.

I feel very comfortable and very confident with Jim Moore in Dallas.

MEMORANDUM IN LIEU OF FITNESS REPORT

SUBJECT: Mr. James Walton Moore

1. Mr. Moore continued in his assignment as Chief of the DCD Field Office in Dallas, during the period under review, with responsibility for the supervision of the Resident Offices in Houston, New Orleans and Tulsa and a Residency in Austin. His Letter of Instruction remains current.

2. The Dallas Field Office, under Mr. Moore's perceptive and competent direction, produces a good volume of quality foreign intelligence reporting. DCD headquarters officers consider the Dallas Field Office performance to be of high caliber. The office is highly responsive to headquarters direction, and there is a strong commitment to quality performance. Mr. Moore has the Dallas Field Office fitting smoothly into the DCD organizational framework. Morale is high and Dallas field personnel, both professional and clerical, feel a sense of importance in their mission. This spirit and pride in their work stems directly from the positive tone set by Mr. Moore.

3. Mr. Moore has extended the hand of cooperation unstintingly to the FR Base which is in an embryonic phase of development. Base officers are enthusiastic about the cooperation received from the Dallas office and the willingness of Mr. Moore to be of assistance. Cooperation between the Dallas office and FR is among the very best in DCD. In addition to the fine support supplied to FR, Dallas had made an important contribution, during the period under review, to the cost-analysis program of Format. Support to operations, through the Operations Services Group, is excellent and a good variety of operational leads and operational reporting is received from the Dallas office.

4. Mr. Moore is a capable and efficient manager. The Dallas office structure presents a complex and difficult management challenge. Through his experience and mature judgment, Mr. Moore has directed the activities of the office smoothly and effectively.

COMMENTS OF REVIEWING OFFICIAL

I concur in this evaluation. My principal interaction with Jim Moore during the year has been the result of our mutual concern for the well-being of a capable officer who performs well and has growth potential but who is difficult to work with and has, on occasions, apparently been on the brink of a physical breakdown brought on by tension, overwork and other factors. In his approach to this problem, Jim has been concerned, compassionate, responsible, and thoroughly professional.

Under Jim's direction, the Dallas complex has achieved a high ranking among DCD offices and is holding it.

While Jim Moore is a long-time DCD officer, he seems to have lost none of his enthusiasm and drive. He is a valued and respected colleague.

MEMORANDUM IN LIEU OF FITNESS REPORT

SUBJECT: MOORE, J. Walton

1. Jim Moore continued in his assignment as Chief of the DCD Field Office in Dallas during the period under review, with responsibility for the supervision of Resident Offices in Houston, New Orleans and Tulsa, and a new Residency in Austin. His Letter of Instruction dated 7 November 1973 remains current.

2. The Dallas Field Office with its four satellite offices represents the most complicated field office structure in DCD. While Mr. Moore's staff consists of only nine officers and seven secretaries, more than half are located outside the field office. The Dallas Office requires a chief who is experienced in resident office operations, is able to motivate and manage people from a distance, and who can keep personally familiar with a wide variety of activities. Mr. Moore is admirably qualified. He has been able to coordinate these essentially independent activities most efficiently. His entire organization performs in a responsive and highly effective manner and produces timely, well balanced reporting.

3. Although Mr. Moore's staff was relatively stable during 1974, two of his key officers were incapacitated for extended periods, both at times when the work load was especially heavy. The operating procedures which he has established enabled the office involved to continue to handle priority matters effectively in each instance.

4. On at least two occasions in 1974 Mr. Moore had to intercede in complicated and difficult situations, and in each instance his judgment and highly professional approach resulted in successful solutions.

5. Mr. Moore is a calm, mature, respected and popular officer who handles his complicated job with the easy assurance that comes only from experience and past success. I believe that it is largely due to Mr. Moore's personal reputation that so many of our junior officers want to work in Dallas.

6. During 1974 Mr. Moore recommended the establishment of a one-man residency in Austin as a more efficient way to handle our responsibilities in that part of Texas. We agreed, and the Residency was established in mid-1974. Although it has been in operation only a few months, the wisdom of Mr. Moore's recommendation is already apparent, and I am confident that the success of the Residency will continue.

DCD Dallas

1. Mr. Moore became Chief of the DCD Field Office in Dallas in June 1973 and was promoted to grade GS-15 in the same month. He had been selected for this position approximately one year earlier, and spent the interim in DCD headquarters as Acting Deputy Chief of the then Soviet Bloc Division. He now supervises one of our most complicated Field Office organizations, with people located in four cities (Dallas, Tulsa, Houston and New Orleans). More than half of the people under his supervision are located outside of Dallas. Perhaps because of his long service as one of our most successful Resident Officers, Mr. Moore excels in supervising this type of operation as a Field Chief. His three Resident Offices are among the most responsive and productive in DCD. He delegates duties well and permits his staff the freedom to exercise individual judgment and responsibility. He is both liked and respected by his staff, which shows excellent morale and esprit de corps.

2. Mr. Moore maintains excellent relationships with other Government agencies in his territory, as appropriate, and also with other components of CIA. He manages his many responsibilities efficiently and effectively, and with proper attention to security. He is quick to identify members of his staff who have potential for greater professional advancement, and to give them the necessary encouragement and guidance.

Mr. Moore is the prospective Chief of the Dallas Field Office. He was assigned to DCS headquarters in July 1972 for a familiarization and training tour prior to assuming that post. For approximately six months he served as Acting Deputy Chief of the Soviet Bloc Division, during which he was required to fulfill that role as though it were a permanent assignment. Although he had never been active in headquarters before, he quietly and efficiently familiarized himself with the operations of the division. Through his friendly personality, experience and interested approach he quickly and effectively made what was basically a training role into one of real contribution on a daily basis.

Grade or Rank: GS-14 Department, Agency or Service Branch: CIA

This certifies that the above-named officer has satisfactorily completed the three-week interdepartmental course at the Foreign Affairs Executive Seminar in the Foreign Service Institute of the Department of State.

Objective, Content and Method of Training

The objective of the interdepartmental Foreign Affairs Executive Seminar is to provide an advanced, short-term course on the current formulation, coordination, and execution of U.S. foreign policy to senior foreign affairs executives of U.S. government agencies serving either in the U.S. or abroad. While the focus of the Seminar is on policy problems in foreign affairs in general, special emphasis is given in the course's regional seminars to a coordinated interagency approach to policy formulation and implementation in Washington and in the field. In the process of the three-week course, the Seminar gives special attention to the Nixon Doctrine, foreign economic and trade policies, domestic factors affecting U.S. foreign policy, and problems of modernization and internal defense.

The course is conducted through lectures, readings and Interagency Regional Seminar discussions. These seminars, organized by geographic regions with representatives from the participating agencies, analyze specific problems in their areas, consider appropriate courses of action for the United States, and emphasize inter-agency coordination in Washington and at the overseas Mission.

TRAINING REPORT

Advanced Intelligence Seminar No. 4
(100 hours, full-time) (3 - 19 March 1971)

Student: Moore, James W.

Year of Birth:	1919	Grade:	GS-14
EOD:	July 1947	Service Designation:	IT
Office:	DCS	Number of Students:	28

COURSE OBJECTIVES - CONTENT AND METHODS

The basic objectives of the Advanced Intelligence Seminar (AIS) are to increase the awareness of experienced Agency personnel to: major international and domestic trends affecting US foreign policy and intelligence; key problems and possible organizational changes, facing the intelligence community; recent and projected developments within CIA to meet current and future Agency responsibilities; and major problems of collection, production, coordination and support of intelligence.

Methods of instruction include formal presentations by academic experts, government officials, senior Agency and intelligence community officers, and substantive experts from the Agency. Students are encouraged to participate actively in follow-up discussions both with the speakers and within the class itself. Emphasis is also placed on in-class discussions, using the talents and experiences of the students as a primary resource. For purposes of encouraging open, meaningful exchange, sections of the course are held at Warrenton and ISOLATION, where a more relaxed seminar atmosphere can be developed. Finally, attempts are made to provide provocative-type readings to the students both prior to, and during, the course itself.

COMMENTS OF REVIEWING OFFICIAL

Although Jim Moore is an above average employee I would not rate him Outstanding in specific duties 1, 2 and 6. Duties 1 and 2 because it is difficult to compare his performance with anyone else as he has always held this position. Duty 6 because supervision of 2 other people should not be much of a chore. We are studying the possibility of moving Jim to another assignment to determine how he can perform in a more demanding job.

Section C

Mr. James Walton Moore is hereby nominated for a Career Intelligence Medal in recognition of his substantial contributions to the missions of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, the Office of Strategic Services, the Strategic Services Unit and the Central Intelligence Agency for more than 37 years.

J. Walton (Jim) Moore spent most of his boyhood (1920-27, 1930-36) in Shantung Province, China with his missionary parents. Following graduation from Hardin-Simmons University in 1940, Jim joined the FBI and served as a Special Agent in both Chicago and San Francisco. During the latter assignment he reported on pro-Communist elements in Chinatown and directed a US Government panel to interview aliens and US citizens returning home to ensure that enemy agents were not slipping into the US as refugees or foreign businessmen.

Jim joined OSS in November 1944 and was commissioned as an Ensign, USNR. His first assignment was in Kunming where he recruited and trained Chinese agents to infiltrate Japanese lines. While in Kunming he took parachute training and on August 17, 1945 jumped into the Japanese internment camp at Weihsein. Following evacuation of refugees he became Chief of Mission in Tsingtao. Returning to the US in December 1946, he was reassigned as Vice Consul and Chief of Station in Dairen. Soviet intransigence prevented his reaching Dairen so he remained in Tsingtao for an additional year until transferred as Chief of Station in Calcutta, arriving there in April, 1948.

Jim returned to the United States in October 1949 and joined the Contact Division, Office of Operations, CIA. CD/OO policy favored continuity and Jim was no exception. From 1949 to 1954 he served in the Houston Field Office and from 1954-1972 as the Resident Officer in Dallas. The Contact Division evolved into the Domestic Contact Service and a reallocation of resources raised the Dallas Resident Office to Field Office status. Jim was the obvious choice for the job. After nine months training and preparation in Washington (where he performed admirably) he was assigned as Chief of the new office with responsibility also for Resident Offices in Tulsa, Houston, New Orleans and, eventually, Austin.

Jim's work in Dallas has been consistently excellent. Under his leadership the Dallas complex has provided timely foreign intelligence in response to worldwide priorities and requirements. As an example, in April 1975 the Acting Director, Stratetic Research commended Jim for "outstanding performance" for urgent special efforts to obtain information which resulted in a reduction of over 500,000 in the Intelligence Community's estimate of the total number of Soviet military personnel.

Similarly, the Dallas Office has provided excellent support to the Clandestine Service. In November, 1976 the Chief, FR Division commended Jim and his staff for "outstanding support" from October 1975-October 1976 in efforts which were "indispensable" to the establishment of FR assets in Texas, Oklahoma and Louisiana and in identifying and assessing prospective targets for recruitment.

There are very few persons of potential consequence to the Intelligence Community in Texas who Jim Moore does not know and little that he cannot accomplish there on behalf of Community and Agency requesters.

The assassination of President Kennedy in Dallas in November 1963, the subsequent allegations against CIA and Jim Moore's long association with Agency interests and programs in Texas have made him a repeated target for media attention and scurrilous innuendo. Although under various forms of severe external pressure as a result, Jim Moore never lost his calm, cool demeanor and has been absolutely dependable in adversity.

An experienced professional, a true gentleman, a delightful person, and an example to be emulated, Jim Moore has been a real credit to the intelligence profession. As he approaches retirement, he richly deserves recognition in the form of the Career Intelligence Medal.

MEMORANDUM FOR: Chief, Domestic Collection Division, DDO

SUBJECT : Appreciation for Outstanding DCD Performance

1. I want to express the appreciation of the Office of Strategic Research for the special effort recently made for us by J. Walton Moore of your Dallas field office. Mr. Moore responded quickly to our urgent request to obtain information on Soviet military medical services from DS-2172 and provided it to us on very short notice.

2. Let me give you some background. The subject of Soviet medical personnel emerged as an important issue in a recent community-wide effort to reassess total Soviet military manpower. The community reassessment was stimulated by DIA reporting of several months ago that existing estimates of total Soviet military manpower were low by almost one million men. If correct, the DIA appraisal had potentially serious implications for the ongoing MBFR negotiations as well as a host of intelligence judgments about the dimensions of the Soviet military threat.

3. During the ensuing interagency review of the individual estimates contributed by various agencies in the Washington area, we came to the conclusion that the number of Soviet medical manpower estimated by an Army intelligence group was much too high. A rapid search of headquarters' files turned up barely enough intelligence to prepare an estimate of a portion of the medical services, but no direct evidence on total medical manpower. At this point it became clear to us that an improved estimate might be made with information from DS-2172. As we had to present our case to the manpower study Steering Group early in the week of March 24, speed in contacting the Soviet source was essential.

4. The data submitted by the Dallas field office as a result of a specially arranged debriefing provided us with the basis for a much improved estimate of Soviet military medical staffing. Furthermore, Mr. Moore's questions elicited some new information of value to future work. Most important, the results of DCD's efforts contributed significantly to convincing the working group that the original Army estimate was far too high. Eventually the estimate we submitted based upon the information supplied by DS-2172 was accepted by the manpower Steering Group and resulted in a reduction of over 500,000 men in the intelligence community's estimate of the total number of Soviet military personnel.

5. The efforts of your people struck a mighty blow for good intelligence. Many thanks.

FORM 5-55 1451

24 November 1956

To: Chief, SFB. PPD
Subject: Mr. J. Welton Moore, Agent, Contact Office, Dallas, Texas

I should like to call attention to the outstanding cooperation given our activities in Dallas by J. Walton Moore, resident representative in Dallas, Texas.

Mr. Moore has not only extended the normal hospitality of his offices, but has gone out of his way to nominate and talk with exceptional people who come to his attention as potential employes for the Agency. Mr. Moore has contacted me from time to time with names and comments on individuals, and in every way attempted to serve as an active personnel scout in his area. I feel his efforts and time consumed in interviewing people have gone a good deal beyond the normal expectations of our agency, and that this attitude best represents the unified type of teamwork which our organization subscribes to in this work.

While my experiences with the resident offices in my area have been uniformly a pleasant experience, it is a matter of real satisfaction to find a man who is thinking in terms of the Agency as a whole and not of one sharply defined activity. I believe the spirit that Mr. Moore shows should be brought to the attention of his superiors as a prime example of teamwork in the field. It is not only a personal satisfaction to do business with Mr. Moore, but it greatly contributes to the morale of our efforts by knowing that other offices are as concerned as we are in producing results.

Sincerely,

Byron Crosman

(1) Identity of appointee.—The appointee's signature and handwriting are to be compared with the application and/or other pertinent papers. The physical appearance may be checked against the medical certificate. The appointee may also be questioned on his personal history for agreement with his previous statements.

(2) Age.—If definite age limits have been established for the position, it should be determined that appointee is not outside the age range for appointment. Until such determination is made, the appointment may not be consummated.

(3) Citizenship.—The appointing officer is responsible for observing the citizenship provisions of (1) the Civil Service Rules and (2) appropriation acts. Form 61 constitutes an affidavit for both purposes and is acceptable proof of citizenship status in the absence of conflicting evidence. In doubtful cases the appointment should not be consummated until clearance has been secured from the certifying office of the Civil Service Commission.

(4) Members of Family.—Section 9 of the Civil Service Act provides that whenever there are already two or more members of a family serving under probational or permanent appointment in the competitive service, no other member of such family is eligible for probational or permanent appointment in the competitive service. The appointments of persons entitled to veteran preference are not subject to this requirement. The members-of-family provision does not apply to temporary appointments. Doubtful cases may be referred to the appropriate office of the Civil Service Commission for decision.
